Robert Sturley

A DESCRIPTION AND EXPLANATION Of 268. Places in JERUSALEM

And in the Suburbs thereof, as it flouriſhed in the time of JESUS CHRIST.

Anſwerable to each of the 268. Figures that are in its large, and moſt exact Deſcription in the MAP;

Shewing the ſeveral places of the Acts and Sufferings of Jeſus Chriſt, and his holy Apoſtles.

As alſo of the Kings, Prophets, &c.

Very uſeful for the more clear and fuller opening of very many places in the Prophets (as alſo in Joſephus, and other Hiſtories) eſpecially in the GOSPELS, and the Acts of the Apoſtles.

Tranſlated by T.T. Reviewed, and in many places rectified according to the Holy SCRIPTURES, and ſome things further cleared: With Additions of many Scripture proofs:

By H. Feſſey.

Imprimatur Joſeph Caryl.

London, Printed for R.I. and P.S. and are to be ſold by Tho. Brewſter at the Three Bibles in Pauls Church-yard, near the Weſt-end. 1653.

The Explanation,

AB, Two Sticks, for two kingdoms A. Iudah, & B. Israell, Ezec 37. 16. 22. & 25 verse. C. Become one, under Christ, D. That Lyon of Iudahs Tribe. E. That Branch for Iesses root. F That Starr out of Iacob, G That Scepter out of Israell, who is called David their King, H. All kings shall worship him, all Nations shall serve him, & shall bee blessed in him, Psal. 72. 11. 17. Gal. 3. I. When hee breacks y Serpents head & casts him down Rev. 20. 1. 2 3.

Sold by Peter Stent. at the Signe of the White horse in Guiltspurr Street without Newgate

Robert A Sturley

A DESCRIPTION AND EXPLANATION Of 268. Places in JERUSALEM

And in the Suburbs thereof, as it flouriſhed in the time of JESUS CHRIST.

Anſwerable to each of the 268. Figures that are in its large, and moſt exact Deſcription in the MAP;

Shewing the ſeveral places of the Acts and Sufferings of Jeſus Chriſt, and his holy Apoſtles.

As alſo of the Kings, Prophets, &c.

Very uſeful for the more clear and fuller opening of very many places in the Prophets (as alſo in Joſephus, and other Hiſtories) eſpecially in the GOSPELS, and the Acts of the Apoſtles.

Tranſlated by T.T. Reviewed, and in many places rectified according to the Holy SCRIPTURES, and ſome things further cleared: With Additions of many Scripture proofs:

By H. Feſſey.

Imprimatur Joſeph Caryl.

London, Printed for R I. and P.S. and are to be ſold by Tho. Brewſter at the Three Bibles in Pauls Church-yard, near the Weſt-end. 1653.

The Right Hon^ble James Earl of Derby Lord of Man and y^e Isles 1702

27 N 57 Rivington

To the ſincere lover of the peace of JERUSALEM,

The Tranſlator hereof wiſheth increaſe of knowledge, and an improvement of that Talent here, to Gods glory, and perpetual felicity in the world to come.

FOraſmuch as (Noble Reader) Jeruſalem, the City of our God, even upon his holy mountain the joy of the whole earth, and the City of the great King, that fair and moſt ancient City, by a ſpecial Prerogative is by God himſelfe beautified above all other Cities, and was therefore the chief, moſt noble and famous City of the world: Many Travellers and Pilgrims, have at ſundry times, both in Maps and Hiſtories, deſcribed the ſame. By the advantage of whoſe labours therein, now of late years, one Chriſtian Adrichom, [Anno 1585.] hath performed a moſt lively deſcription, and in the Latine tongue, enriched with divers Antiquities. The profit that might come hereby to my Country-men of the vulgar ſort, both for the better underſtanding of the ſtory of the Bible, where Jeruſalem, and the parts thereof are oftentimes mentioned, and alſo for the ready conceiving of Joſephus his hiſtory, moved me to tranſlate it into the Engliſh tongue: And the book thus tranſlated, with the charts expreſſed in natural colours, I have preſumed to preſent unto your view. And becauſe Act. 17. 12.

the Master-workman in this new plat of old decayed Jeru-salem, hath left behind him some rubbish and relicks of the Romish superstition; I have in some measure purged and swept the streets and corners of the same, with the broom of truth, and carrying them out by the Scoure-gate, or Dung-gate, have laid them on the Leystall of oblivion [and as for some that do yet remain, here is now left a purgation, by addition of Annotations.] My pains herein taken, though not so great, as the laying of Jerusalems foundation, or the raising of a chief corner stone, or the squaring and finishing any part of this exquisite plat: yet such it is, as even in the meanest degree of a poor labourer, that doth but sweep the streets, I beseech you to accept as a small mite of my good will. The which I gladly offer, to the end that amidst the burdens and snares of your worldly affairs, you beholding this most brave City, adorned with so glorious a Temple, and contemplating the Passion of our Saviour Christ therein, may be delighted and recreated: And further, that viewing this terrestrial City, whose glory is now vanished, you may think still as the Apostle did say, Non habemus hic manentem civitatem [We have not here an abiding City, *Heb.*13.14.] and so aspire to that heavenly Jerusalem, garnished, and full stored with all manner of delights, which abideth for ever; Wherein I do most humbly and heartily wish you a most happy residence, after you have performed your short course in this life, in the service of your God, and of your friends and Country, and the general benefit, and comfort of your own soule.

The

THE PREFACE.

By the Author Chri. Andric.

FOrsomuch as the truth of Hiſtory, is the foundation of faith, and of ſpiritual underſtanding (Chriſtian Reader) and the hiſtory of things done, blind, and imperfect, without the knowledge of places, the which knowledge giveth much light, both to the truth of Hiſtory, and alſo to the ſpirituall interpretation thereof; therefore I have thought good to obſerve two things with great diligence in this work. First, that I might portray and ſet forth the true and lively Image of Jeruſalem, of all other Cities the moſt glorious and famous throughout the whole world, whereof mention is made in ſacred and in prophane hiſtories, as it flouriſhed in Chriſt his time; and alſo the forme of the Temple (the fame whereof hath been extolled above the heavens, and was worthy of eternal memory) by the ſacred Scriptures, by approved Writers, and by ancient tradition of faithful and truſty men, in a lively plot, or Map, moſt exquiſitly drawn, together with the names, originals, ſcituations, and forms of every place, and the moſt worthy Hiſtories concerning the ſame, with all brevity. Secondly, that I might rightly diſpoſe the places of Chriſt his Paſſion, and repreſent every thing which he ſuffered in every place, even as if they were now done before our eyes, and ſo repreſented, that I might explain it with plainneſs and brevity. For hereby all thoſe things which he ſuffer-

Hieron. Tom. 3. Epiſ. 27. ad Dard.

The ſcope of this Book.

ed for our ſakes, will be both more plainly underſtood, and alſo more profitably remembred. But peradventure there will be ſome which will miſlike this our endeavour, and the rather becauſe we have many things by tradition of Elders; to whom I anſwer out of Hierom, where he ſaith, That Eccleſiaſtical traditions, which are no hindrance to faith, are ſo to be kept, as they were delivered by the Ancients. In the mean time I will not ſay, that they are too raſh, and too too wicked, which will deny that thing, which hath been godly received at all times, and of all men. So many of us therefore as are waſhed with the bloud of Chriſt, doe bear his name, and are called Chriſtians, if our faith be anſwering to our name, and our life, not diſagreeing from the truth, hoping to be ſaved by the merits and grace of Chriſt our Saviour, let us beleeve that, which incorrupt and reverend Antiquity hath left, let us in no wiſe depart from thoſe things [which our Anceſtors have celebrated without any ſuperſtition, &] wch by the conſent of the whole world, are come even from them to our hands, and with thankfull godlineſſe, and godly thankfulneſs, let us call to minde thoſe places oftentimes, which may put us in remembrance of the Paſſion of Chriſt; to which places this Map will lead us, as it were by the hand; and with the eyes of faith, and of our minde, let us look upon the ſame Sonne of God, and inwardly behold him, who being urged with the great love of our ſalvation, having finiſhed his laſt Supper in the Parlour of Sion, and being come into the Garden of Olivet, prayed and ſwet blood, through the anguiſh and grievous conſideration of the imminent afflictions. Immediately he was betrayed by the moſt wicked Judas; he was taken, bound, and thruſt for-

Hier. Tom. 1. Epiſt. 28. ad Lucinium.

[The ſumme of Chriſts Paſſion.]

forward by the Jews, even as a Lamb by the Wolves, moſt cruelly amidſt the noiſe of clamors and weapons, and then was lead to the houſe of Anna the high Prieſt; There he was ſtricken; from thence hee was drawn to the Pallace of Caiphas; in the ſame hee was falſely accuſed, condemned, ſpit upon, blindfolded, buffeted with fiſts, and ſundry wayes all the night ſcorned and afflicted. In the morning he was violently carried through the midſt of the City to the houſe of Pilate. From thence he was lead to the Pallace of Herod, and accuſed again, deſpiſed of him, mocked, and apparrelled like a fool in a white garment, and brought back again by another way of the City to Pilate. There again he was accuſed of many faults, ſtripped, and grievouſly whipped, cloathed with purple, crowned with thorns, diverſly derided, ſpit upon, buffeted with fiſts, and ſtricken with a reed, and being thus miſuſed, was made a gazing ſtock to the people, and adjudged to death. Then he was loaden with a heavy Croſſe, and in the ſight of all the people, with grievous and bloody ſteps he was drawn, punched, and urged by the furious violence of the ſouldiers, through a great part of the City, and by the gate of Judgement out of the City, by a hard and ſtony way, even unto mount Calvary. And being come thither he was ſtripped again, and being both faint and weary, was refreſhed with gall inſtead of drinke; and about high-noon he was faſtened to the Croſſe, and ſo lifted up on high; and hanging on the croſſe by the ſpace of three hours, was derided with taunts and reproachful words; being thirſty, they gave him vineger to drink. Finally, he which could ſave the world with one drop of his blood, would needs beſtow upon us by the five rivers of his wounds, his life, with all his blood. A figure hereof was that Brazen-ſerpent, which Moſes cauſed to be exalted in the wilderneſs. To this ſpectacle alſo our heavenly Father calleth every faithful ſoul, Come forth (ſaith he) ye daughters of Sion, and ſee King Solomon; Nay one far greater then Solomon. In like manner Chriſt hanging on the Croſſe cryeth out, O all ye which paſſe by the way, behold, and ſee, if there be any ſorrow and grief like mine.

Num.21.9. Ioh.3.14.

Cant.3.11.

Lam. of Ier.1.12

And not only to the conſideration and meditation of theſe things, but alſo to the imitation, God in the holy Scripture exhorteth us in theſe words (ſpiritually interpreted) ſaying, Look, and make all things according to the example or faſhion which was ſhewed thee in the Mount. For all the precepts of life, which our Saviour taught all the time of his preaching, as well by word, as by example, the ſame he expreſſed in himſelf in one day of his paſſion; wherefore if we would follow Chriſt, not only in word, but alſo in work; we may, by his lively crucifying on mount Calvary, as it were out of a golden book, intituled with the noble title of Three moſt principal languages, written with the quils of the ſpear, of the nails, of the thorns, and of the whips, in the moſt pure parchment of the Immaculate Lamb, and with the purple blood of the ſame, both learned and unlearned, learn eaſily and briefly perfect Theology, the moſt wholeſome remedies of Phyſicke, the full knowledge of Law, and of Juſtice, the ſcience of liberal Arts, of true humility, of obedience, of piety, of charity, of patience; finally of all manner of vertues, and of things moſt perfect; and may alſo be inflamed and drawn to love and follow Chriſt. Thus the bleſſed Virgin, ſtanding neer to the Croſs of Chriſt, did not Exod 25.40. Heb.8.5.

The beſt book is Chriſts pattern.

Latine, Greek, and Hebrew, Ioh.19.20.

not onely with bodily eyes, but alſo in heart, through faith (which wavered not in her) behold the wounds of her Son, and ſeriouſly thinking thereon, was ſo comforted, that now (as Ambroſe ſaith) ſhe was prepared alſo to dye for the good of mankinde. So S. John both ſeeing the ſide of Chriſt opened with a ſpear, bloud with water coming forth of the ſame, and ſo giving teſtimony thereunto, did by the meditation thereof ſo greatly profit, that at the laſt he became a moſt perfect divine, and a ſoaring Eagle to behold the moſt holy, and bleſſed God the Father in the Son. So the Theef, when he ſaw and heard Chriſt Jeſus crucified, incontinently turned unto Chriſt, and confeſſing him, he made the puniſhment of murder, Martyrdome, and changed the Croſs for Paradiſe. So alſo the Centurion by this ſpectacle, received ſo great ſtrength of faith, that under the Croſs he was made a famous Confeſſor of Chriſt; and further (as Chryſoſtome ſaith) was afterward crowned with Martyrdome: Moreover Thomas beholding and touching the wounds of Chriſt crucified, was ſo illuminated with faith, that he plainly and openly profeſſed Chriſt, to be both his Lord, and his God.

Ambroſ. in Luc. cap. 23. Iohn 19. Luk. 23. Hier. Tom. 1. Epiſt. 13. ad Paulinum. Mar. 15. Chryſ. in Mat. 27. Iohn 20. 27. 28

This being ſo, and love procuring love, even as the Loadſtone draweth Iron; who is he, I pray you, whom ſo vehement love of Chriſt, nay rather a heat and flame will not affect, kindle, and ſet on fire? Who is he, when at the death of Chriſt all creatures doe ſuffer with him, the Sun darkned, the vail of the Temple rent in ſunder, the earth quaking, Rockes breaking, graves opening, and the dead ariſing; Who, and what is hee (I ſay) that will not wonder, and that will not bee abaſhed? Onely Adams children, for whoſe cauſe he dyed, are not moved with this ſo great a benefit.

Mat. 27. 45. 51.

The Adamant, that moſt hard ſtone, is mollified with the blood of a Goat; Iron with the heat of fire
Heb.8.10. is made ſoft; but the hearts of Chriſtians, more hard then Adamant or Iron, are not mollified with the blood and fire of Chriſt, but do crucifie a freſh unto themſelves the Son of God, and do tread under their feet the bloud of the Teſtament.

What I pray you can be more beſeeming, more meet, more juſt, and more profitable for us, then to love again him that ſo loveth us; and imitate him whom we love? For if any thing herein ſeem hard, if any thing grievous, that thing, love (the ſweet yoke of 1 Joh.5.3. the Lord) maketh light and eaſie; for all labour is light, to him that loveth, according to that notable Greg.Epiſt. ſentence of that ancient Gregory, Nihil adeo grave eſt, quod non æquanimiter toleretur, ſi Chriſti paſsio ad memoriam reducatur. There is nothing ſo heavy and burthenſome, but the ſame is willingly born, if ſo be the Paſſion of Chriſt be remembred.

For we will indure all things with patience as light
Heb.12.2,3. and eaſie, if we call to minde what hard words, harder ſtripes, and moſt hard pains and afflictions he ſuffered for us, whoſe head was crowned with thorns, his eyes blind-folded, his ears filled with reproaches, his mouth with gall and vineger, his face polluted with ſpitting, his cheeks bruiſed with buffeting, his knees ſhaking, his ſhoulders laden with the Croſs, his heart repleniſhed with ſorrow, his body torn with whips, his members racked, his hands and feet bored; to be briefe, from the crown of the head, to the ſoals of the foot, he ſuſtained an innumerable ſort of wounds and ſorrows rows. Wherefore as the waters of Mara, being ſometimes bitter, were made ſweet by Moſes, at what time he caſt wood into them; even ſo all our tribulation, if we patiently indure the Croſſe of Chriſt, will waxe ſweet, and the gall thereof will turn into honey. For by the meditations of theſe afflictions of our Saviour, faith is illuminated, hope ſtrengthned, charity inflamed, and all vertue increaſed. Wherefore holy Auguſtine, a light of the Church, no leſſe truly then godly, provoking us by very forceable words thereunto; ſaith thus, Behold the wounds of him that hangeth, the blood of him that dyeth, the price of the redeemer, the ſcars of him that riſeth; His head boweth to kiſſe thee, his heart is opened to love thee, his armes ſtretched abroad to imbrace thee, his whole body ſet forth to redeem thee. Conſider what, and how great theſe things be, weigh them in the ballance of your hearts, that hee may bee wholy faſtened in your hearts, who for us was wholly faſtened on the Croſſe. Thus far Auguſtine. So that it is not enough to meditate of theſe things once, but it is profitable to thinke upon them often; yea the oftner, the more they avail and profit. In the wholeſome contemplation of whoſe Paſſion, although we profit much, yet we ſhall never attain to the perfect knowledge thereof, but there will remain ſtill ſomewhat that we may ſeek for, the full knowledge whereof is reſerved to our heavenly Country. In the mean time, let us contemplate in theſe things day and night; in theſe things let us recreate and buſie our ſelves. In theſe let us watch, in theſe let us ſleep, yea to dye in the meditation of theſe things, is moſt Chriſtian, and available to everlaſting ſalvation.

Exod. 15. 25.

Auguſt. in lib. de virginitate

Places

Places of holy Scripture to the praiſe of Jeruſalem.

[Pſal.48.2. Beautiful for ſcituation the joy of the whole earth is Mount Zion, in the ſides of the North, it is the City of the great King.]

Lam.11.15. Is this the City of perfect beauty, the joy of the whole earth.

Ezech.5.5. This is Jeruſalem, I have ſet it in the midſt of the Nations and Countries, that are round about her.

2 Cor.7.12. I have choſen this place for my ſelfe, to be a houſe of ſacrifice.

Iſa.2.3. Mich.4.2. The Law ſhall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jeruſalem.

Apoc.21.9. I ſaw the holy City, New Jeruſalem, come down from God out of Heaven prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

To theſe agreeth Tobit 13.v.9,10.18. O Jeruſalem the holy City, many Nations, ſhall come from far to the name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, even gifts to the King of heaven; all Generations ſhall praiſe thee, and give ſigns of joy. Curſed are all they which hate thee, but bleſſed are they for ever which love thee. Rejoyce and be glad for the children of the juſt, for they ſhall be gathered, and ſhall bleſſe the Lord for the juſt. Bleſſed are they which love thee, for they ſhall rejoyce in thy peace. Bleſſed are they which have been ſorrowful for all thy ſcourges; for they ſhall rejoyce for thee, when they ſhall ſee all thy glory, and ſhall rejoyce for ever. Let my ſoul bleſſe God the great King; for Jeruſalem ſhall be built up with Saphires and Emeraulds, and thy walls with precious ſtones, and thy Towers, and thy Bulwarks with pure gold. And the ſtreets of Jeruſalem ſhall bee paved with Beril, and Carbuncle, and ſtones of Ophir. And all her ſtreets ſhall ſay, Hallelujah, and they ſhall praiſe him ſaying, Bleſſed be God which hath extolled it for ever.

SEVEN

SEVEN

GENERAL RULES

For Expounding Scriptures that ſpeak of Chriſts coming, and Kingdom, and Judging, and of deſtroying Babylon; and of the calling of the Jews, and Iſrael.

I. AS the Truth of God is fulfilled, both by the outward work, by which he appears in the World, and by the ſecret Myſtery by which he reveals himſelf in, and to the Spirits of his Saints, (which two anſwer one another:) So in the Teſtimony of the Scripture, there is frequently, not onely the Hiſtory in the Letter, but a Spiritual Myſtery in the ſenſe thereof, as is clear in that of Hagar and Sarah, Gal.4. And of the Rock and Manna, and of Melchiſedech, &c. 1 Cor.10.3,4. Heb.7. 1,2.

II. In all Scriptural Interpretations, the Analogy of Faith is to be reſpected, Rom.12. 5. That is, Undeniable principles of Truth clearly held out in other Scriptures, which have a ſpecial proportion to the place which is to be interpreted, according to which, the ſenſe thereof muſt needs be.

III. And hence, as Chriſts coming and judging imply ſometimes ſome ſpecial manifeſtation of him, and ſometimes his perſonal coming at his Incarnation, or that ſecond coming that ſhall be at the reſtoring of all things, (Heb.9. 28. Acts 3. 19,20,21. with Rom.11.26. and Iſa.59. 29. So ſome of ſuch Prophecies are appliable to both his comings, and to ſeveral times of his manifeſtation, Mal.3. 1,2,6. Matth. 16.20. with Mark 9. 1, 2. Joh. 6. 18. Zach. 14. 1, 4. Pſal. 97. 98, laſt verſes.

IV. As there is Babylon and Egypt Myſtical, as well as Literal, (Revel. 17. 4. & 11. 8.) So ſome Propheſies (as Pſal. 137. Jer. 50. & 51.) ſeem appliable to the ſin and ruine of both thoſe Babylons.

V. As there are Jews and Iſrael, ſeed of Abraham, as well ſpiritual as natural, Rom. 2. 3 laſt verſes, Gal. 6. 17. Rom. 9. 6. So ſome Propheſies of Iſraels ſins, puniſhments, and merciful reſtorings, are applyable to both Zion and Jeruſalem, Gal. 4. ult. Iſa. 54. with Iſa. 51. 52. & 53 chapters.

VI. As both of Natural and Spiritual Iſrael, there was a Firſt-fruits to God in the Apoſtles days; and there is a Harveſt that is to come (Rom. 11. 16. Jam. 1. 18. Revel. 14. 4.) So ſome Propheſies of glorious Bleſſings are applyable to both times, and are fulfilled already to the Firſt-fruits, in a leſs degree, that are to be fulfilled at the Harveſt plenteouſly, and very gloriouſly, Rom. 15. 4. 2 Tim. 3. 16. 2 Cor. 5. 17, 18. from Iſa. 43. 18, 19. with Revel. 21. 1, 5. Jer. 31. 31. with Heb. 8. 8. and 1 Cor. 11. 25. and Rom. 11. 12, 15, 26, 27. Luke 1. 31, 32. Hoſ. 3. 4 5. Ezek. 37. 24, 28.

VII. All Holy Scriptures (and therefore all thoſe Scriptures that foretel the calling of the Jews, the fall of Babylon and Antichriſt, and the comings of Chriſt) are inſpired of God, and are profitable in all Ages, for Inſtruction, for Conviction, for Reformation, and for leading on in Righteouſneſs, 2 Tim. 3. 16. Rom. 15. 4 1 Cor. 10. 6, 11.

A Preparation to a more full Explanation of the Embleme † of the Lyon Couchant, over the Earths Globe, under Two Crowns, become one, &c. By Seven Propoſitions.

† Page 4.

I. ALL the Poſterity of Jacobs Twelve Sons, are often called Iſrael: The Judges, Saul, David, and Solomon, ruled over all; they then being but one Kingdom.

2 Sam. 5. 5. 1 King. 11. 26, 42.

2. Under

2. Under Rehoboam, Solomons Son, Ten Tribes rent from him under Jeroboam (who was of Ephraim, which was the greateſt of the Ten Tribes.) Thus the Kings that ſucceeded Jeroboam were called Kings of Iſrael, and reigned (for moſt part) in Samaria, and that people are oft called Ephraim, from the principal Tribe: The ſucceſſors of Davids ſeed, were called Kings of Judah, and they reigned in Jeruſalem. 1 Kings 12.20. 2 Chro. 13. 4, 15. Iſa. 7. 1, 9. Hoſ. 5. 13, 14. & 6. 4. & 7. 1, 8, 11.

3. Before Ezekiels propheſie, Iſrael were carried captive by the Aſſyrians, into Aſſyria, and Media, and other Eaſtern Countreys, 2 Kings 17.6. with Ezek 1.2. & 40.1.

4. In Ezekiels days, Judah was captived by the Chaldeans, or Babylonians, for ſeventy yeers, Jer. 25.11. and then returned from their captivity, Dan. 9. 1, 23, 24. Ezra 1. 1, 2, 3.

5. Babylon being vanquiſhed by Medes and Perſians, and theſe by the Grecians under Alexander (whoſe Kingdom was divided amongſt his four Grand Captains, of which, the South and North obtained all at the laſt) The Grecians were vanquiſhed by the Romans above forty yeers before Chriſts Nativity.

6. Hence after the Jews returned from the captivity of Babylon, (that Head of Gold, in Daniels Image;) they remained (as in captivity) under the Medes and Perſians, (the Breſt and Arms of Silver.) Nehe. 9. 32, 36, 37. And then under the Grecians (that Belly and Thighs of Braſs;) and laſtly, under the Romans, [thoſe Legs of Iron (the Eaſtern and Weſtern Empires,) and Feet of Iron and Clay,] which end in Ten Toes, ſo in Ten Kings, Revel. 17. 12, 13. Dan. 2. 32, 33, 38. to 46.

7. Under this laſt (and longeſt) captivity, they are (and ſo they account of it) ſtill, unto this day. From this Fourth Monarchy that captived them, they ſhall ſhortly be reſtored by Jeſus the Meſſias, who will deſtroy all their enemies, and will ſet up the Fift Monarchy, that is held forth in the Embleme, which ſhall never be deſtroyed; but it ſhall break in pieces and conſume all theſe Kingdoms, and it (as a Mountain) ſhall ſtand for ever, Dan. 2. 34, 45.

The Explanation it ſelf, according to the Letters A B C D E F G H I that are in the Embleme at the top of the Map of Jeruſalem.

A B C Ezek. 37. 15, 16, 17, 19, 21, 22. A B C

Two Sticks; (A) for Judah; (B) for Iſrael; Theſe two Kingdoms, (C) ſhall become one Kingdom under Chriſt, as in Ezek. 37. 15, 16, 17. The word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying, Son of man, Take thee one ſtick, and write upon it; For Judah, and for the children of Iſrael his companions. Then take another ſtick, and write upon it, For Joſeph the ſtick of Ephraim (Joſephs ſon) and for all the houſe of Iſrael his companions. And joyn them one to another into one ſtick, and they ſhall become one in thine hand. Verſ. 19. I will put Iſraels ſtick with the ſtick of Judah, they ſhall be one in mine hand. Verſ. 21. And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord Jehovah, Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the Heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on every ſide, and bring them into their own Land. And I will make them one Nation in the Land; and they ſhall not be divided into two Kingdoms any more at all: Verſ. 23. Nor ſhall they defile themſelves any more with Idols. Verſ. 24. And David my ſervant ſhall be King over them, and they ſhall all have one Shepherd. Verſ. 25. For ever.

D This is meant of the Reign of Chriſt, who is called The Lyon of the Tribe of Judah, the Root of David, (Revel. 5. 5.) Of whom Jacob foretold, ſaying, Judah is a Lyons whelp; he couched as a Lyon, and as an old Lyon; who ſhall rouſe him up? Gen 49. 9.

E He is called a Rod out of the ſtem of Jeſſei, and a Branch growing out of his root, Iſa. 11. 1.

F Alſo a Star out of Jacob, and a Scepter that ſhould riſe out of Iſrael; who ſhall ſmite thorow the corners of Moab (typing Antichriſt) Antichriſt) and ſhall unwal all the children of Sheth, (that is, All Nations; For all came of Noah, and he of Adam, Sheth, Ænoſh, &c.) Numb. 24.17. He ſhall ſtrike thorow Kings: He ſhall wound the head over many Countreys (Antichriſt.) Pſal. 110. 5,6. Revel. 19.15,20. He ſhall break in pieces the Oppreſſor. All Kings ſhall worſhip him, all Nations ſhall ſerve him; Men ſhall be bleſſed in him. Pſal. 72. 4,11,17. Yea all Nations, all the Families of the Earth, even to the ends of the Earth, ſhall be bleſſed in him, and ſhall call him bleſſed. Gen 22.18. & 28.14. Acts 3.25. Pſal. 2.8. & 67.4,7. All, that is, The generality of thoſe that ſurvive, after the great ſlaughters that ſhall be in the Earth; many of each of thoſe ſeventy Families of Noah, that became of ſeventy Languages, Gen. 10. 1,5,31. & 11. 1,9. Zach. 13. 8,9. Pſal. 46. 8,9. Mal. 4. 1,2,3. Zeph. 3. 8. Iſa. 24. 3,18,21. & 26. 21. & 27. 1,7. & 34. 6. Then ſhall all worſhip the Lord, with one conſent, Zeph. 3. 9. Then ſwords ſhall be turned into ploughſhares, and wars ſhall all ceaſe, Micah 4. 3. Iſa. 2 4. Pſal. 46. 9. Then Jeruſalem ſhall have peace, and be the praiſe of the Earth, Pſal. 128. 5. Iſa. 62. 7. And both it, and all Cities ſhall be without walls, Ezek. 38. 11. Num. 24. 17.

G

H

Then the great Dragon, the old Serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world, ſhall be bruiſed under the feet of his people, and ſhall be caſt out, Rom. 16. 20. (Revel. 12. 9.) That he may deceive the Nations no more, till a thouſand yeers ſhall be fulfilled; and after that, he muſt be looſed a little ſeaſon, Revel. 20. 1,2,3. And the Martyrs, or Witneſſes of Chriſt againſt Antichriſtianiſm, being raiſed, ſhall reign with Chriſt thoſe thouſand yeers. But the reſt of the dead live not again, until thoſe thouſand yeers ſhall be finiſhed, that is, the firſt Reſurrection. Bleſſed and holy are all ſuch unto days of eternity, Rev. 4. 5,6. See that place.

II

The Spirit, and the Bride ſay, Come; and let him that heareth ſay, Come. He that teſtifieth theſe things, ſaith, Surely, I come quickly; Amen, Even ſo, come Lord Jeſus.

An Explanation of the Authors names that are abbreviated in the Margent of this Book; for help to the weak.

Breid. Julii 12.	Breidenbach, on July 12.	Saligniac, Tome 6, &c.	Saliz. Tom. 6. &c.
Broc. Itin.	Brocard his Itinerary or Journal.	Will. Tyrens 8th Book of the Holy War.	Will. Tyr. lib. 8. Bel. Sac.
Euseb. Eccles. hist.	Eusebius Ecclesiast. History.	Joseph. 15 Book of Antiquities, 14 Chapter, and of the Jews Wars, 6 Book, 6 Chap. &c.	Joseph. 15 Ant: 14. 6. Bel. 6.
Ferom. Tom 1.	Ferom, Tome 1.
Jacob. Vitr.	Jacobus Vitriac.
Pas. Die 197.	Pasch on 197 day, &c.

The other Abbreviations are more easie; of which, and of all these, you may see more fully at the end of the Book, after Number 268, at Sect. 10. Sect. 6. & 23. Sect. 4. & 14, 15, 16, &c.

The Reasons why some Traditions of Reliques are forborn in the Translation; and why some are published.

IT is to be granted, that this Breidenbach, Brocard, Pasch, Saligniac, (as also Tyren) were Roman Catholicks, and that they desired the promoting of their Religion; a great part whereof, is, in visiting of Saints Reliques; and they received from their Ancestors many Traditions, which they respect and uphold as much, as, yea, more then the Word of God it self.

Hence several such Passages that were in the Latin, are left out by the Translator; as that of Veronica's Neckerchere, † Numb. 42. and of Pelagia's House: So also this about Helen's finding the Cross, by the wonderful smell or odor of the Spices and Oyntments, which the Earth sent forth: By which miracle, that venerable Empress † Or Section 42. of the Book.

Empreſs was confirmed, ſay thoſe Popiſh Authors (in Number 240.) Which argues, That the Women anointed Chriſts Body with that precious Ointment or Odors upon the Croſs: For that anointing of Chriſts feet, was ſix or ſeven days before Chriſts death, Joh. 12. 1,2. Whereas the Scriptures ſhew moſt plainly, That the Women bought not thoſe Spices for Ointments and Odors to Chriſts Body, until Chriſt was taken from the Croſs, and buried: Which Odors they brought, not to the empty Croſs, but to the Garden where Chriſt was buried, ſome way diſtant from the Croſs; and there they would have anointed him, but did not, becauſe Chriſt was riſen before they came, Luke 23.53, 56. & 24.1. Matth. 27.57. & 28.1,2. Mark 16. 1,2,6.

Hence the Tranſlator forbears this, and divers of ſuch vain Traditions, as tend to make the Word of God of none effect (Matth. 15.6,9.) ſome of them remain, that the Reader may know, in what place the Relick-mongers will ſhew ſuch and ſuch things, which never were there; as the Note added from Holy Scriptures, makes evident. Which Note being obſerved in love to the truth, may tend to prevent that dreadful doom of the damnable deceivers and deceived, denounced in 2 Theſ. 2. 10, 12. With all deceivableneſs of unrighteouſneſs in them that periſh; becauſe they received not the love of the truth, that they might be ſaved. And for this cauſe, God ſhall ſend them ſtrong deluſions, that they ſhould believe a lie; that they all might be damned, who believed not the truth, but had pleaſure in unrighteouſneſs. I could name one whom I knew, noted for miſerable covetouſneſs, when in ſickneſs he prevailed not to be abſolved by a Miniſter, was prevailed with by a Prieſt that that (it ſeems) abſolved him, to viſit Saint Anne of Buxtons Well; which he did, and returned a confirmed Papiſt, by this lying ſtrong deluſion; which he (poor wretch) believed, viz. That he was ſhewed, and ſaw the very Well it ſelf, into which Saint Annes head fell, being cut off by a villain that would have abuſed her. Her Brother hearing of it, came after Maſs was ended, took his ſiſters head, and put it right upon her neck, and preſently ſhe revived. I ſaw the Well it ſelf, where this was done, ſaid he.

This warning is premiſed, That by being forewarned, thou maiſt be fore-armed againſt the poyſon of ſuch Baſiliſks, and maiſt tread ſuch Serpents under thy feet. Remembring 2 *Theſ.*2.10. Many things are here truly recorded from Holy Scriptures, and Joſephus, and Jerom, and others, cited by thoſe men. But can any good come out of Galilee; or ſhall we receive truth from Papiſts? Anſw. Truth is more precious then Silver, or Gold, or Rubies. Can you be content to take up Silver, or Gold, or precious Pearls, though you eſpie then on a Dunghil, or in the Kennel? Then diſdain not to own Truth, which is far more excellent, whereſoever you can eſpie it: Onely look up to the God of all grace, who hath given us his own Son, to be our Way, Truth, and Life; that he would reveal his Son to us, and in us; that by him we may ſavingly know, and love the truth, as it is in Jeſus; and may by his light, diſcern and abhor every falſe way. Try all things (that are held out for truths) hold faſt that which is good; (as the noble Bereans did, to their ſouls everlaſting benefit, Acts 17. 11.) and abſtain from all appearance of evil. And the very God of peace ſanctifie you wholly, 1 *Theſ.*5. 21,22,23. This is the humble requeſt of Thy ſouls wel-wiſhing Friend, H. Jeſſey.

T. N. To the Christian loving Reader, of the Use and Benefit of this Pithy Treatise.

THat Stately place, that Princely bowre, that Seat of mighty King: Psal 48. 2.
That flower of Benjamin his Tribe, Iosh. 18. 28.
whose fame through World did ring.
Ennobled with such Royal stiles, and titles of renown;
And over worldly Cities all most meet to wear the Crown, Lo, here presented is to view in such good currant sort,
As no Pen heretofore perform'd, or made thereof report.
So that we need not now to run,
or gad from place to place,
In dangers great, through Countreys strange, to try or know this case.
That brave estate which earst it had,
is now (alas) defac'd.
King Davids house, and Temple now 1 Chro. 11. 4, 7. is quite and clean disgrac'd.
Yet here with Book and Map in hand, we now may plain behold
The state of each thing, as it was, in times that were of old.
Where Christ did preach, where Christ did sup, where Christ did fast and pray,
Where Christ was caught, where Christ was whipt, where thieves did him betray. Matth. 26. 27.
Where he a precious ransom paid for man, who had offended;

Where he was Buried, where he Roſe;
and eke where he Aſcended;
Where Annas kept his pompous Court, where Caiphas Pallace ſtood;
Where wicked Pilate dwelt, that did condemn moſt guiltleſs blood.
This and much more is here diſcourſt from ſome, that both had read,
And ſeen with eye, the City rare, that's here deciphered.
This work and pains, as they deſerve, much thanks and hearty praiſe.
So ſuch their Guerdon well may reap, of all men in theſe days.
Who like to Candles waſte themſelves, in giving light to others:
Moe ſueh, God grant to take like care, to help their Chriſtian Brothers.

A brief Deſcription and Explanation of Two hundred ſixty and eight places of Jeruſalem, and the Suburbs thereof, as it flouriſhed in the time of CHRIST.

Anſwerable to the ſame Figures that are Engraven in the Map thereof.

I.

Jeruſalem, the choice City of God, holy and moſt glorious, built upon the holy Mountains, excelling all the Cities of the World; as well by the loftineſs of the Seat, as by the moderation and temperature of the Heavens, and fruitfulneſs of Soil, was ſituated in the midſt of the whole World, and of Judea, as it were in the very Centre and Heart of the Earth; and being as a Queen amongſt all other Neighbor Cities, had the preheminence as the Head over the Body, and ſhined as the Sun above others in ſumptuous and glorious Buildings: Having ſuch ſurpaſſing excellency,

The Original places from whence this Commentary is taken, and where more is to be read.
Pſalm 48. 2. & 87. 1, 2, 3.
Matth 4. 5.
Pſal. 74. 27.
Ezek. 5. 5.

Joseph. Lib. 3. de Bello Iudaico. cap. 2. Deut. 16. 17. Psal. 48. 2. Lam. 2. 5.

cellency, she was by a certain singular priviledge in time past, the onely place which God had chosen to himself; and was a figure not onely of every faithful mans soul, but also of the Elect Church of Christ Militant upon Earth, and of that blessed Triumphant Church in Heaven. A City of perfect Beauty, the Virgin of the World, the Paragon of all the East, and the joy and rejoycing of the whole Earth.

Gen 14. 18. Joseph. 7. Antiq. Iud. cap 7. & l. 7. Belli Iud. c. 18, 28. Gen. 10. Iosh. 15. 8. Judg. 1. 19. 2 Sam. 5. 5. 1 Chron. 11. 4, 7.

This City was builded (as some judge) about the year from the Creation of the World, Two thousand twenty and three, in the time of Abraham, by Melchisedec the King: In Hebrew it was called Salem, and in Greek Solyma; and it seemeth, that he possessed the same Fifty years. The which afterwards the Jebusites enjoyed, who sprang from Jebusi, the Son of Canaan; of whom it was called for a time Jebus, and Jebusæum, at what time Joshua slew the King thereof. And the Jebusites held the same, Eight hundred twenty and four years, who trusted so much to the strength of their City, that when King David assailed the same, in contempt of him, and of his Army, they placed upon their Walls, the blinde, the halt, and the maimed, saying, That these were sufficient to beat back the Enemy.

Joseph. l. 7. Antiq. cap. 3. Ierom. Tom. 3. de loc. Hebr. lit. i. Euseb. Evang. Præp. l. 9. 1 King. 3. 5, 6, 9, 10, &c. See Number CXXIV. Joseph. lib. 8. Antiq. cap. 2. & 5.

But when David, through Gods help, enjoyed the City; the Jebusites being expulsed, he re-edified the same round, fortified it with a Castle, dwelt therein, and made it the Metropolitan City of the whole Province of Judea, and the Head of all the Kingdom; and from thenceforth, called it Jerusalem, as it were, Jebussalem the letter B (to make the better sound) turned into R. [Or rather from Jireh and Salem, Gen. 18. 2, 14. with 2 Chro. 3. 1.] Notwithstanding, there are some which write, That it is called Jerusalem, of the magnificent Temple which Solomon built therein, as it were, Hieron Solomonis. For the Greeks call a Temple ἱερὸν, Hieron. In continuance of time, Solomon and other Kings of Judea, greatly enlarged the same, and so fortified it with most strong Gates, Towers, Walls, and Trenches, and so adorned it with a Temple, with Pallaces, and with most exquisit Buildings; that among other Cities, it was a miracle of the whole World, and is therefore more honored with silence, then with all that can be said concerning the same. It stood in the Tribe of Benjamin, Josh. 18. 28. Some borders of it were in Judah,

Judah, Josh. 15. 8. In this glory and excellency, Jerusalem flouriſhed Four hundred ſeventy and ſeven years, as if it had been an Earthly Paradiſe, being in compaſs round about, Six miles and two hundred and fifty paces. And by the Wall and circuit of the City, there was a Stony Trench or Vault Threeſcore foot deep, and in bredth Two hundred and fifty, wherein was abiding about One hundred and fifty thouſand men. But when the wickedneſs of the Princes and People, not onely had profaned the Temple, with the abominations of Idols, but alſo had filled the City even to the full with innocent blood, moſt cruelly ſhed; the City together with the Temple, Princes, and people by the juſt vengeance of God, was by Nabuchodonozer, King of Babylon (but Gods whip) ſo utterly overthrown, and deſolated Threeſcore and ten years, that Sion was ploughed up like a field, and Jeruſalem was become as a heap of ſtones, and the Mountain of the Temple, as it were the height and top of Woods; ſo as in the mean time (as Jerom witneſſeth) that neither ſo much as a Bird, nor a Beaſt, could flie, or paſs through the ſame.

Ioſeph. Con. Appion. lib. 1. Strabo Geograph. l. 16.

2 Kings 16. 21, 24, 25. 2 Chro. 28. 33, 36.

Micah 3. Jere. 25. 26, 29, & 52.

Hier. Tom. 3. Trad. Heb. in 2 Chro. 15.

Afterwards the Temple onely being with much a do, and very hardly builded, wanting Gates, Towers, and Walls, was inhabited again by the Jews (returning out of the captivity of Babylon) Threeſcore years.

Moreover, within the ſpace of Two and fifty days, Nehemiah incloſed it in compaſs Three miles and ſeven hundred and fifty paces, with Gates, Towers, and a ſtrong Wall; and afterward, the ſame being beautified by the Maccabees, by Herod, and by others very ſtately, with publick and private Buildings, recovered the former dignity, being very famous and populous by the ſpace of Five hundred four and twenty years; having in it many narrow Streets, by reaſon of the exceeding number of Houſes therein: At what time there, as in a Theatre, Jeſus Chriſt wrought our Salvation; and from thence, as from a Center, the Apoſtles ſpread forth the Evangelical Doctrine throughout the World.

1 Eſdr. 1. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6. Nehe. 1. 2, 3, 4. 5, 6, 7, &c. 1 Mac. 12. 13. & 14. Ioſeph. 6. Bel. 6. Ioſeph. 1. Bel. 13. &c.

Iſa. 2. 4. Micah 4. Acts 2. 16 Mark 16. Pſal. 18.

But Titus, Emperor of Rome, being brought by the juſt judgement of God, to take vengeance for the death of Chriſt, the Thirty and eighth year after his Paſſion, beſieged it round, caſting a bank about it; and ſhut up the Jews in the City, as in a priſon, Ioſeph. 6. Bel. 13. & 7. Bel. 14. 17. & 18.

priſon, which came out of every Tribe to celebrate the Feaſt of Paſsover there. Whereupon that City, the wonder of the World, was made a Den of theeves, and a Sepulchre of dead men: For by reaſon of civil murders, famine, peſtilence, and ſword, there periſhed in the ſame Eleven hundred thouſand Jews. And as for the City it ſelf, Titus did ſo utterly ſubvert it, that men which came unto it, would ſcarce believe that ever it had been inhabited. Nevertheleſs, he left three principal Herodian Towers, that is to ſay, Hippic, Mariam, and Phaſel, which were more notable then the reſt, as well for greatneſs, as for beauty; and that part of the Cities Wall, which compaſſed them from the Weſt, unſhaken; to the end, that both it might be a Caſtle for the Roman Souldiers, which ſhould be left there for a Garriſon, and alſo to ſhew unto poſterity what manner of City, and how well fortified, the force of the Romans had ſubdued. But after threeſcore and five years, the Jews rebelling again, Ælius Adrianus the Emperor ſlew many thouſands of them, and utterly ſubverted thoſe Towers, with the remainder of the VVall, and commanded the City to be ſtrewed with Salt; whereby it came to paſs according to the propheſie of Chriſt, That there was not left one ſtone of the City upon a ſtone. And building the City again in leſs compaſs, he excluded Mount Sion, with the Palace of Solomon, and that of the Queen, and the Houſe of the Foreſt of Libanus; alſo the Gate of the North corner, and the Tents of the Aſſyrians; and all the North part, even to the Dung Gate, and to the Gate of Ephraim: But the Mount of Calvary, and the Sepulchre of the Lord, which were aforetime without the Walls, he incloſed with the North Walls of the City; and ſet the Picture of a Sowe cut in Marble upon the forefront of that Gate, by which men go to Bethleem; thereby giving to underſtand, That the Jews ſubject to that Law of Swines fleſh, were under the power of the Romans; whom by an Edict he forbad never more to enter into that City, or look into the ſame from the top of any higher place, and from thenceforth commanded it to be called Ælia Capitolia, after his own name. But after this, being inhabited of the Chriſtians, and dignified with a Patriarchal Seat, receiving again in continuance of time, the name of Jeruſalem, flouriſhed five hundred years in Chriſtian Religion.

Luke 19. 41.
Euſeb. in Chro. & Hiſt. Eccleſ. l. 4. c. 6.
Hier. in loc. Act. Apoſt. lib. H.
Niceph. 3. Hiſt. Eccleſ. 14.
Broca. in Deſcrip. locorum terræ ſanctæ, itinere. 6.
Will. Tyr. Hiſt. Bel. Sacri. lib. 14. c. 12.
Jacob. Vitriac. 1. 55.

And

And in the year after the Birth of Christ, Six hundred thirty and six, it was taken by the Saracens which reigned in Egypt, and so possessed Four hundred threescore and three years. Onuphr. in Chro. Eccles.

After this, in the year of Christ One thousand ninety and nine, the City Jerusalem was recovered by the Christians, having for their Captain Godfrey of Bullion, who was the first that entred upon the Wall of the City with great courage and most fierce assault, the Ides of July, the very same day and hour wherein * Christ died. And so great slaughter was made, throughout all the Streets, Lanes, and corners of the City, that no man could pass but over the dead bodies of the slain: And so exceeding was the effusion of blood, that men went over their shooes in the blood of the dead; insomuch, That the Conquerors themselves were from the sole of the foot, to the crown of the head, imbrued with blood. Who when they enjoyed the City, putting off their Armor, and cleansing themselves from their blood, visited the places of Christs Passion, Resurrection, and Ascension (which the faithful that dwelt in Jerusalem shewed unto them) and beheld them with reverence. The eight day after, with one consent, they elected Duke Godfrey, and created him the King of Jerusalem; but the man being full of godliness and humility, would not be crowned with a Crown of Gold, after the manner of Kings, in the holy City; but contented himself, and reverenced the like Crown of Thorns, with the which, the Emperor of Mankinde was crowned in the same place, when he went to be Crucified for our Salvation. Wilhelm. Tyri Arch. Hist. Bel. Sacri. l. 8. c. 5, 18, 19, 20, 21. & l. 9. c. 1, 2, 9. * So I the Author try this. Iacob. de Vitriac. c. 20. B. Salig. in Epist. ad Joan. a Lotharing. Cardin.

Jerusalem therefore being recovered by the Christians, was so held and enjoyed by them Fourscore and eight years: Afterward, namely in the year One thousand one hundred eighty and seven, the second day of October, the Christian Princes (wo and alas) disagreeing among themselves, Jerusalem was delivered up to Saladine the Soldan of Egypt, upon this condition, That it should be lawful for the Christians to depart with bag and bagge; the which Saladine held it Three hundred and thirty years. But in the year of our Lord, One thousand five hundred and seventeen, it was invaded by Selimo, the Emperor of Turks, and is at this day in the same compass of Walls possessed by the Turks; who name it Cusumobarech or Codsbarich, that is to say, Bas. Heto. Bel. Sacri. cont. l. 1. c. 7. & l. 6. c. 10. Matth. Palmerius in Chron. Mossæus in Chron. Onuphr. in Chron.

ſay, A Holy City. So that from the firſt Foundation thereof, unto this preſent year One thouſand five hundred ninety and four, are paſſed Three thouſand five hundred thirty and one years.

The places within the City.

The firſt part of the City.

II.

Pſal. 2. 6. & 15. 1. Joel 2. 15. & 3. 17. Ioſeph. 6. Bell. 6. & 15. Antiq. 14. Niceph. 8. Hiſt. Eccleſ. 30. Brocard. Itiner. 6. Salig. Tom. 6. cap. 6. Iſa. 14. & 20. Baſ. Hero. Bel. Sacri. contin. lib. 1. cap. 8. 2 Sam. 5. 6, 7. 1 Chro. 11. 5, 7. & 15. 1.

MOunt Sion, which is called The Mount of the Lord, and the Holy Mountain, is much more higher then other Mountains, and larger; after the faſhion of a Theatre, in the form of a half Circle, compaſſing the City on the South part: And being ſet as a Looking-Glaſs on a high place, founded by God upon a firm Rock, on every ſide broken off, had a Plainneſs thereon like to a Town; and being very pleaſant and recreative, it repreſented the excellency and delights of Heaven. Whoſe top the Jebuſites firſt of all fortified with a ſtrong Caſtle, and the compaſs thereof with firm and lofty Walls, with Gates, and with Towers: Whom when David the King had expulſed, he made the Caſtle and the Walls round about, the Gates and the Towers, much more defenſible, and made the top and plainneſs of the Hill, into Streets and Lanes; and builded there for himſelf, for his Nobles and Worthies, Houſes, and called it The City of David; which alſo Joſephus calleth The Higher City, and The Holy Part. The Maccabees reedifying the ſame Mountain in compaſs, made it moſt ſtrong with many Walls, and lofty Towers, in ſuch wiſe, as notwithſtanding any force, it was invinſible, onely by Famine it might be ſurprized: Where were many ſtraight and narrow paſſages, and many houſes of Citizens placed.

Pſal. 48. 2. & 87. 1, 2. Ioſeph. 6. Bel. 6. & 1. Bel. 1. 1 Mac. 4. Ioſeph. Bel. 15. & 16.

From this Mountain, according to the foretelling of the Prophets, a Law, and an Evangelical Light came forth, and as it were from the Head it ſelf, it was ſpred forth into the whole Body of the World for the ſaving health of all Nations. The which, when the Romans by the judgement and will of God, againſt all hope of man, and without blood-ſhed had taken (the ſeditious within the City, being ſtricken with a ſudden fear, and roaming here here and there from the wall, and hiding themselves in their sinkes) being dispersed in all corners and streets with their naked swords, slew all that they met with all, having no regard of persons or sex, and set fire on the houses, burning them, and all those that were fled into them, and destroying many houses whereinto they entred for pillage sake, where finding whole families dead (whom the famine had consumed) they so abhorred the sight thereof that they returned back again empty, running thorough with their swords all that they met, and so filling the streets with dead bodies, that the whole City flowed with blood in such abundance, that (as Josephus witnesseth) many things burning, were quenched with the plentiful blood of the slaine. But night coming on the slaughter began to cease, but the burning increased. The next day following, Titus being entred into the City, wondred at the fortifications of the City, and at the Rocks of the Towers, which the Tyrants through folly had willingly forsaken. Act. 13. Ioseph. 7. & Bel. 16.

To be briefe, when he had seen their substantial altitude, and invincible force, we have fought (saith he) by the manifest helpe of God, and it was God which drave out the Jews from these holds. For what hands of men, or what engines of war might have prevailed against these?

Many such words spake hee to his friends. This mountaine though it were excluded out of the City, yet afterward it was builded again and inhabited. But now being in the Suburbs most ruinous, it lyeth waste.

The places of Mount Sion.

III.

THe Castle of Sion being ancient and strong, was set on the very top of Mount Sion, round like a Crowne, and was a sure defence and beauty both of the City and Temple, and was as the capital or chiefe place of so great a City. Herein the Jebusites dwelt at the first, whom David casting out by force, enjoyed the Castle, and receiving from Hiram King of Tyrus, stones, wood, and Artificers, builded out of the same a strong Pallace for himselfe, and a house of Cedar, with a Kingly Throne. 2 King. 19. 31. 2 Sam. 5, 6, 7. vers. 11. 1 Kin. 5. 1. 10. 1 Chron. 11. 3. 7.

In the which Caſtle afterward, David himſelfe, and other Kings of Juda inhabited, and uſed the ſame for the Kings ſeat. And for this cauſe it was continually kept with a ſtrait guard of ſouldiers. And in proceſſe of time it was called the Kings Caſtle, and the houſe of David, the ſeat and Throne of David, alſo the Court and Kings houſe. In this Caſtle the moſt cruell of all Tyrants Antiochus King of Syria, which in Greek was called ἐπιφανὴς Epiphanes, that is to ſay, Renowned (but more truly ἐπιμανὴς Epimanes, that is, Mad, he deſerved to be called) placed a Garriſon of Gentiles, whereby in the time of the Machabees hee afflicted the Jews very much a long time. The which when Simon Machabæus had inforced to yeeld through famine, and had cleanſed the Caſtle from the pollution of Idols, they entred there-into with palms in their hands, with Cymbals, with Pſalterions, with hymnes and ſongs; and he placed therein men of the Jewes to defend the City and Country. Yet now there is nothing to be ſeen but the ruines thereof.

Ioſ.6.Bel.6.

Ariſtæus l. de 72.interpr.
1.Mach.1.
2.Mach.13, 14. chap.

IV.

The Kings Priſon with a lofty Tower, which overlooked the Kings houſe. Into this priſon Jeremy was caſt, becauſe he propheſied that the City ſhould be taken, and at the laſt was delivered out of the ſame by Nebuchadnezzar, when the City was taken.

Nehem. 3.25. Jer.33.1. ch. 39.14.15.

V.

Caſars and Agrippas Hall, was the Kings houſe, which Herod the Aſcalonite builded for himſelfe in the uppermoſt City: for he builded in his Pallace two great and fair houſes of poliſhed marble, and fine gold, whereunto the Temple it ſelfe was not comparable, and calling them after the names of Caſar Auguſtus, and of Agrippa his ſon in law, his friends, he named the one Caſars, and the other Agrippas.

Ioſ. 15. Antiq. 11. & 1 Bel.16 & 6.Bel.6.

VI.

The upper Chamber of Sion (as ſome write) was ſcituate about the middeſt of Mount Sion, being large, paved, and very faire, wherein Chriſt in his laſt ſupper did eat the Paſchal Lamb with his Diſciples, waſhed their feet, and inſtituted the Sacrament of his moſt bleſſed body and blood. In the ſame (ſay ſome) on the day of his Reſurrection (when he was entred, the doors being ſhut)

Mat.26.18. Mark 14.14. Luk.22.11. Ioh.13.1.

Luke 24. Ioh. 20.

ſtand-

ſtanding in the middeſt of his Diſciples, he ſhewed unto them the wounds of his ſide, of his hands and feet, and did eat before them; after that, breathing upon them, he gave them the Holy Ghoſt, and therewithall power to remit, and retain the ſinnes of all manner of perſons: That the eighth day after this, here he offered unto Thomas the Apoſtle the prints and ſcars of the ſpear and nails to ſee and feel. Here (as ſome conjecture) after the Lords aſcenſion, Matthias was by lot choſen into the Apoſtleſhip of Judas the Traytor. And that here on the day of Pentecoſt, the Holy Ghoſt came down in a great ſound, and in the form of fiery tongues, lighted upon one hundred and twenty believers; and at the firſt Sermon of Peter three thouſand Jewes were converted and baptized. In this place (as ſome gueſſe) James the Lords brother, ſirnamed Juſt, was by the Apoſtles deſired to preſide with the Church in Jeruſalem; and Stephen with ſix more, were ordained Deacons. And that here the Apoſtles entred into the firſt conſultation, or councel, and ſet downe the Rules of Chriſtian peace, for the good of Jews and Gentiles.

Ioh. 20. Act. 1. 2. Hier. tom. 1. Ep. 27. ad Euſtoc. vir. & tom. 3. Epiſt. 1. ad Paulin. Nicephor. l. 2. hiſt. Eccl. cap. 3. Act. 6. 5. Act. 15.

VII.

The Cypreſs Trees of Mount Sion, which were very excellent, whereof the Book called Eccleſiaſticus, maketh mention. Eccleſ. 24. 13.

VIII.

The Houſe of Annas, the chief Prieſt, the Father-in-law of Caiaphas; wherein Chriſt was examined of Annas, concerning his Diſciples, and his Doctrine; at what time he anſwered, That he had taught openly before all men; for the which, he received a blow on the cheek by a ſervant. Ioh. 18. 13. 24.

IX.

The Houſe of the Worthies, wherein (as ſome ſay) the ſtrong men, and valiant Peers of King David dwelt; where alſo as in a wreſtling place, the chief Wreſtlers and Champions, for exerciſe ſake, uſed to try maſteries. Nehem. 3.

X.

The Houſe of the Virgin Mary, wherein after the death of her Son, ſhe dwelt with John the Apoſtle, [as Nicephorus ſaith.] Nicephor. 2. hiſt. Eccleſ. 3. & 21

XI.

The Houſe of Uria, one of the moſt valiant Souldiers of David, 2 Sam. 11. & 23

vid, whose wife Bathsheba, bathing her self in a Fountain of her Garden (which also is to be seen in the Map) by her beauty allured David to adultery; beholding her from a Gallery of the Kings House.

XII.

The upper Market, by reason whereof, the upper City also, was called sometimes the upper Market.

Ios. 6. Bel. 6.

XIII.

The stairs of the Castle, or prison, whereon the Apostle Paul stood, when he made answer for himself.

Acts 21. last, & 22. 1.

XIV.

The stairs of Sion, by which men went up to the City of David.

Nehem 3. 15. and 12. 37. Ios. 15. Antiq. 14.

XV.

The Kings Garden, the which also was called the Garden of Oza, wherein Manasses and Amon, Kings of Judah, were buried.

Nehem. 3. 15. 2 King. 23. 18. 26.

XVI.

Mello, a Valley or Dale, very deep and wide, which lay between Mount Sion, and the lower City, and extended it self from the Water-Gate to the Fish-Gate. David builded and compassed Mount Sion round about from this Valley; the concavity and bottome whereof Solomon did make levell and plaine, that it might be a convenient street; and from thenceforth it was called the street of the Water-gate. He also beautified the same with buildings, which being decayed, was repaired by Ezekias. In this place it was that Joaz King of Juda was slaine by his servants in the way down to Sela. But in Josephus time, this valley was called Tyropœon, and was very large and full of dwelling houses. At this day this valley is so filled up with earth and stones, that there remaineth onely a small shew of the former concavity and deepnesse.

Bas. Hero. 1. Bel Sac. S. Bro itin. 6 2 Sam. 5. 9. 1. Chron. 11. 8. 1 King. 9. 15. & 11. 27. Nehem. 8. 1. 3. 16. & 3. 26. & 12. 37. 2 Chron. 32. 5. 2 King. 12. 20. Ioseph. 6. Bel. 6. Brocord. itin. 6.

XVII.

The Pallace of Caiphas, belonging to every high Priest, large and square, wherein sometime dweiled Eliasib the chiefe Priest. In this Pallace the Princes of the people being gathered together, consulted among themselves what pollicy they might use to catch Jesus, and to kill him, to whom he was there sold by Judas for thirty peeces of silver. Afterwards also he was thrice denied by Nehem. 3. 20. Mat. 26. 3. 57. & 27. Mar. 14. 15. Luk. 22 & 23. Ioan. 18. 24. 28

Peter

Peter, and was by falſe witneſſes of the Jewes, accuſed before Caiphas in the counſel of the Prieſts and Elders, to whom when he anſwered nothing, being ſtreightly charged by the high Prieſt, to tell whether hee were Chriſt the Son of God. The which when hee confeſſed, hee was accuſed of blaſphemy; the chief Prieſt calling for the ſentence of the counſel, threeſcore and ten Elders condemned him to be worthy of death, ſaying He is worthy to dye; Whereupon the ſervants and ſouldiers did preſently ſpit in his face, they blinde-folded him, buffeted him with their fiſts, commanding him to propheſie, ſcorned him all the night with ſundry mocks, and vexed him with many blaſphemies. And that I may ſpeake much in few words, no mortal man in this life is able to expreſſe, what, and how much he endured this night. And in * the morning following, the Rulers of the Jewes aſſembled together in this place again, to deliver him up to death; and leading him bound, they delivered him to Pilate the Deputy.

* Mat. 27. 1. Mar. 15. 1. Luk. 22 66. Io. 18, 28.

XVIII.

F The Fountain of Sion, the which was made with great labour and coſt. Nehem. 3.

XIX.

The Bridge of Sion, by which men went through the valley out of the upper City unto the Temple. Ioſ. 15. Antiq. 1. 7. & 7. Bel. 13, 15.

XX.

The Gates of Sion which the Lord loveth more then all the Tabernacles of Jacob. Pſal. 87. 2.

XXI.

The upper Gate by which Joas when he was crowned King of Juda in the Temple, and guarded with the Princes of the Jews, was lead into the Pallace of the Kings of Juda. 2 Chron. 23. 5. 13.

XXII.

The Sepulchre of David, together with the field wherein the Kings were buried, the which very ſtately was placed aloft in the City of David, wherein David himſelfe, Solomon, and other Kings of Juda, alſo Jehoiada the chiefe Prieſt were buried. Into this Monument of Davids Sepulchre Solomon brought great treaſure at his burial; the which Hircanus the high Prieſt, and Captaine opening, brought from hence thirty thouſand talents of ſilver. Not long after this, Herod the Aſcalonit 1 Kings 2, 10. & 11. 43. 2 Chron. 21, 20 & 24, 25. & 28, 27. Nehem. 2. 3. 5. & 3. 16. Ioſep. 7 Antiq. 16 & 13. Aut. 15. & 16 Aut. 7.

Act. 2. 29. Niceph. hist. Eccl. 30. Breid. 12. Ful. Sal. tom. 7. cap 2 Pasch. day 1846.

Ionit King of Jews, went about also to bring much treasure out from thence, but a flame of fire breaking forth and consuming two of his souldiers, he left off his enterprise, and to make satisfaction for himselfe, he adorned the same Monument with faire shining Marble, which continued there a long time after: where the Saracens afterward builded a Church for themselves, which standeth as yet, which place they greatly reverence, and suffer not any Christian to enter into the same.

XXIII.

Acts 8. 2. 5. 34. 22 3. 2 Sam. 6. 17.

The Sepulchre of Stephen the first Martyr, of Nicodemus, and of Gamaliel, Pauls Schoolmaster, [removing their bodies by a miracle from the valley of Josaphat hither, after three hundred and sixty yeers, say Relick-mungers.]

XXIV.

Exo. 26. 1. 7. 14. 2 Chron. 1. 3. 2 Sam. 6. 17. 2 Chron 5. 2. 1 Chro. 16. 1. 39 vers. 37. Josep. Ant. 4. 2 Chron. 1. 3, 4. ch. 5. 2. 7. Breid. 12. Ful. pasch. day. 184. Zach. 14. 10.

The Tabernacle of Sion, not that covered with skins, which Moses caused to be made; King David placed the same in his City in Sion Gibeon, and with great reverence put the Arke of God therein, and appointed Priests and Levites continually to minister from day to day by turne, which remained there about foure and twenty yeers, untill it was carried by Solomon into the Temple. In the same (saith Breid.) David sorrowing for his adultery with Bethsheba, and murder of Urias, made certain Psalms of repentance.

XXV.

The Kings Presses, wherein the Kings wine was pressed.

The Second part of the City.

XXVI.

Psal. 9. 16. Zach. 9. 9. Matth. 21. 5. Jos. 6. Bel. 6. &c

THe Daughter of Sion, so called because it seemed to grow from Mount Sion, the which was also called the lower City, being another part of the City, whereof there is often mention made in the holy Scriptures, and in Josephus.

The places of the Daughter of Sion.

XXVII.

THe Mountain of Acra was ſometime in the lower City very lofty and ſteep, the height whereof afterward Simon Machabæus abated, and made plaine by the continual labour of the people, which he imployed herein by the ſpace of three yeers day and night, that the Temple alone might be higher then all other places of the City. Joſ. 13. Ant. 9. & 6. Bel. 6. 7. & Bel. 13. 16.

XXVIII.

The Amphitheater, that is a place invironed with Scaffolds and Stages, capable of fourſcore thouſand men, where the people were wont to behold their Games, which Herod the elder firſt of all other builded in the field at Jeruſalem with great labour and coſt. Wherein, to recreat the beholders, wraſtlers, and ſword players, ſhewed many feats of activity; and ſometimes, Lions, Leopards, Buls, Bears, Bores, Wolves, and other exceeding wild & fierce beaſts, fought one with another, and ſometime condemned men were caſt unto theſe to be devoured, and captives taken in war. At which time of their Games, the place beneath was ſtrowed with ſand, to the end that neither the Sword-players ſhould faile in their footing, nor the fighters might be defiled with the blood of the ſlain, nor yet that the ſprinkling of the blood ſhould bring horror to the lookers on. Ioſ. 15. Ant. 10.

XXIX.

The Caſtle Antonia, ſtrong, and well fortified, lying near to the North-ſide of the Temple, which was builded in time paſt on a high rock fifty cubits high, and very ſteep round about, and the Tower was called Baris. In this the chiefe Prieſts which came of the Machabees even till Herods time inhabited; where, in a Cell made for that purpoſe, the ſacred ſtool of the chiefe Prieſt was kept, the Governour of the Tower lighting a candle there every day. Herod the greater having gotten the Kingdome, and ſeeing that this Caſtle was conveniently ſcituate to command the Citizens that they might not ſeek innovation through ſedition, repaired the ſame to his great coſt, and fortified it within with a Royal Pallace, even like a City, and with foure lofty Towers at each corner, where- Joſ. 15. Antiq. 14 & 18 Ant. 8 Item. 1. Bel. 3. & 4. 16. & 6. Bel. 6. & alias ſæpe.

whereof three were fifty cubits high, and the fourth threescore and ten, from whence the whole Temple might be seen; and for the favour which he bare to Marcus Antonius his friend, he called it Antonia. In this Castle the Roman souldiers, kept alwayes watch with their souldiers, having an eye and principal care lest the people should work any innovation in the Temple on the feast dayes. And so the Temple belonged to the City, and the Castle Antonia to the Temple.

XXX.

The Court of Records which we commonly call the Court of Chancery, or of the Rouls, that is to say, a house wherein the Acts of the City, and of the Citizens, and also their publick Records, and the account of Creditors were kept; the which the seditious burned, the keepers thereof flying from thence, to the end they might destroy all the evidences of the Creditors, and joyne unto them all the Debters.

Ioſ. 2. Bel. 17. & 7. Bel. 13.

XXXI.

The Castle of Antiochus Epiphanes, both high and strong, the which, after the slaughter of many Citizens, the spoyl of the City and Temple, and the burning of most fair houses, he builded upon the mountaine Acra, and fortified it with strong wals and towers, and placed a Garrison of Macedonian souldiers there, mingling with them certaine of the most rascal fugitive Jews, by whom the continual sacrifice was taken away by the space of three years, and the City it selfe vexed more then six and twenty years. But after this Simon Machabæus won, and destroyed this Castle.

Ioſ. 12. Ant. 6. 1 Mac. 1. Dan. 8. 11. 12. Ioſ. 13. Antiq. 9.

XXXII.

The common Prison of the City wherein the Apostles being shut up by the Rulers of the Jews, were in the night time brought forth by the Angel. Josephus seemeth to call this Prison Betiso.

Act. 5 18. 19. Ioſe. 6. Bel. 6.

XXXIII.

The Corner Parlour belonging to the corner house, where the publick Suppers were kept.

Nehem. 3. 24.

XXXIV.

The Vaulted Cave, leading from the Castle Antonia into the Temple, which Herod the elder made, setting a Tower thereon, that Ioſ. 19. Ant. 14. Breid. 14. Iul.

that by the same he might passe privily into the Temple, if so bee the people intended to make any insurrection against the King; which remaineth as yet very wonderful and large, insomuch that six hundred horses may very conveniently be placed therein.

XXXV.

The Court in Hebrew called Gasith; Which in the inner City was joyned to an old wall thereof: Wherein were threescore and ten Senators and ordinary Judges, which were called of the Jews Sanhedrim, in Greek Synedron, that is to say, in English the Councel of the Elders, and Seniors of the people. These dealt in the affairs of the Commonwealth, gave Laws, and determined the doubtfull and weighty causes, yea even of other Cities also; they ended strifes and controversies, and gave the sentence of death, generally they dealt in all capital causes, except onely in the difficulties and mysteries of Gods Law and of the Jews Religion, the which the Priests onely determined. In this consistory the Apostles were examined, whipped, and forbidden to preach, and yet went rejoycing from the Councel, because they were counted worthy to suffer shame for the name of Jesus. Here it was that St. Stephen standing before the Councel, and his countenance shining like an Angel, lifting up his eyes, saw the Heavens open, and the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God, from thence, he being cast with violence out of the City, was stoned.

Joseph.6.Bel.6, 7.Bel.13. Num.11.24. Act.22,30. Mar.13.9. Act.5.2. Hier.Tom.3. Epist.25.ad Fabiol.mans.11. Deut.17. Act.4,5,&5.27. Act.6.12.15.

XXXVI.

The house of Ananias the high Priest, which the seditious at the length fiered.

Ios. 2.Bel.1.7.

XXXVII.

The house of holy Anne (as some write) the Grandame of Christ, wherein she with Joacim her husband abode when the feast was at Jerusalem, where they both dyed. Here the blessed Virgine Mary (as some conjecture) abroad during the passion of Christ [That there she was conceived, some vainly record; for this was at Nazareth in Galilee.]

Breid.26.Iul. Sal.Tom.8. cap. 6.Iac. Vitri. cap.58. Luke 1.26.

The house of the rich Glutton (saith Breid, &c.) which burned in hell according to the Evangelical story (or Parable.) In the which house that he dwelt, it is reported by some Antiquities, a high wall whereof is shewed at this day to Christian Travellers.

Luke 6. Breid 14. Iul. Sal.Tom.8.ca.6.

XXXIX.

The house of Massa, whereof mention is made in the second Book of Kings. [The house of withdrawing, or of guard, that 2 King.11.6. should not be broken into.]

XL.

The house of the Nathinaans or Nethinims that is Given, which carried wood and water into the Temple. (These seem to Neh.3. 26.31. be the remnant of the Gibeonites whom David gave to such service, Ezra 8.20. with Ezra 2.70.)

XLI.

The house of the Rulers of the Pharises, in the which Christ
Luke 14.1. touched the man sick of the dropsie, and healed him.

LXII.

1 King.7 2. & 10.17.21. 2 Chron.9.16. 20. Jer.22, 23. Iosep.18. Ant.5,6,7. The house of the Forrest of Libanus, in length one hundred cubits, in breadth fifty, and in height thirty cubits, the which Solomon builded most brave and glorious of polished Marble, of Cedar trees, garnished with silver and gold, having a flat roof with Walks and Galleries (according to the fashion of Palestine) and within lively counterfeits of sundry trees and plants most artificially made, that the leaves thereof seemed in some sort to shake. And neer unto the same he planted a grove and a green arbor made of all manner of trees, and watered with fountaines; also he made Parks and Fish-pools, wherein it is like were all manner of wilde beasts, birds, and fishes. This house was a store-house of meat, an Armory for weapons of war, a house wherein oyntments, paintings, and sweet perfumes were laid up, and preserved. Beside these, two hundred shields of gold for horse-men, and three hundred large targets of gold for foot-men which Solomon made, were in this house by him laid up. All other vessels also of this House were of gold. To this house the King and his Peers came when the weighty affairs of the Commonwealth were ended, and recreated their minds, with banquets, with sports, and with pleasant walks.

Mist.tom.3. Epist.33. ad Suniam. Eccles.2.5,6.

XLIII.

Mat.26.6. Luke 7.36. 44. Joh.12.3. The House (as some say) of Simon (the Leaper) the Pharisee, which is at this day to be seen, wherein Christ sitting at the Table forgave unto Magdalen the sinful woman (bewayling her sins, and washing waſhing his feet with her tears, wiping them with her hair, kiſſing them, anointing him, and much loving him) many ſinnes. (Accordingto *Matth.*26.6. and *Joh.*12.3. this houſe was in Bethanie, and not in Jeruſalem. If it be the ſame Simon that is ſpoken of in Luke 7.44. and *Mat.*26.

[The XLIV. in Latine, was thus,

Domus Veronicæ Ang. the corner houſe of Veronica. This Veronica gave the linnen Kercief of her head to Chriſt, that he might wipe his (ſweaty) face with it. To it the Lord imprinted the image of his face (ſay ſome) and reſtored it to her, as a pledge of his love; which to this very day being notoriouſly marked with the face of Chriſt. At Rome in the Royall-Temple of S.Peter built in Vatican-mount by Conſtantine the Great, with grand honour it is preſerved, and on ſet dayes it is ſhewed unto the people. So the Latine book tels us from the Tradition of John Paſch a Friar Carmelite, writ Anno 1527. and of Dr. Bethlem a Prieſt, and Bredenbach, Dean of Mentz, Anno 1483. Why did the Engliſh omit this Relick? Anſ. It ſeems, becauſe not one word of it is in the holy Scripture; no, nor in Polycarpus, nor Ignatius, nor Juſtin Martyr, nor of any ancient approved Authority, but forged afterwards to delude ſuch as prefer mens Traditions before Gods word, ſo making it of none effect, as Jeſus Chriſt ſaid, *Mat.*15.6.9.) One queſtions of what cloath that Handkerchief of Veronica was made, that is ſo durable after ſixteen hundred yeers? that they may have ſome of that durable Cloath?]

XLIV. or XLV.

The Houſe of the common people, wherein they exerciſed themſelves with dartings, and other exerciſes of the arme, and with feaſts, with other playes and walks refreſhed their minds. Ier.39.

XLV. or XLVI.

The Great Market which was in the midſt of the City, and near adjoyning to the Caſtle Antonia, wherein Alexander the King of the Jews, and the chief Prieſt, crucified eight hundred Iews, killing alſo the Wives in the preſence of their Husbands, and the children in the ſight of their Mothers; the which ſpectacle himſelfe with his Concubines beheld, at what they were banqueting in the Caſtle Antonia. For the which cruelty he was *Ioſ.*13.*Ant.*20. & 1. Bel 3. *Ioſ.*14.*Ant.*22. item. 1.*Bel.*7. & 11.

firnamed Crucida. In the ſame Market place, Herod the greater fought a great battel with the Parthians, which went about to bring again Antigonus into the Kingdome. Furthermore when the famine through the Roman ſiege was exceeding great in Jeruſalem, in ſuch wiſe that it conſumed whole families, and repleniſhed the tops of houſes with fainting women and children, and the wayes of the dead careaſſes of old men, (in which extremity they did eat Leather, their Girdles, their Shoos, Hay, and Mothers their own children:) Then a man might have ſeen luſty young men, which afore time were moſt flouriſhing, paſſe through this Market place, like ſhadows of dead men. And when thoſe which remained alive, were not able to bury the dead, by reaſon of their exceeding multitude, and could not endure the ſtinke of the bodies unburied, they caſt them over the wall into the vallies of the City. The which when Titus ſaw, as he went about the wals, full of dead bodies much putrified, he fetched a great ſigh, and holding up his hands to God, proteſted, that it was not his deed; for the obſtinate Jewes refuſed peace, to them oftentimes offered.

Ioſ.6.Bel.14.& 7.Bel.7.& 8.

XLVI. or XLVII.

The Market place of Wares, the which was in the upper part of the lower City, in the which, Fiſh, and ſundry other things were ſold. In this Market S. James the greater, [or elder] the brother of John, ſuffered his martyrdome by the tyranny of Herod Agrippa [as Euſeb. records]

Act.12.2. Euſeb.2 Hiſt.Eccl.9. Niceph.2.

XLVII. or XLVIII.

The Upholſters Market, wherein all manner of old garments that had been worn aforetime of others were to be ſold.

XLVIII. or XLIX.

The School of Gentility, which Jeſus the falſe high Prieſt of the Jews (who after the manner of the Gentiles would be called Jaſon) and other Jewes apoſtatas (by the permiſſion of Antiochus Epiphan.) ſet up, even under his Caſtle over againſt the Temple; wherein the people were taught the laws and faſhions of the Gentiles, and the youth inſtructed in the ſtudies and diſputations of the Greek Philoſophers. Where they being naked and anointed with oyle, exerciſed themſelves in feats of activity, in martial actions, and in enterludes. Furthermore in ſame place, the Hiſt.Eccl.2. Mach.1,& 2.of Mac.4.

the ſaid Apoſtatas ſet up EPHEBIAM, that is to ſay a Stewes of fair young boyes, wherein they committed moſt filthy things againſt nature; by reaſon thereof many fell from the Law of God, to the manners and abominations of the Gentiles, being as it were ſold to commit monſtrous wickedneſſe, inſomuch that ſome of the Prieſts forſaking the Temple and worſhip of God, gave themſelves to the exerciſe of feats of activity; here hence alſo there ſprang up among the Jewes divers Sects, namely the Phariſees, the Saduces, the Eſſenes, &c. Sodomy.

XLIX. or L.

The Houſes of the Prieſts, and of the Levites whoſe houſes were ſhut up by the outward part of the wall; but from the former part they had a proſpect toward the Temple. Lyra in Neh. 3

L. or LI. &c.

The Habitation of the Target (or Shield) Bearers, was builded before the Weſt-gate of the Temple; where firſt the Jewes, then the Roman ſouldiers upon the ſolemne feaſt dayes had the ſtations for the guard of the Temple. 2 Chron. 12. 11. 2 King. 11. 6. Ioſeph. 20. Ant. 15.

L I.

The Lyſts or Tylt, which was placed over againſt the South part of the Temple, wherein horſes by running, agillity and ſwiftneſſe were exerciſed. And the Wraſtlers and Champions did contend before the people who ſhould run ſwifteſt on foot with Chariots diverſly drawn, who ſhould break moſt ſpears, and in other maſteries, and feats of valiency. Where Herod the King for the honour of Auguſtus Cæſar ordained the game and priſe of five years continuance, appointing unto the Victors great rewards. The ſame Herod when he ſhould dye, called all the more noble ſort of the Jewes of all places within his dominion, by an Edict threatning death to ſuch as ſhould not obey, and cauſed them to be ſhut up in the Lyſts, to the end that after his death they all being there ſlain, every houſe might have cauſe to waile even in deſpight of all Judea. Ioſ. 15 An. 10. & 17. Ant. 9, 10 13. 14. It. Bel. 21. & 2. Bel. 2.

L I I.

The Mountain Moria, the which in another place is called the land of Viſion, and the Mountaine of the Temple, and the Mountaine of the Daughter of Sion, lying neer unto the Eaſt-wall of the City, being very high, ſtony, and very ſteep round about. Gen. 22. 2. Mich. 3. 12. 1 Mach. 13. & 16. chap Iſa. 10. 16. Ioſeph. 15. Ant. 14. & 6. Bel. 6.

about. In this Mountain Abraham being ready to offer up his ſon Iſaac, inſtead of him offered up a Ram which was taken by the hornes in a thicket. This was the very ſame Mountain which David bought of Strenna or Oruan the Jebuſite for ſix hundred ſhekels of Gold, and erecting an Altar in his threſhing flower, he offered a burnt offering unto the Lord, which the fire from heaven conſumed. Afterward in the ſame Mountaine Solomon builded unto the Lord a moſt excellent Temple both for largeneſſe and beauty, whereof mention ſhall be made hereafter.

1 Chron. 21. Joſ. 7. Ant. 13. 2 Chr. 3. 1. 36.

LIII.

The firſt Wall, the which was called the old Wall, both in regard of the vallies, and a hill which was aloft above them, and alſo in regard of threeſcore Towers whereinto it was divided, the which made it very defenſible and ſtrong.

Joſ. 6. Bel 6, 7, &c.

LIV.

Ophel, which Joſephus calleth Ophlam, was a Tower of an exceeding height, whoſe top ſeemed to reach unto the Clouds; it was fortified with a Caſtle, and compaſſed about with a firm wall near unto the Temple, notwithſtanding it was without the wall, which ſhut off the habitation of the Prieſts. Herein dwelt the Nethinims. Into this Manahemus the Tyrant flying, was taken and ſlaine. This ſame was at the laſt burned by the ſouldiers of Titus.

2 Chr. 27. 3. & 33, 14, Neh. 3. 26, 27 Neh. 11. 21. Joſ. 2. Bel. 18. & 6, Bel. 6, 7. & 7 Bel. 13.

LV.

The Pallace of the Machabees, builded by them on a very lofty place on the Weſt ſide of the Temple, from whence they which would behold the City, and thoſe things which were done therein, had a moſt pleaſant and delectable proſpect. The which King Agrippa afterward exceedingly inlarged, and made it a Court for himſelf; from whence out of his Parlour he might behold whatſoever was done in the Temple. For the which cauſe the Rulers of the Jewes builded a very high Gate between that and the Weſt part of the inner Temple to hinder the Kings proſpect. This thing both King Agrippa, and Feſtus alſo the Lieutenant of the Country took in very evill part, who alſo commanded them to pull downe the ſaid Gate. But the Rulers intreated, that they might have leave to ſend Ambaſſadors to Nero the Emperour concerning this matter, ſaying, that they could not live if any 1 Mac. 13. Joſ. 17. Ant. 14. & 20. Ant. 15. 2 Bel. 2 & 16, 17 & 7. Bel. 15.

any thing were caſt down of the buildings of the Temple. The which liberty when they had obtained, they ſent Iſhmael the chief Prieſt, and Helchia the Treaſurer, and with them ten of their chief Rulers. And Nero at the earneſt ſuit of Poppea his wife, a godly woman, which ſhee made for the Jewes, pardoned the building of the ſaid Gate, and permitted the ſame to ſtand.

LVI.

The Pallace of Pilate, and of the Lieutenants of Rome, adjoyning to the Gallery which lyeth on the North ſide of the Caſtle Antonia; which Pallace was much more large, lofty, and fayrer, then all the buildings of the City, and had an aſcent or mounting of eight and twenty ſteps of Marble. Mat. 27. 1. Iſa. 50. & 53, 63. Mat. 27. Mar. 15. Luke 23. 1. Io. 18.

Here when Chriſt was falſely accuſed, and required to be crucified by the Princes and people of the Jews, for (that as they ſaid) he perverted the people, forbad tribute to be given to Caeſar, ſaid that he was Chriſt a King, and therefore approved himſelfe a ſeditious perſon, Pilate condemned him to be whipped under the form of this ſentence, which was found in a moſt ancient Chronicle, as followeth; Jeſum Nazarenum virum ſeditioſum, & Moſaicæ legis contemptorem, per pontifices & principes ſuæ gentis accuſatum, expoliate, ligate, & virgis cædite; that is to ſay, Take ye Jeſus of Nazareth accuſed by the chiefe Prieſts and Rulers of his own Nation to be a man ſeditious, and a contemner of Moſes Law ſtrip him bind him, and whip him. Whereupon the ſouldiers of Pilate led him into the Judgement hall, ſtript him before the whole band of ſouldiers, and other people, tyed him to a pillar, beat him moſt cruelly with rods, and rent and tare his moſt tender body. After this, they put on him a purple Robe, platted, and in forcible manner broided on his head a crowne of ſharp thorns, delivered into his right hand a reed, and in ſcorn ſaluted him as a King bending the knee before him, many wayes mocked him, they did ſpit on him, they did buffet him, and ſtrike him upon the wounded head with a Cane. Luke 23. Joh. 19. Breid. 21. Ful. Sal. Tom. 8. cap. 7. Palch. day 108 Mat. 27. Io. 19.

LVII.

The Queens Pallace, which Solomon moſt royally builded of precious and poliſhed ſtones for the habitation of his wife, which was Pharaohs daugher. 1 Reg. 7. & 9. 2 Chro. 8. Joſ. 8. Ant. 5.

Solomons

LVIII.

Solomons Pallace, exceeding great and fair, the which he builded in thirteen years magnificently, and moſt ſumptuouſly on the 1 King. 7. & to South part of the Mount Moria, of bright marble, and Cedar trees, ſupported with many pillars for his own habitation; this he wonderfully garniſhed with gold and ſilver round about, and made all the veſſels thereof of gold. In the ſame place afterward, the Chriſtian Kings of Jeruſalem had their Pallace, where firſt began the order of the Templers.

LIX.

Sal. Tom. 7. cap. 1. The Caſtle Piſan, compaſſed about with deep Trenches and Towers; the which was builded on the Weſt part of the City, by the Chriſtian inhabitants of a Town in Italy belonging to the Piſans, at what time they had the Dominion of the Holy-Land. Where firſt the Piſans, after them the Saracens, and now the Turkes, doe exact of the Pilgrims of the Holy-Land ſacrilegious tribute.

LX.

2 Sam. 20. 2 Chron. 32. Eccleſ. 48. Brocar. Itin. 6. The inner Fountain, which King Hezekias made in the midſt of the City at the North ſide of the Temple. For hee brought into the City the waters of this Fountain, from the higher Fountain of Gition, by conduct pipes which were under the earth, and made them to iſſue forth in this Fountaine. This Fountaine hee compaſſed about with a Well to water the whole City, that the people in time of ſiege might not be diſtreſſed with the want of water.

LXI.

Ioh. 5. 1. 2. The Pool Probatica, that is to ſay, the Sheep-pool, wherein the ſheep, and other beaſts were waſhed that were appointed for ſacrifice. In Hebrew it is called Bethesda (and corruptly Bethſaida) that is to ſay, the houſe of effuſion, becauſe the rain waters
Sol. Tom. 8. cap. 5 ran into the ſame [or rather Beth-chaſda; that is, The houſe of Kind-mercy, ſo the Syriack.] It was ſituate between the Gate of the Valley and the Temple. It was the moſt principal Pool, or water of the whole City, having five Porches, which King Solo- Paſch. day 192 mon made for the ſervice of the Temple. And this Joſephus called Salomons Lake or Pool. For in this Pool the Nathenims waſhed the oblations which they delivered unto the Prieſts to bee offered offered in the Temple. The Water hereof was moved at certaine times by the Angel of the Lord, and who so after the stirring thereof went first into the water, he was healed, whatsoever disease hee had. And therefore there lay a great multitude of languishing people in the Porches thereof, as blind, lame, withered, waiting for the moving of the water. Among which number Christ healed a man which had languished eight and thirty years. Jo. 5. 4, 5.

[The Figures in this Book should resemble the Figures that are in the MAP OF JERUSALEM, which are not Roman Figures, but such as these that follow.]

62.

The Old Fountain, together with a River, which issuing out of the same runneth through the whole City into the brook Cedron. Isa. 22. Jos. 7. Bel. 24. Jos. 14. Ant. 8. & 15. Ant. 14. & 1. Bel. 5.

63.

The Bridge, and Porch with Gates, by which men went from the Gallery, and from the Castle Antonia, over the valley of Cedron into the Temple, the which at the first the favourites of Aristobulus against Pompey, and afterward the seditious against Florus, cut off, lest by the means of the Castle Antonia, the Temple should be gotten. Item. 2 Bel. 15, 16. & 7. Bel. 6. 13

64.

The Warders [or Prison] Gate so called, because certain of the Kings guard warded there, at such time as the King entred into the Temple. Neh. 12. 39.

65.

The Horse-Gate, so named, because men might ride so far as that place; but then leaving their horses, they went on foot into the Temple. At the which place began the habitations of the Priests. Lyr. in Neh. 3.

66.

The Gate of the Essens was scituate in the old wall of the City. Jos. 6. Bel. 6.

67.

The first Gate, whereof the Prophet Zachariah maketh mention. Zach. 14. 10.

68.

The Porch of Pillars, scituate before Solomons Pallace, the which was fifty cubits long, and thirty cubits broad, and supported with strong Pillars. 1 King. 7. 15. 21

69.

The Beast-Market, called Probatica, where Sheep, Oxen, and other beasts for sacrifice were sold in the open Market.

70.

Act. 25. & 26. Ios. 2. Bel. 15, 16. & 17. The Pallace of Queen Bernice, sister of King Agrippa, who with her brother at Cæsaria heard Pauls supplication before Festus. And afterwards paying her vows to God at Jerusalem, she came bare-foot before Florus sitting in his judgement seat, tyrannizing against the Citizens, whom shee beseeched in vaine as concerning them.

71.

Ios. 5 Bel. 9. The Pallace of Grapta, the Neece of Izata King of the Adiabens, which she built for her selfe: Wherein afterward, Iohn the Captain of the seditious, abiding, left there his money, and spoils of Tyranny.

72.

Ios. 20. Ant. 2. & 6. Bel. 7. & 7. Bel. 13. Euseb 2 Hist. Eccles. 12. Act. 11. 28. The Pallace of Helen, which exalted it selfe in the middest of the mountain Acra. Shee, being the Queen of the Adiabens which dwelt beyond Euphrates, was converted from Gentilisme, to the Religion of the Jews, and came to Jerusalem to dwell; where she being become a Christian, at what time that great famine (whereof Agabus propheſied) in the dayes of the Emperour Claudius, pinched the whole world, but specially the land of Judea; this good Queen (I say) at her proper costs and charge sent for great store of corne out of Ægypt, which she distributed among the poor and needy at Jerusalem.

73.

Ios. 6. Bel. 7. The Pallace of Monobaz, King of the Adiabens, the son of Helen, which was scituate in the East part of the City.

74.

1 King. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 chap. Joseph. 8. Ant. 3 2 Chron. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, & 7 cha. Arist. lib. 72. interpret. The Temple of the Lord, otherwise called the Lords house, and the Sanctuary: The which Solomon the peaceable King builded of the matter prepared by David his father, and of elect, hewn, and polliſhed stones, and of timber cut from Mount Libanus, by the labour of more then a hundred fifty three thousand men in the mount Moria, without any sound of Axe or Hammer in seven years, so sumptuous and magnificent both within and without with shining gold, that it was counted the miracle of the world.

world. Concerning the wonderfull excellency whereof, nothing can be sufficiently spoken. When Solomon dedicated this Temple, the cloud and glory of the Lord filled it, and the fire which came from heaven consumed the sacrifices which were offered therein.

As concerning the entrance of this Temple, the same was contrary to the fashion now used, being East-ward, and the back part tended West; whereupon the Priests and people prayed turning to the West, and worshipped God herein with great reverence, untill through the impiety of the Kings and people of the Jews, it was prophaned with the pollutions of Idols oftentimes: Therefore* four hundred forty and one years after the first foundation thereof, by the just judgement of God, Nabuchodonozer King of Babylon burnt the same, and so destroyed it, that it lay desolate threescore and ten years. But after that, Zorobabel repaired the Temple again in excellent sort with squared stones, and the best timber in the same Mountain, within the space of forty and six years. And this also was of so great estimation that it was honoured throughout the whole world, and was from all parts enriched and beautified with the greatest gifts and honours of Kings and Princes. The which after three hundred fifty and four years, was spoyled by Antiochus Epiphanes King of Syria, and polluted with Idols. In the third year of the contamination thereof, the most valiant Captaine of the Jews, Judas Machabæus, purged it, and restored to the same again the golden vessels, and the worship of God. And that it might never more be defiled, he did wal it about in manner of a Castle with deep Trenches, with strong and high walls, and with Gates and Towers both forcible and fair.

[* Some compute the years about foure hundred and thirty.]

2 King. 25.
2 Chron. 36.
1 Es. 3. 5, 6.
2 Mac. 3.
Ios. 2. Bel. 17, & 10.
1 Mach. 4, 6, 13 chap.
Ios. 14. Ant. 8. & 7. Bel. 4. 9.

Wherein hee being besieged a long time with one hundred and twenty thousand Gentiles, could not be commanded.

But about one hundred years after this, when that famous Captain of the Romans, Pompey the Great fought against it, he won it with main force, and in the entring thereof he slew therein twelve thousand Jews; and Pompey himselfe with his Peers entring into the most holy place, and beholding the Temple, the Candlesticke, and other things there of shining gold, and finding also two thousand talents of the holy Treasure, this heathen Prince moved as it were with a certaine godlinesse, would not so much as touch any of them; them; but the next day after the siege commanded the keepers of the Temple to cleanse the same, and to celebrate their lawfull and solemne sacrifices. This selfe and same Temple being afterwards decayed, Herod the Ascalonit King of the Jewes, by the space of nine years and a halfe, repaired and beautified it, with sumptuous buildings.

Strabo. Geogra. l. 16. 1 Mach. 6.

And according to the Propheſie of the Prophet Haggai (even as the Church is preferred before a Synagogue, and the blood of the Goſpel is more precious then the gold of the Law) greater was the glory of the ſecond Temple, then was that of the firſt; becauſe Chriſt with his preſence, doctrine, and miracles, glorified this. For in this, when he was a childe he was offered. In this he ſate in the middeſt of the Doctors; In the pinnacle of this Temple he was tempted of the Devill, when he faſted forty dayes, and forty nights. In this likewiſe he preached oftentimes, and was vexed by the Jews. All which things, as they make much for the glory of the Temple, ſo they did nothing availe, but that the very ſame Temple, in the year from the Foundation thereof under Zorobabel five hundred eighty and ſix, * by the Army of Titus Ceſar, after a doubtfull and bloody battel, was won with great force and violence, and ſo great a ſlaughter of Jewes made about the altar for burnt offerings, that the blood of the ſlain ran like a River by the ſtairs of the Temple; and the Temple it ſelfe in the firſt brunt and fury of the battel was ſet on fire by a certaine ſouldier moved by divine motion, not attending to the command of any, even without the Emperours conſent: And by this burning, a worke of all that ever was ſeen or heard of the moſt wonderfull, and the ornament of the whole world, the tenth day of the Month of Auguſt, was conſumed into aſhes; to wit, even the very ſame day and month, whereon aforetime the Temple was burnt by the Babylonians.

Agg. 2,3,7,9. Luk. 2. Matth. 4. Johan. 7.8.ch. 10. &c.

*An. Dom. 72.

Joſ. 7. Bel, 9,10. 18.

Euſeb. in Chr. & 4. hiſt. Eccl.

Yet for all this after threeſcore and five years, the Jewes rebelling againe, and going about to reſtore the Temple in the ſame place where it was afore, Aelius Adrian the Emperour, ſlew of them in one day five hundred and fourſcore thouſand, and utterly raſed the reſt of the buildings of Jeruſalem, and levelled the mountaine Moria, whereon the Temple was builded, and made it even, caſting the rubbiſh and earth thereof into the vale Nicep. 3. hiſt. Eccl. 24.

Je-

Josaphat, and into the Brook Cedron, left the City, trusting to the defence of the Mountaine and Temple, should rise up and rebell any more against the Romans. Hee wasted also with fire and sword nine hundred and fourscore Villages. But the Emperour Julian the Apostata, after two hundred and seven and twenty years, to make the Oracle of Christ false, which he had prophesied concerning the Temple that there should not be left one stone upon another, gave unto the Jewes money out of the common Treasury, and commanded them to build anew the Temple, and to sacrifice there according to the Law of Moses.

Ruffin. in Eus. hist. Eccl. l. 10. c. 37, 38, 39. Theod. 3 hist. Eccl. 17. Zozo. 5. hist. Eccl. 21. Nicoph. 10. hist. Eccl. 32, 33.

The Jewes glad of this, came from all parts of the world to Jerusalem, and threatning grievous things against the Christians, they prepared and got unto them skilfull work-men, stones, timber, morter, and all other things necessary for the building; also they caused to be made silver mattocks, spades, and baskets, and throughly purged the place where the Temple stood, with such speed and willingnesse, that their women also bestowed all their ouches, taches, bruches, and other Jewels for the building, and carried out from that place all the rubbish in their laps. And when the Foundations were opened and cleansed, the day following they should have begun their Foundation, but the same night there came such an exceeding and vehement tempest, that it carried away and scattered abroad their stone, timber, and morter, with other their necessaries. Over, and besides this, a great Earthquake shook all the stones of the old foundations of the Temple, and dispersed them, disordered the houses next adjoyning to the Temple by a down-fall, and killed many Jews.

And when they which remained, in the morning enterprised again to build, a fire falling from heaven, a flame also breaking forth from the foundations of the Temple, destroyed more Jewes then before, which either were busie about the work, or which came thither to see and look on; and all that day burnt, and consumed into ashes, their Mauls, Hammers, Axes, Spades, and all other working Tools, that nothing was left. The Jews being yet obstinately bent, the next night following, a bright signe of the crosse appeared in heaven, and the garments of all the Jews were marked as it were from heaven with figures of the crosse, and repleniſhed therewith as the Firmament with stars, which when the day appeared, they seeking to put out, could not by any manner of means do it. And thus being astonished and confounded, they left off both their vaine enterprise, and also the place. So that by their wicked endeavour, the divine Oracle was not onely not made frustrate, but also more fulfilled and confirmed.

The Jewes being in this sort beaten from their enterprise, the Christians nevertheless were not afraid to build in the same place; for they erected a Temple there in a round form, made of great hewne, and polished stones, covered with a leaden roof, very large, high, and beautifull to behold. The which in processe of time, was honoured with the Patriarchal seat, and became famous by reason of the true and pure worship of God which was therein maintained. At the length being invaded by the Saracens, it was contaminated four hundred threescore and three yeares, with the filthy worship of Mahomet.

Vvilh. Tyren. lib. 8. Hist. Bel. sacri c. 20 & lib 9 c. 9. Broc. iii. 6. Brcil. 14 Iul.

Finally, in the year of Christ 1099. the very same Temple, though it was fortified with a wall, with Towers, and strong gates by the Christians, yet was it violently won by Godfrey of Boloigne, a valiant man, who killed within the circuit of the Temple ten thousand Saracens, in such wise that the upper face of the earth was covered with the blood of the slaine. In the which place the said Godfrey erected a Colledge of divine service, giving continuall maintenance to the same, furnishing it with necessary habitations, which so continued by the space of fourscore and eight yeers. The which expired, the same was possessed again by the Saracens, through the pernicious discord of Christian Princes; who in the top thereof (according to their manner) set up the figure of the Half-moon; and in the Courts thereof they planted Figs, and olive Trees. The same being now possessed of the Turkes, is defiled with the detestable worship of Mahomet. And all Christians are commanded by an Edict, not to enter thereinto upon pain of death. For if any Christian be known to have entred therein, he is by and by either compelled solemnly to deny the faith of Christ, or else publickly to lose his head.

The

The first Part of the Temple.

75.

THe Holy of Holies [called the Holy place, and the most Holy] which is so called, because of the singular holinesse of that place. It is also named the Oracle, and the inner house. For it was the secretest part of the Temple, [whereinto the high Priest came onely once a year] it being twenty cubits long, and as many in breadth; the height whereof was twenty cubits, [not a hundred and twenty cubits.] Whose floor was laid over with firre boards, covered with plate of Gold, and paved with Marble [as some write] The gates were made of polished stones inwardly framed with bords of Cedar, and covered with golden plates; the which being fastened with nails of gold, shined most gloriously, as if it had been a divine worke; whereon were graven Cherubins, precious stones, palmes, flowers, imbossements, and pictures of divers sorts, representing the celestiall beauty. The roof also was covered with golden plate, the very top whereof was set full of golden prickets, or sharp spits to fray away birds, lest by sitting thereon, it might be polluted. Into this sacred Holy of Holiest, the chiefe Priest for the divine Majesty thereof, entred but once every year alone in the feast of purgation; on which day the Jewes did fast and afflict themselves. And then that great and chiefe Priest of God, prefiguring the person of Christ, offered the blood of a calfe burnt without the hoast, for his own sinnes, and for the sinnes of the people. Who if he were legally polluted, but so much as in sleep, entred not in his owne person, but by his substitute.

Exod. 26. 23. Lev. 16. 2. 17. 27. Heb. 9. 2. 3. 7. 1 King. 6. 19. 20. 2 Chro. 4. 20. & 5 7. 1 King. 6. 30. Ios. 6. Bel. 6. 1 Chro. 29. 2 Heb. 9. 3. 7. 13. Lev. 16. 3. Deut. 23. 10.

The Parts of the most holy Place.

76.

THe Arke of the Covenant, the which by the commandement of God was made of Sethim [or Sittim] wood, which corrupteth not, by Moses in the desart covered within and without with plate of pure gold, being set in the middest of the Holy of Holiest, shining like the Sun with the glittering brightnesse of gold; whose surpassing beauty is rather to bee wondred at, then with words.

Exo. 25. 10. &c. 37. 1. & 40. 3. 20. Num. 17. Deut. 31. Ios. 3. Aut. 88.

words to be expreſſed. In this Arke the two Tables of ſtone, containing the ten Commandements written with the finger of God, were kept with a ſingular care and holineſſe. The Pot wherein was Manna, and Aarons flouriſhing Rod were put [before it, and not into it.] The Ark abode in this place about foure hundred and thirty years. It is written in the (Apocryphal) book of the Machabees, that in the time of the Captivity of Babylon, the Prophet Jeremy, by the Commandement of God, hid the ſame privily together with the Altar of Incenſe, and the perpetuall fire in a cave of the mount Nebo. But the Hebrews conjecture, that it was carried by Nebuchodonozer into Babylon, and that it never returned again; but another made by the Jews inſtead thereof, after the returne from the Captivity. Otherſome thinke that Nebuchadonozer carried away the ſame with five thouſand and four hundred veſſels of ſilver and gold which belonged to the Temple of Jeruſaleni, and put them into the Temple of Bel his god, but preſerved by Gods providence (as it was ſometime in Philiſtea) after threeſcore and ten years of the Captivity, they thinke (I ſay) it was reſtored again to the Jews at their return by Cyrus, together with the ſaid veſſels. But after the beſieging of Jeruſalem, Titus, and Veſpaſian, carrying out of the Temple to Rome (as ſome Relickmungers ſay*) the Arke of the Covenant, the two Tables of the Law, with both the rods of Moſes and Aaron; alſo the golden Table, and ſome of the ſhew-bread; the golden Candleſtick, and the four (or two Pillars) made theſe to be carried among other ſpoyls, by the Jews themſelves, round about the City in an open triumph, wherein with great pompe they triumphed over that Nation: Simon Giora Captain of the ſeditious, and ſeven hundred Jews Captives (which were ſelected from among the reſt for youth and comelineſſe) going before the Triumpher halfe naked, with their hands bound. This triumph being ended, Veſpaſian laid up all the veſſels of Jeruſalem in the Temple of Peace at Rome, which he in moſt ſumptuous manner had builded; But the Law of the Jews, and the purple vailes of the moſt ſecret places, he commanded to be ſafely laid up in his Pallace.)

1 King 8 9. Deut. 16. 5. Exod. 25. 10. Ex. 16 34. Num. 17. 10. 2 Mach 5. 2.

[See 2 King. 25 9. and below here at*]

2 Chro. 36. Dan. 1. 3. Eſd. 1. Eſd. 1 Hier. in Joſt c. 3 Joſ. 10. ant. 13. 7 Bel. 24. Sur. 01 in vit. Veſpaſi. Rodolph. Langius de urbis Hieroſol. Templique origine, & excidio l. 2 c 15.

* See Number 84. at the end.

2 King. 25. 9. 2 Chron. 36. 19 2 Chro 3. 15. Jer. 5. 21.

The

77.

The two Cherubims of glory, the which as it appeareth by the Hebrew text of Paralipomenon, are like unto young boyes, made of the wood of the olive-tree, ten cubits high, and covered with plates of gold, and shining with Angelical brightnesse, stood at each end of the Arke with their wings spread, covering the propitiatory [or Mercy-seat.] [and not with the other couple touching the gate on both sides] whose faces were directed toward the Mercy-seat, and looking one towards the other, they beheld both themselves, and also the propitiatory.

Exo.25.18.20. & 37.9. 1 King.6.23. 28.& 8.7. Heb.9.4,5. Josep.Ant.3.

78.

The Propitiatory (or Mercy-seat) otherwise also called the Oracle, the which being above the Arke, between the wings of the two Cherubims, and shining with most pure gold in brightnesse above the Sun, representing the divine Majesty, was as it were the seat of God speaking; from whence he gave Oracles and answers [to the High Priest; so doth Christ Jesus our great High Priest from God the Father, *Joh.*12.50. Matth. 17.5.]

See Proofs at 77. next before

The second part of the Temple.

79.

THe holy place called the Sanctuary, the outward house of the Lord, and the Priests Court. This is the other part of the Temple, forty Cubits long, and twenty broad, in height one hundred and twenty Cubits. The doors hereof were of gold. The floor, made of firre boards, was covered with plate of gold. The gates were made of polished stones, and being within lined with boards of Cedar, were covered outwardly with plates of gold; whereon was graved Cherubims, precious stones, palmes, flowers, and sundry carved works, and pictures, which wonderfully delighted men to behold. Above it was covered with a fair roof, shining as if it had been fire.

Exod.25.8. Levit. 10.4. 1 King 6. 1 Chron.22.19 & 24.5. 2 Chro.3. Ezek.44.17. Luke 1. Heb.9. Jos.8.Ant.3. & 15.Ant. 14. & 6.Bel.6.& 7.Bel.10.

From the entrance hereinto, such as were not clean, were forbidden by the Law. Onely the Priests [and Levites] (which King David reckoned to the number of eight and thirty thousand, and distinguished the Priests by Lot into four and twenty orders) entred daily thereinto. All which being without ſpot, according to Davids Ordinance, weekly by turn from Sabbath to Sabbath, abſtaining (as elſewhere) from wine, and from all other ſtrong drinke, their privities covered with linnen breeches, outwardly cloathed and girded with a linnen garment, in due order, and with great reverence, they worſhipped God, they offered ſacrifices, and made their prayers. [Typing Jeſus Chriſt our High Prieſt, who cloaths his Saints (who are all Prieſts to God) with fine linnen, that is their Righteouſneſſe.] 80.

2 Chr.23.19. 1 Chr.23.3.5.

1 Chron. 24.1. ch. 25 31. chap. 27 1.4 Lev. 10 9. Ezek. 44.21. Exod. 28.42. Lev. 6.10. Rev. 3 18. Rev. 1.5,6. Rev. 9.9. Phil. 3.9.

Exo 30. 37. Levit 2. 1 Mac 4. Luk. 1.8,9,19.

The Altar of Incenſe of gold, which by Gods Commandement was placed over againſt the vaile hanging before the moſt holy place, (called the Holy of Holies) whereon the Prieſts, every day, morning and evening offered unto God, for a ſweet ſavour, Frankincenſe, and ſweet perfumes. The Angel Gabriel ſtanding ſometime at the right hand of this Altar, told unto Zachary, as he was offering Incenſe, the conception of John Baptiſt.

81.

Exo. 25. 26. 27. 37. Chapters. Levit. 24. Joſ. 3. An. 10. Exod. 26. 7. 14.

The Golden Candleſticke, the which having ſeven branches, and ſo many Candles, was placed on the South ſide of the Temple; the which being lamps of moſt pure oyle, burned continually, and gave light as well by day as by night, to all the holy place [which was covered with vails, and had no other light. This is no warrant for burning Candles, or Torches where no need is in the day time.]

82.

Ezek. 47. Joel 3. Ariſteas lib. 72 interpret. Corn. Tac. l. 21.

The Fountaine of water, which iſſued forth on the right ſide of the Temple, the water whereof Solomon derived into the ſea of braſſe, and into the Copper Laver; the which being carried from thence by Conduit pipes under the earth, breaking forth half a mile from the Eaſt ſide of the City, ran into the Brook Cedron, (or Kidron.)

83.

Exod. 25. 26. 37. Chap. Levit. 4. 2. Sam. 21. Mar. 2. Joſ. 3. Ant. 9.

The Golden Table, the which ſtood on the North ſide of the Temple, whereon were ſet twelve loaves made of the moſt pure and fine flower of Wheat. The which being ſtale, remained to the uſe of the Prieſts, and then new were ſupplied againe every bath day: upon the which were laid two golden Cups full of Frankincenſe.

Sab-

84.

The chiefe Prieſt his Image, and holy apparrel, every part whereof ſhew forth unto us a divine and heavenly magnificence. For when he went to offer ſacrifice, or to enter into the moſt holy place, he put on not onely the under garments, ſpoken of before under the number ſeventy nine, but alſo above upon them a Tunicle (or little coat) of Jacinth [ſleeves down to the Ankles was mans deviee] at the lower hem wherof there did hang threeſcore and two golden bels, and in another border as many Pomegranats. The Tunicle was girt with a girdle foure fingers broad, woven with ſilke, gold, precious ſtones, and flowers of ſundry colours. Aloft above this, he did wear an Ephod or Superhumeral, that is to ſay, a moſt fair cloake, made of gold, of Jacinth, of purple, ſcarlet, and fine ſilke moſt curiouſly woven together, dazeling of the eyes by reaſon of the variety and glittering brightneſſe of the colours and flowers. Upon each ſhoulder whereof there was a Beryl, or Onyx ſtone included in gold (which Joſephus called Sardonix) in either of which ſtones, ſix names of the children of Iſrael were graven.

Exod. 28, 39. chap. Lev. 8. 13

Exod. 28. 9, 10.

Beſide theſe, he had the Reaſonable (or Breaſt-plate) of Judgement, which he carried upon his breaſt, wherein was doctrine and truth. The [Breaſt-plate of Urim] was a ſquare thing about the breadth of a mans hand, woven and made of gold, Jacinth, purple, ſcarlet, and fine ſilke, whereto were faſtened twelve precious ſtones of divers ſorts, having ingraven in them the names of the twelve ſons of Iſrael according to the order of their nativity.

Verſ. 15.

Moreover, on his head he wore a long round Cap [in form of a Miter] made of Jacinth and fine ſilke; upon the front whereof was ſet a brooch of gold in forme of a halfe globe, which figured the ineffable name of God, Tetragrammaton, with theſe four Hebrew letters יהוה [קדש ליהוה that is, Holineſſe to the Lord] thereon ingraven, ſetting forth by the wonderfull brightneſſe thereof the excellency of the divine Majeſty. Alſo the golden Cenſer in his hand, by which he offered unto God the moſt fragrant odour of Frankincenſe, is a part of his ornaments.

Exod. 28. 36.

All which things as they are full of myſteries, ſo ſome of them excelled the reſt: For [ſome boldly ſay, that ſtone which the high Prieſt did bear on his right ſhoulder, ſo often as he had pleaſed God with ſacrifices, did ſo wonderfully ſhine, that they which ſtood a great way off might perceive it. And (which is no leſſe wonderfull) the twelve ſtones which were on the Breaſt-plate did foreſhew unto them which went to the war, victory.] [But this is more clear and profitable: Here was typed out, how our great High Prieſt, bears up all his Iſrael by his mighty power, and bears them all in his heart before the Lord, who ſeeing them there, hath bowels of compaſſion on them, and remembers them continually.]

Heb. 7. 25. 26. Heb. 2. 17. & 5 2. Jer. 31. 20. 32. Luke 15. 20. 21

Both the Reaſonable, and the Onyx alſo have ceaſed (one hundred and five years, ſay ſome, yea above five hundred years before the Nativity of Chriſt to give their wonted ſhine and brightneſſe. [Yea they were no more in uſe after the Babylonians burned the Temple.]

Jer 52. 13. Neh. 7. 65. Dan 9. 24. 25.

85.

The Vaile was woven of Jacinth, purple, ſcarlet, and fine ſilke, in moſt beautifull variety, and was adorned with Cherubims, and all manner of flowers imbroydered thereon, which hung at the gate before the moſt holy place, and at the death of Chriſt was rent from the top to the bottome, even in the midſt.

Exo. 26. 31. 33 & 36. 35. 2 Chron. 3. 14. Matth. 27. 51. Mar. 15. 38. Luke 23. 45.

The third Part of the Temple.

86.

The Jewes Ile, which alſo is called the Entry, the Hall, the Holy Secular, and Solomons Porch, being the third part of the Temple. Into the which men went up by foure ſteps, whoſe pavement checkered with marble of ſundry ſorts, was open to the aire, and uncovered, and was compaſſed about with a wall made with three degrees of ſtones of ſundry colours. To the which were annexed great Porches broad, and above threeſcore and ten cubits high, borne up with marble pillars of ſingle ſtones which were five and twenty cubits high, the roof covered with Cedar. The inſet gates covered with gold, ſhined moſt gloriouſly: And it had three high gates; whereof the firſt tended toward the 1 King. 6. 3. 2. Chron 3. 4. Ezek. 40. 7. 48. Heb. 9. 3. Joſeph. 8. Ant. 3. & 15. 14. & 6 Bel. & 7. Bel. 4. 16. & l. 2. cont. Appionem.

East.

East, the second toward the South, and the third toward the North; every one of the which gates were shut with two silver doors thirty cubits high, and fifteen broad; but the West part had no gate, but was inclosed with a whole wall. And this was called the Jews Isle or Hall because only the Jews being clean, and not polluted, prayed there, and heard the words of the Law. In the which place, Christ taught the people oftentimes, and where the Jewes would have stoned him; and Peter when he had healed the lame man spake unto the people, and converted five thousand men. Before this Hall inclosed with a lattice, there was a Table set, containing this Law ingraven with letters of Greek and Latine, Every stranger that shall enter into the holy place shall dye. And the Romans had given authority to the Jews to put to death as well Romans as Jews, which transgresse this Law.

Luke 1.8,9. Joh.10. Act 3,4,5. Ios.15. Ant.14. & 2 Bel.Iud. 16.& 6.Bel.6. & 7.Bel.4.

The parts of the Jews Ile.

87.

THe Altar of burnt offering of brasse which stood in the midst of the Ile open to the aire and uncovered, wherein that perpetual fire was daily maintained by the putting to of wood, which fire in old time the Lord sent down from heaven, when Aaron at the first time offered sacrifice in the Desart. On the which Altar, the Priests every day morning and evening, burnt sundry sort of Male-beasts, &c. which were clean, and without blemish, as Sheep, Oxen, and Goats, Turtles, Pigeons, and such like; which were consumed with this holy and perpetuall fire, for a burnt-offering and odor of sweet savor unto the Lord. But (Apocrypha fabulously saith) how in the time of the Captivity of Babylon, this perpetual fire was hidden by the Priests in a dry Pit or Well, and being sought for by Nehemiah the Priest threescore and ten years after the same, there could be no fire found in that place, but a certaine thick water, which by divine power at the prayer of Nehemiah was set on fire. [So saith Apocripha, in holy Scripture is no word of this; but Nehemia is called Tirshata, or Governour, and Ezra the Priest.]

Ex.27.1.8.38. 1. 2 Chron.4.1 Lev.1.1.15. & 6.9.& 9,7.8. Ex.40.10.

1 Mac.1.18.38

Neh.8.8.9. Neh 12.26.

88.

1 King.7.21. 2 Chron.3.15. Boaz and Jachin (signifying strength, and establishing) two pillars of brasse of wonderfull beauty, two and thirty cubits high, whose circumference or circuit comprehended twelve cubits, which Solomon caused to bee made artificially, and placed them in the porch of the Temple, one at the right hand, which hee named Jachin, and the other at the left hand, which he called Boaz.

89.

1 King.7.23. 2 Chron.4.2. Ios.8.Ant.3. The Laver of brasse, a vessell of great capacity, full of water, placed by Solomon on the North side of the Temple, whereon were carved the pictures of Cherubims, Lions, and Oxen. In this the Priests washed the beasts which should serve for burnt offerings, which nevertheless were first washed in the Sheep-pool, called Probatica.

90.

Mat.26.3.27.1 Luke 22.66. The house of Councel, at the South side of the Temple, where was the assembly of the Elders of the people.

91.

1 King 6.5.10. 1 Chro.9.26. Jer.35.2. Ezek.42.13. 1 Mac.4. Ios.5. Bel.9. & 6.Bel.6. The Closets, or Treasuries, were side houses, long, broad, and high, like towers; In the which, the Priests when they should enter into the holy place, did put off their wollen garments, laying them up till their service was ended; wherein also they did eat the parts of the peace-offerings.

92.

Exo.30.18. & 38.8. 1 King.7.23. 2 Chron.4.2. The Sea of brasse, containing very great store of water, which Solomon made, and placed on the South side of the Temple upon twelve Oxen of brasse, wherein the Priests entring into the Temple to serve at the Altar, washed their hands and their feet.

93.

Jer.26.20. & 36.10. The new Gate, which was in the Ile of the Temple toward the South, where Jeremy fore-shewing that the City and Temple should be destroyed, was taken. And where Baruch read before the people the Propheste of Jeremiah.

94.

1 Esd.9.38. The holy Gate, otherwise called the brazen Gate, which being in the In-set part of the Temple, opened toward the East; before the which Esdras read the Law of God before the people;

and

and where the Rulers of the Jews, a long time after that, exhorted the seditious unto peace.

95.

The Porch of the Temple, builded by Solomon, before the Sanctuary, the which was twenty cubits long, and ten broad. 1 King 6.3. & 7.6. 2 Chr. 3.4.

96.

The Kings Seat which was very lofty, which Solomon prepared for the Kings. 2 Chron. 9.17. Hier. in 2 Chro. 3.

97.

The Loft (or Chambers) of the Singers [where divine prayses were sung with voice and with divers Instruments. So some say, but no word of this in Ezek. 40. which points at a time not past, and legal, but to come, and Evangelical.] Ezek. 40 44.

98.

The place of Zacharias, where he was stoned between the Temple, and the Altar. 2 Chron. 24. 20. Mat. 23. 35.

99.

The place where the Jews would have stoned Christ. Joh. 10. 31.

The fourth part of the Temple.

100.

THe Ile which belonged to the Gentiles, being also called the out-set Court, which is the fourth part of the Temple, into the which men ascended by many staires, whose in-set space open to the aire paved with all manner of beautifull stones, had foure excellent gates, opening towards the foure parts of the world, which were shut with doors of brasse. This being a square porch much like a Cloyster, upholden with pillars of Marble, and seeled over with Cedar, was thirty cubits broad. The whole circuit and compasse of which porch, was five hundred paces. Into this Court or porch all sorts of Jews and Gentiles might enter, both clean and unclean; whereupon it was called the Court of the Gentiles. [Here hence it was that Christ did cast out twice the buyers and sellers, and suffered not any man to carry so much as a vessell through the same. So say some, but we finde it was the Temple it selfe, Joh. 2. 16. Mat. 21. 12. Luke 19. 45. Mark. 11. 7. See Number 110.] Here hee discharged the [Ezek. 40. See Number 97.] Jos. 15. Ant. 14. & 6. Bello 6. &c. 7. Bel. 10. & lib. 2. contra Apionem. Ezek. 10. 5. 2 King. 21. 5. Joh. 10. 31.

woman

woman taken in adultery. Here he taught oftentimes. Here alſo the Jews would have ſtoned him. Finally here it was that he was glorified before the Gentiles with a voice from heaven.

The parts of the Court of the Gentiles.

101.

Ioſ.17. Antiq.8. & 12.chap. Alſo 1 Belli Iud. 21. & 2 Bel. 1.

THe Golden Eagle was of great weight ſet up by Herod the greater, over the greateſt gate of the Temple; and was at the laſt pulled downe by the Jewes, and cut in peeces, whereupon aroſe a great tumult, and many were ſlain.

102.

Mar.7.7. Mat.27.6. 2 King.12.9.

The Treaſury of the Temple, in Hebrew called Corban, a cheſt wherein was offered, and kept ſuch money, as ſerved for the neceſſaries of the ſacrifices for the ſuſtentation of the poor, and for the repairing of the Temple. When Helidore, who was ſent by the King of the Syrians, ſought to take the ſpoyl of this treaſury [it is ſaid] he was ſcourged by Angels from heaven: And when Pilate by the like temerity would have beſtowed this holy treaſure for the bringing in of waters; he was let and hindred by a general uproar of the people, the which nevertheleſſe the Romans, when they had won the City, took, and carried away. Alſo we read [in 2 Maccab.] that Lyſimachus was ſlain near unto this place: Here it was that Chriſt taught himſelfe to be the light of the world, and ſaid that he ſhould be lifted up upon the Croſſe by the Jewes (or the Romans rather.) Chriſt ſitting here, pronounced that the poore widow, offering two mites, had given more then all the rich. Over this treaſury, for a monument of his adverſe fortune turned into proſperity, King Agrippa hanged up that golden chaine, which the Emperour Cajus gave unto him, being equall in weight to that iron chaine with which his hands were bound by the command of the Emperour Tiberius.

2 Chron.24. 2 Mac.3. Ioſ.18.Ant.5. Ioſ.17. Bel.11. 2 Mac.4. Joan.8. Mar.12 Luke 21. Ioſ.18.Ant.13. & 19. Mat.20.19. Mar.10.33. Lu. 18.32. Mar.12.41.

103.

2 King. 20.11. Iſa.38.8.

Achas (or Ahaz his) Dial, the King, which he made, wherein the King Ezekias being ſicke, for a ſigne of recovering his health, the ſhadow of the Sun, by divine miracle, went backwards ten degrees.

The 104.

The North Gate, whereof mention is oftentimes made in the Scripture, and in Josephus. 1 Chro. 26. [Ezek. 40. 23]

105.

The South Gate mentioned oftentimes in Scripture, and in Josephus. 1 Chro. 26. 13.

106.

The West Gate, the which also in the book of Chronicles is called the gate of foundation. [*Qu. If meant of the gate of the fountain, Neh. 3. 15.] 1 Chro. 26. 13 1 Chro. 23.

107.

The East Gate, which also is called the gate Sur, otherwise Seir; also the Kings gate, and the Beautiful gate, because of all the rest it was the greatest, highest and fairest, by which also there was the principall entrance into the Temple. This being decayed was repaired by King Joatham. And neer unto this gate the Apostle Peter with his word (in the name of Jesus Christ) healed the man which was lame from his mother womb, and sate there begging of alms. 1 Chron 9. 26. Nehem. 3. 2 King. 11. 15. chap. 2 Chron. 27. Acts 3. 1, 2.

108.

The Towers of Trumpeters, which were erected aloft in the west corners of the Temple. In the tops whereof, the Priests, wanting the use of bells, with two silver Trumpets, called the people unto the Temple. From thence also they told the people of Festival dayes, of Sabbaths, of Fasts, and of solemne Feasts. Num. 10. Jos. 5. Bel. 9. Num. 28.

109.

Here Christ writing with his finger on the ground made the accusers of the women taken in adultery ashamed, and set her free. John 8. 2, 3.

110.

Here Christ making a whip of cords, cast out the buyers and sellers, together with their Merchandise. [See Number 100] Joh. 2. 16. Mat. 21. 12. Mar. 11. 17.

Thus far we have ſpoken of the Temple, and of the parts thereof, and now we will proſecute the other parts of the Daughter of Sion.

111.

Joſ. 15. & Ant. 9. & 20. Ant. 15

The Theater which was builded in form of a halfe circle, by Herod the Aſcalonite King of the Jews, near unto the Pallace of the Macchabees. In the circuit whereof in Imagery was ſet forth the Titles, the Victories, and Spoyls of Auguſtus Cæſar, ſhining with ſilver and gold; where the better, and more worthy ſort ſitting upon ſtairs and ſeats made round in compaſſe, and the reſt ſtanding therein, behold the players, and actors, and Muſitians playing their Comedies and Tragedies, and other Playes.

The Places of the Daughter of Sion.

112.

1 King. 10. 2 Chron 9. 17. Joſ. 8. Ant. 5.

The Throne of Solomon. It was a very great Throne of Ivory, covered over with ſhining gold, cloſe and round in the top like a Judgement ſeat, having ſix ſteps or ſtairs, at each end whereof were twelve Lions ſet. In this Throne King Solomon ſate, when he heard the controverſies of the people, and pronounced Judgement, and capital ſentences, appointing Laws and Statutes. Herein alſo he ſate, when in royall manner he would ſhew forth his pompe, glory, and riches, and when he intended to beſtow upon his faithfull ſervants rewards.

Lyra in 3. King 7.

113.

2 Chron 9.

The Paſſage which King Solomon made of ſtrong timber, to go from his Pallace into the Temple.

114.

John 19. 13. Mat. 27. 19. Mar. 15.

The Tribunal, was a publicke place, ſet before the houſe of Pilate, and appointed for Judgement, where the Lieutenants of Rome were wont to give ſentence, which in Greek was called LITHOSTROTOS, that is, a place of pavement, and in Hebrew GABATHA, becauſe it was high and lofty. Pilate ſitting in this judgement ſeat, and having good will to free Jeſus ſtanding before him, took water and waſhed his hands before the people, ſaysaying, I am innocent from the blood of this just man: But all the people crying out, Crucifie him, Crucifie him; his blood be on us, and on our children: And further laying treason to his charge in that he made himselfe a King, he condemned Christ to the death of the Crosse in this forme of words: wee may finde them in a certaine Author, from whence we faithfully report them.

Jesum Nazarenum subversorem Gentis, contemptorem Cæsaris, & falsum Messiam, ut majorum suorum testimonio probatum est, ducite ad communis supplicii locum; & cum ludibrio Regiæ Majestatis, in medio duorum latronum cruci affigite. I lictor, expedi cruces; that is to say, Carry ye to the place of common execution Jesus of Nazareth, a subverter of his Nation, a contemner of Cæsar, and * a false Messias, as is proved by the testimony of the Elders of his own people, and crucifie him between two theeves in reproach and scorne of his Kingly Majesty; Go Hangman, and make ready with speed the crosses. The which sentence being pronounced, he delivered him to the Souldiers to be crucified: Who brought forth Jesus, deprived of all beauty and comelinesse, and more like a Leaper, then to himselfe, by reason of the paines which they had laid on him; but that he might be known unto the people, they put on him again his own garments, and carrying his crosse, with two theeves through the Gate of Judgement, to bee crucified in Mount Calvary.

Salig. Tom. 8. cap. 7.

[* This seems to crosse that in Joh. 19. 19, 20, 22.]

Isa. 53, 2, 3.

Pilate sitting in this Tribunal seat in time of an Insurrection for bestowing the holy treasures of the Temple, which were called Corban, gave a secret signe to the Souldiers which were privily armed under their cloaths, that they should not use swords, but clubs, to beat down the tumultuous Jews; By which means many of them were slaine, many sore wounded, and very many trodden under foot, even to death, by their owne company in the tumult.

Fos. 18. Ant. 5. & 2 Bel. 8. Eusеb. 2. Hist. Bel. 6. Niceph. 2 Hist. Ec. 10.

After this Florus the Lieutenant sitting in the same judgement seat, caused many of the Noblemen, and Gentlemen of the Jewes, to be beaten and torn with rods and whips and to be fastened on crosses, who also caused many other massacres about the City, nothing sparing neither women, children, nor sucking babes.

Fos. 2. Bel. 14. 15

The which were certain beginnings of vengeance taken by Almighty God upon the obstinate Jews for the shedding of the innocent blood of Christ.

115.

*Ios.*13. *Ant.*18. *Bel.*3. The Tower of Strato, in Greek called Pyrgus Stratonis, scituate between the Castle Antonia and the Temple, it was a hollow and an obscure passage where Antigonus was slain by the souldiers of his brother.

116.

2 King.23.4.6. 12. *Sopho.*1. *Ios.*14. *Ant.*8 & 15. *Ant.*14. Item 1. Bel 5. & 6. *Bel.*6, 7, & 8. *Ios.*20. *Ant.*16. *Eus.*2. Hist. Ec. 23. The Valley of Cedron, [or Kidron] broad, deep, and darke, which in manner of a ditch or trench compassed the Temple round about. And because it was disposed after the fashion of a Morter, it was called in Hebrew Masthes, and in Latine Pila. This was so exceeding deep, that men could not look down from the roof of the Temple into the bottome thereof, but their eyes would dazle, and their heads seem to turn with giddinesse. Herein Merchants, and all sorts of Chapmen dwelled. Into this Valley James the brother of the Lord, first Bishop of Jerusalem (say Roman Writers) for professing Jesus the Son of God on the feast of Passeover, was cast down headlong from the battlements of the Temple at the command of Anani a Saduce, chief Priest, and was immediately knocked on the head with a Fullers club, and was there buried near unto the Temple; his Monument remaining there a long time after. (as some write.)

117.

The Wall of the Crosse [as some note it] by which Christ having received his judgement to be crucified, went forward with painfull and bloody steps to mount Calvary.

D. Petrus Potens, & M. Matthæus Stenberch did measure the City of Jerusalem long since, by whose report this Description is made [many hundred years after.]

*Sect.*2. For [thus some* Romanists write of it] beginning at the Pallace of Pilate, he made six and twenty steps (which make threescore and five foot) unto the place where the crosse was laid upon him.

*Sect.*3. From whence (all the City gazing on him) carrying his crosse on his sore shoulders, he came towards the West, or rather North-west fourscore steps, which make two hundred foot, to the place, where men say, that he fell downe under his Crosse.

*Sect.*4. From thence going forward by threescore steps, and three three foot (which make a hundred fifty, and three foot) he came to the place where (they say) the blessed Virgin Mary, with John the Apostle, met with him. And proceeding from hence by threescore and eleven steps, and one foot, and a half (which make a hundred seventy and nine foot) he came to a certain crosse-way, where Simon of Cyren was compelled to bear the hinder part of the Crosse with Christ. [Is not this a notable proof with Scripture for saying on beads Latin prayers at crosse-wayes.] Also Petrus Calentinus in his book entituled, The way of the Crosse. See Number 123.

Sect. 5. Taking his way hence by one hundred ninety, and one step, and halfe a foot (which cometh to four hundred and seventy foot) [How punctually did some thus measure the feet some hundred years after] he came to the place where [they write Veronica] met with him. And from thence going three hundred thirty six steps, and two feet (which amount to eight hundred forty and two feet) he came to the Judiciary gate, where once again he fell with his Crosse.

Sect. 6. From thence he ascending faintly a very hard and stony way towards the North, he gained three hundred forty and eight steps, and two foot (the summe eight hundred seventy and two foot) which brought him unto a two-fold way, where certaine women weeping spake unto him: And from hence labouring forward threescore steps and one, and halfe a foot (which make foure hundred and foure foot) he fell downe the last time, at the foot of the Mount Calvary. From thence he wearily, and faintingly went forward eighteen steps, or forty five foot to the place where the Hangmen drew off his cloaths, where they gave him to drink wine mixed with mirrh and gall.

Sect. 7. Then he went on twelve steps, or thirty foot, even to the place where he was nayled on the Crosse on mount Calvary. So that from the Pallace of Pilate, unto the place where Iesus was crucified, the distance is a thousand three hundred and seven steps, or by another account, three thousand two hundred sixty and eight foot.

We have made such exact description (saith the P. P. Author,) and demonstration of the Way of the Crosse, (as also the Way of the Captivity hereafter expressed under the Number of two hundred and five) to the end that every Christian man, in all places, even even in the doors of his house, or walking oftentimes in his Garden, or being in a journey, or in the Temple, either lying in his bed, may by the imagination of his minde conceive the like way, and with godly affection of the heart may meditate upon the passion of Christ; the which no doubt, is both acceptable unto God, and for our own souls health most profitable, as the writings of good men by their often exhortation do testifie. [But a far better helpe is appointed and afforded of God, even the holy Scriptures themselves, that doe best and most affectingly set forth Christs Passion, as *Isa.*53.1,2. *Mat.*26. 20. to the end of *Mat.*27. *Mar.*14. *Joh.*18.& 19.]

118.

Neh.3.28. 2 King. 11.19. 2 Chron 23. Jos.9.Ant 7.

The way of entrance for the Horses, which was between the Pallaces of Solomon, and of the Queen. By which Athalia the Queen being brought out of the horse-gate, was slaine in the valley of the brook Cedron (or Kidron.) 119.

Joan.19. Breid.14.Jul. Salig.8.cap.7. Ios.2. Belli Iud. 6.& 5.*Bel.*9.

The Gallery, made in form of a stone bridge, with many arches, extending it selfe with ample largenesse over the common street, adorned with open walks upon the same. From the which there was a passage from the Pallace of Pilate into the Castle of Antonia, and so from thence into the Temple. From this place, being very fast, the Lieutenants of Rome were wont to speak unto the people; whereon Pilate standing, exhibited Jesus to the Princes and people of the Jews, to be looked on, being very sore scourged, spit on, cloathed with a purple cloak, and wearing a sharp crown of thorns upon his head, saying unto them, Behold the man, that he being thus afflicted, they might have compassion on him: But they with confused voyces cryed, Crucifie him, Crucifie him. Whereas yet an arch of stone is to be seen, and is shewed unto strangers (written by Relick-moungers some hundred years after) with this Inscription, Tolle, Tolle, crucifig— the rest cannot be read by reason Antiquity hath worn it out. From this Gallery King Agrippa pronounced an eloquent Oration to pacifie the seditious people exhorting them to obey the Romans. Josephus maketh mention many times of this Gallery.

120.

Pasch. Descrip. Ieruſ.207.

The Crosse of Christ, which was laid on his shoulder, was fifteen foot foot long, and eight foot over, as we have received by Tradition of the Elders.

121.

Here it is said that Christ fell the first time under his Crosse. Pasch. d. 207.

122.

Here also by Tradition of some Fathers, it is said, that the blessed Virgin Mary with John, and certaine godly women stood, as Christ passed by with his Crosse. Breid. 14. Iul.

123.

Christ being come to these two wayes (of which in Number 127. Sect. 4.) and being wearied with the heavy burden of his Crosse, is said to have fallen. For the which cause, the souldiers and Jews, fearing that he would faint before he could be crucified, took a certain man coming out of the Country, named, Simon of Cyren, and compelled him to carry the Crosse after Jesus; (or to helpe him to carry it.) Mat. 27. 32. Mar. 15. 21. Luke 23. 26. Breid. 14. tul. Sa. 1. 8. c. 7. Pas. d. 208.

The third Part of the City.

124.

The second City, this is, the third part of the City, the which also had many narrow wayes whereof mention is made sometime in the Scripture; wherein, among others, many Prophets and Noble-men dwelt. This when the Romans had gotten, they were by the seditious again driven out of the City. [The name of it in Hebrew is Jerushalajim of the dual number, implying, (it seems) two Cities, the higher above the lower, to which the Apostle seems to allude, Gal. 4. 25, 26.] 2 King. 22. 2 Chron. 34. 8. Sopho. 1. Hier. in 2. Chron. 34. 8. Ios. 6. Bel. 10. See page 2.

The places of the second City.

125.

The Lake Amigdalon, neer unto which Titus erected a Bulwarke. Ios. 6. Bel. 12.

126.

The house of Mary, the Mother of John, and of Marke, one of the seventy, and two Disciples of Christ, wherein the faithfull of the Primitive Church were wont to assemble themselves, and to pray. Where also after the Martyrdome of James the Acts 12. 12. 4.

Apostle,

Apoſtle, when Peter was caſt into priſon by Herod Agrippa,
Sal. Tom. 8. c. 4. they prayed without ceaſing for his deliverance: Who at the laſt being brought out of priſon by the Angel, and knocking at the door of this houſe, was by a Damſel brought into the ſame. In the which place afterward a Church-houſe was builded, which was the firſt of the Chriſtian Greeks. And is an Epiſcopall Seat, which the Syrians hold unto this day; [ſaid the Author.]

127.

2 King. 22. 14. 2 Chro. 34. 22. The houſe of Olda [or Hulda the Propheteſſe, [not a Nun, but] the wife of Sellum [a famous Noble-man, the great Uncle (ſay ſome) of the Prophet Jeremy] whoſe counſell being asked by the King Joſias, ſhe foretold him of the deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

128.

Ioſ. 2. Bel. Iud. 18. & 6. Bel. 6. A Conduit, and Fountaine, which by Pipes ſent forth water aloft, and by the like Pipes derived water into Herods Pallace, and about the ſame, filling the Ciſterns thereof.

129.

Ioſ. 2. Bel. 24. The Wood market, which Ceſtius ſet on fire.

130.

Jer. 35. 2, 3. The habitation of the Rechabites; (ſay ſome) who living Religiouſly according to the Commandement of their Father, poſſeſſed neither fields nor vineyards; and like pilgrims of this world, dwelt not in houſes, but in tents, and wholly abſtained from wine. Wherefore when through the neceſſity of war they were compelled to come into the City, Jeremy [not drinking wine unto them, but] by the Commandement of God, bidding them drink wine, they would drink no wine. By which example of their obedience, the ſame Prophet reprehended the diſobedience of the obſtinate Jews, neglecting the Commandement of God, and therefore he did ſet before the one a puniſhment, and before the other a reward.

131.

Iſa. 22. 11. A Lake (or a Ditch) which was ſcituate between two walls of the City, whereof mention is made in Iſaiah the Prophet.

132.

Ioſ. 6. Bel. 9. The middle Tower, which was in the middle wall.

A

133.

A Monument of Alexander Jannæus the high Prieſt and King, wherein he was buried by the authority of the Phariſees, very ſumptuouſly. Ioſ. 13 Ant 21. & 6 Bel.

134.

A Monument of Johannes Hircanus, high Prieſt and Captaine, of whom mention is often made in Joſephus. Ioſ. 6. Bel. 7.

135.

The ſecond Wall, the which is alſo called the Middle-wall, beautified with many gates, and divided with fourteen Towers; the which wall Hezekias the King repaired, and made more ſtrong and higher. 2 Chron 32. Neh. 3. 8 & 12 Ioſ. 6. Bel. 6.

136.

The Pallace of Herod, which was builded by Herod the Aſcalonite King of the Jews (who killed the Innocents) with ſundry ſorts of polliſhed marble ſtones near unto the Weſt-wall of the City, from the old wall, even to the middle wall, being moſt ſingularly beautified with ſilver and gold, moſt ſtrongly fortified with an iron gate, and three moſt excellent Towers, to wit, Hippic, Mariam, and Phaſel, which in greatneſſe, ſtrength, and beauty, excelled all the Towers of the whole world. Within was the Kings Hall, which being builded on high, and very lofty with unſpeakable magnificence, was wholly compaſſed about with moſt beautifull Towers, Parlors, Chambers, Galleries, Porches, and with Pillars, with which there was an incloſed Court, open to the aire. Mat. 2. Ioſ. 6 Bel. 6. Ioſ. 2 Bel. 17. Ioſ. 6. Bel. 6.

In this Hall Chriſt was preſented to Herod Antipas, Tetrarch of Galilee (who had killed John the Baptiſt;) This Herod asked Chriſt many queſtions, who was there conſtantly accuſed by the Jewes; whom when he anſwered nothing, the ſame Herod, and his whole rout, deſpiſed, and ſcorned, and ſo ſent him to Pilate clad in white, and in ſcarlet, as if he had been a fool, or a Kingly Jeſter [No wonder therefore if Chriſts members be ſcornfully uſed. Then they ſhould look unto Jeſus, and follow his ſteps, 1 Pet. 2. 21, 22. Heb. 12. 2.] Now that Hall, or Pallace, is a School for children of the Infidels. Luke 23. 8. Mar. 14. 1. Verſ 10. Luke 23. 9, 10. Verſ. 11. Mat. 27. 28. Breid. 14. Ind.

137.

Jer.39.3.& 52. The Middle Gate of the ſecond wall wherein the outward-moſt walls being broken, the Princes of the King of Babylon did ſit.

138.

Joſ.2.Bel.1.7. The outwardmoſt Court, compaſſing the Hall of Herod round about, where the Kings ſouldiers did watch and ward; Wherein was the Kings priſon whereinto malefactors were put. In this priſon Saint Peter was ſhut up by King Herod Agrippa, who had ſlaine James the greater. Which Peter being bound Act.12.1,2. with two chaines, and moſt ſafely kept by four quaternions of ſouldiers all the daies of ſweet, (or unleavened) bread: But in the night before the day whereon he ſhould have been put to death, he was by the Angel of the Lord looſed from his chaines, and by him brought forth through an iron gate, by the firſt and ſecond watch into the City. (As in *Act.*12.)

139.

Joſ.6.Bel.Jud. 12. The Lake called Strutium, which was the middle Lake. Here alſo Titus cauſed a Bulwark to be made.

140.

Joſ.6.Bel.5,6,7. The Tower Hippic, which being four ſquare, was builded in the ſecond wall upon a high hill. It was fourſcore and five cubits high; and having two tops, was to be ſeene afarre off. It was marvelous ſtrong, builded by Herod the elder, who having in the war loſt his friends the Hippicks, called this Tower after their name, Hippic.

141.

Joſ.15. Ant. 9. & Bel.16.& 6 Bel.6. The Tower Mariamne, which being fifty cubits high, ſtood aloft in moſt beautiful manner, upon a high hill of the old wall, which Herod builded for a memorial of Mariamne his beſt beloved wife, whom hee had ſlaine, and called it after her name Mariamne. And becauſe it carried the name of a Queen, therefore it was more beautifull in ſhew then the other.

142.

Joſ.14. Ant.22. & 16. Ant.5. The Tower Phaſelus, which being fourſcore and ten cubits high, ſet upon a high place of the old wall, and made aloft in form of a ball, was of wonderfull height and exceeding ſtrong; Which Herod builded after the faſhion of the Tower Pharus in Alexandria, andria. And in the honour of his brother Phaſelus called it Phaſelus, who being taken priſoner by the Parthians, and having no liberty to uſe neither weapon nor hands, ran his head againſt a ſtone, and ſo killed himſelfe. How this, and the other two Towers were left ſtanding after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, read under the number of (1) going before. Ioſ.17. Ant.14. & 1.Bel.11.& 6 Bel.6.& 7. Bel. 18.

143.

Herods Parke, which had in it an Orchard and a Garden, watred with Ponds, Rivers, and Fountains, repleniſhed with ſundry wild beaſts, Fiſhes and Fouls, having many large Walks, and round about the ſame, many towers of tame Doves. Ioſ.6.Bel.6.

144.

The Hoſpital, which Hircanus the high Prieſt founded with the money which he got out of the Sepulchre of David, wherein pilgrims, poor men, and ſuch as were impotent, were ſuſtained and kept. Ioſ.13.Ant.15. Egeſi.1.Hiſt. Jud.1.

145.

The wreſtling place, the which was placed in Herods Pallace. It was large, ſerving in the Winter time for Wreſtlers, and for other exerciſes, and paſtimes, wherewith men recreated themſelves. Ioſ.6 Bel.6.

The fourth part of the City.

146.

THe new City, called in Greek Kanopolis, the fourth part of the City, the which was ſevered as the other parts of the City were with walls, and many narrow wayes, which went croſſe, extending to the walls of the City; wherein dwelt Woolſellers, Carpenters, Smiths, and other Workmen and Artificers. Ioſ.19.Ant.7. & 2 Bel.15. & 6.Bel.6.7.9.13

The places of the new City.

Latine Bezetha.

147.

Bezetha, a Mountain, the which having many houſes built thereon, was inhabited by the common ſort of people. Ioſ.6.Bel.6.

148.

The Caſtle of the Aſſyrians, neer unto the which Titus pitched Ioſ.6.Bel.8. & 13.

ed his Tents at ſuch time as hee had gotten the wall of the City. This Caſtle ſtood more then an arrow-ſhoot from the ſecond wall.

149.

Ioſ. 19. Ant. 7. & 2 Bel. 10. & 6. Bel. 6.

The third Wall, the which alſo is called the out ſet wall, which King Agrippa made upon the common charge of the Citizens, extending it more broad and high then it was before. This wall was very firme and ſtrong, five and twenty cubits high. It had fourſcore and ten ſquare and loſty Towers which were of great force, diſtant one from the other two hundred cubits, whoſe building and beauty in ſtone work, was nothing inferior to that of the Temple.

150.

Neh. 3. 16. Neh 12. 39.

The broad Street, the which alſo was called the ſtreet of the gate of Ephraim.

151.

Ioſ. 6. Bel. 6.

The Kings Caves, upon the which the third wall of the City was builded in length.

The Gates and Towers about the City.

152.

1 Mach. 12. 37.

Caphenetha, the Eaſt wall of the City upon the brook Cedron, which Jonathas Machabees repaired.

153.

Iſa. 28. 16. Pſal. 87. 1. Pſ. 118. 22. 1 Cor. 3. 11. Acts 4. 11. 1 Pet. 2. 6, 7.

The corner ſtone, which was moſt hard, being the firme foundation of mount Sion. This was a figure of Chriſt, who is the ſtrong and ſtable foundation of his Church.

154.

2 King. 14. 13. 2 Chron 25. 23 Jer 31. 38. Za h. 14. 10. Broc. itin 6 Sal. Tom. 8. cap. 5.

The Gate of the Corner, ſo called becauſe it was ſcituate in the North-eaſt corner of the City, next unto the brook Cedron. The which alſo was called the gate of Benjamin, becauſe the way lead through the ſame unto the tribe of Benjamin. By this gate, wood was brought into the City out of the Deſart. In this gate alſo Jeremy the Prophet was apprehended, whoſe ruines are now to be ſeen a great way out of the City.

155.

The golden Gate, ſcituate between the gate of the valley, and the the gate of the Fountain, ſo called, becauſe it was gilded with gold; It was alſo called the Eaſt-gate, becauſe it was builded on the Eaſt-ſide of the Temple: And becauſe it lead by a very ſhort way, from the Temple to mount Olivet, it was rather a gate of the Temple then of the City; and therefore Nehemias made no mention thereof. By this gate Chriſt came riding upon an Aſſe into the City of Jeruſalem, at what time men cut down palms and ſtrowed them in his way, crying, Hoſanna before him. Ezek. 43. 4. Broc. itin. 6. Sal. Tom. 9. cap. 4 Breid. 14. Paſch. die. 184. Mat. 21. Joh. 12 156.

The Gate of Ephraim, which now of ſome is called S. Stephens gate, ſcituate on the North part tending toward the way which leadeth unto the tribe of Ephraim, whereupon it was called the Gate of Ephraim. From this gate unto the gate of the corner, Joaz King of Iſrael, beat down the wall of Jeruſalem by the ſpace of four hundred cubits, and in triumphant manner he being carried into the City in his chariot through that breach, became Lord of the City. Which wall, together with the Towers thereof, Uzziah King of Juda afterward reſtored again. 2 King. 14. 13. 2 Chron. 25. 23 Neh. 8. 16. & 12. 39. Joſ. 9. Ant. 10. Broc. itin. 6. Sal. Tom. 8. cap. 5

157.

The Water-gate, the which was ſcituate between mount Sion and the mount Moria in the valley called Mello, toward the Eaſt. It was called the Water-gate, becauſe it opened a paſſage unto the Fountain of the water of Siloe; and becauſe horſes were carried through the ſame to be watred in the brook Cedron. And for this cauſe it was called the Eaſt horſe-gate, and it tended toward the the valley Gehennom. Neh. 3, 15. 26. 28. Ne. 8. 1. 16. 2 Chron. 23. Ier. 19. 31. Broc. itin. 6. Salig. Tom. 8. cap. 5.

158.

The Gate Genath, or the Gate of King Herods Garden, which was not far from the ſecond wall of the City, by which water was brought up into the Tower Hippic. By this gate the ſeditious privily ſallied out many times upon the Romans. Joſ. 6 Bel. 6, 7, 8

159.

The Gate of the Kings Garden, which in mount Sion was placed between two walls of the caſtle, by which King Zedechias fled in the night. 2 King. 25. 4.

160.

The Gate of the high Prieſts Pallace, at the South ſide of the City. Neh. 3. 26. 28.

161.

Neh.12.39. 2 Chro.33.14 Sopho.1.10. Nehem.3.3. Broc.itin.6. Sal.tom.8. cap.1,5.

The Fish-Gate, the which was scituate next to the Tower of David in the valley of Mello, between mount Sion, and the lower City, towards the West; and by the vault adjoyning to the same, it gave a convenient passage to and from the City to every man. And it was called the Fish-gate, because through the same Fishes were brought into the City from Joppe, & from other Towns of the Seacoast. This also had other names, as the gate of David, and the Merchants gate. Davids gate, because it was next to Davids Tower; and the Merchants Gate, because by the same much Merchandize were carried into the City from Bethelem, Hebron, Gaza, from Ægypt, and from Æthiopia. By this Gate strangers that came from the West, were wont to enter into the City.

162.

Neh.3.14.& 12.31.

The Dung-gate, on the East-side of the City, toward the Comer-gate, on the North-east, carried all the dung and filth of the City which the rain gathered together, into the brook Cedron; whereupon it was rightly called the Dung-gate.

163.

Broc.iti.6. Sa.tom.8.c.5. Ios.6.Bel.2. & 5.

The Gates of Womens Towers. On the North end of the City, by which the seditious brake forth upon the Romans, when they besieged the City.

164.

2 Chron.26.9: Neh. 2.13.15. Neh.3.13. Broc. itin.6. Breid.14. Iul. Sal.tom.8. c.5.

The Valley Gate, so named, because it made way into the Valley of Jehosaphat, scituate in the midst between the Dung-gate, and the Golden-gate, and not far distant from the Sheep-market, and the Pool called Probatica. The which also for this cause deserved to be called the Drove-gate, because the flocks of Cattel which were sold in the Sheep-market, and were to bee offered for sacrifice in the Temple, were brought in by this gate. But now it is called S. Stephens gate, of the first Martyr Stephen, which was stoned to death not far from the same.

165.

Neh.3.6. & 12.39. Deut.12.24. Ruth 4.1. Heb.13.12.

The old Gate, which being on the West-part of the City, was called in time past by the Jebusites the Gate Jebus. It was also called the Judgement gate, because in old time, the Judges did sit there in Judgement. For then the Seniors did exercise Justice and and Judgement in the Gates of their Cities; and such as were condemned to dye, went out at this Gate. Whereupon Christ was lead out of the same to be crucified. Of this Gate there are at this day some old remainders and ruines to be seen. Broc.itin.6. Sal.tom.8. cap.7.

166.

The Rock, which was very high, going along from the Tower Psephina unto Mount Sion, upon the which the whole West-wall of the City stood. Broc.itin.6.

167.

The Tower Hananeel, the which being not far distant from the Corner-gate, towards the East, and by North, was very strong and notable, whereof the holy Scripture maketh mention oftentimes. Jer.31.38. Zach.14.10. Neh.3.1.& 12.39.

168.

The Corner Tower, standing aloft upon the Corner gate, which King Ozias did strongly repair, and made it one hundred and fifty cubits high. 2 Chron.26.9.

169.

The Tower of David, strong and lofty, the which was builded by King David in a corner of two deep Valleys, on the top of a broken rocke, with four square stones most firmly joyned together with Iron and Lead, whose singular fortitude, and notable beauty, for the commendation of Christs Spouse (which is the Church) is spoken of by Solomon, when he saith, Thy neck is like the Tower of David, builded with Bulwarks, whereupon there hang a thousand shields, yea all the weapons of the Giants. 2 Sam.5.9. Vuil.Tyr.9. be,sac.3. Broc.itin.6. Cant.4.4.

170.

The high Tower, which was builded upon the gate of the Valley. The which also King Ozias repaired; and that it might be seen beyond mount Olivet, he made it one hundred and fifty cubits high. 2 Chron.26.9. Ios.9.Ant.11.4.

171.

The Lantern Tower [or Tower of Furnaces] scituate on the North-end of the City, which men thinke was so called, because fire was continually kept there, to serve as a Marke both for Land and Seafaring men, to direct them in the right way. Neh.3.11.& 12.38.

The 172.

Neh.3.27. The great Tower, which ſtanding near the wall of the Temple, was higher then the reſt.

173.

Neh.3.1.& 12. 39. The Tower Meah, otherwiſe Emat, that is ſay, of one hundred cubits, which was not far from the Temple.

174.

Joſ.6 Bel.2.5,6 Brer.itin.6. The Tower Pſephina, which was eight ſquare, of ſeventy cubits high, founded at the North-weſt corner of the City upon a very high rock, being like a ſtrong Tower, which by reaſon of the exceeding height thereof, was fearfull, from whence on a clear day, men might behold Arabia, the Sea, and the uttermoſt borders of the Hebrews. The ruines whereof are as yet to be ſeen.

175.

Luke 13.4. The Tower of Siloe, which falling in Chriſts time, ſlew eighteen men.

176.

Brer.itin.6. The deep valley, which compaſſing mount Sion on the North and South part, went all along the Weſt ſide of the City, even to the gate of Ephraim, making a fit and convenient ditch for the City.

The places without the City.

The places at the Eaſt part of the City.

177.

Ariſt.lib.de 72. interpret. Jo.18.1. THe Water which was brought out of the Temple by Conduit pipes under the earth, iſſued forth here with great noiſe, and ſo ran into the brook Cedron.

178.

Mat.21.17.ch. 26.6. Mar.11.1. Luke 10.29. Ioh.11.1.&12.1. Bethania, the Noble Caſtle of Mary and of Martha the ſiſters of Lazarus, having many houſes, the which was ſcituate beyond mount Olivet, diſtant from Jeruſalem fifteen furlongs, that is, two Italian miles. From which place, though it were but a little way off, yet by reaſon that mount Olivet lay between the City Jeruſalem could not be ſeen, except from a little hill, from whence part of mount Sion might bee ſeen. Chriſt oftentimes lodged lodged in this house of Martha, where he preached the word of God to Mary sitting at his feet. Here he raised up Lazarus to life, after he had been buried four dayes, and began to stinke. Here, he sitting in the house of Simon the Leper, at the table together with Lazarus, Martha serving them, Mary anointed him with a most precious ointment.

179.

Bethphage, a little village, belonging to the Priests, scituate at the East foot at the mount Olivet, from whence Christ sent two of his Disciples unto the Castle Opposite, or over against them, to fetch the Asse and the Colt; which being brought, and the peoples cloaths laid on the Colt, he road on the same into Jerusalem; Mat. 21. 1. Mark 11. 1. Luke 19. 22. Ioh. 12. 1. Luke 19. 41, 42

But coming down from mount Olivet, and seeing the City, hee wept on her, and prophesied her utter ruine, because she knew not the day of her Visitation.

180.

The Castle [or Village] Opposite, or which lyeth over against you (to use the words of Christ) when he sent his Disciples to fetch him the Asse. It was a Village right over against Bethphage. [It seems to be Bethany.] Mat. 26. 6, 7. Mat. 11. 3. Luke 19. 23.

181.

The Well, neer unto Bethany, where when the Lord came to raise up Lazarus, Martha first met with him, and afterward called forth her sister Mary. [The Scripture hath not one word of any Well in that place.] Ioh. 11. 30.

182.

The Little Hill, at the foot of mount Olivet, neer unto the Dove-house a little above the valley of Siloe. Ios. 6. Bel. 13.

183.

The withered Fig-tree, planted beside the way of Bethany, which for bearing no fruit, but being garnished onely with leaves, was cursed of Christ, and so presently withered. Mat. 21. 19. Mar. 11. 15.

184.

The Dragon Fountaine, which doth spring even at this day, which was between the Valley and the Dung-gate. Neh. 2. 14. & 3. 15. & 12. 37.

185.

Gehennom, the which also was called Benhinnom, that is to say, the Valley of the sons of Ennom, (or Hinnon.) It was a place which Ios. 15, 8. & 18. 16. 2 King. 23. 10. 2 Chr. 28. 3 & 33. 6. & 19. 2 & 32. 35.

which was ſcituate in the Suburbs of the City of Jeruſalem toward the South-eaſt. In which place of Benhinnom was the Tabernacle, and the Idoll Moloch: the which Idoll as it was chiefe and principal among all the other Idols, ſo the ſame being the greateſt abomination, and moſt hated unto God, he oftentimes forbad the ſame in the Scriptures. It was an Idol, the matter whereof was braſſe, made in the likeneſſe and ſimilitude of a King, (of which ſome write thus.) It was hollow within, and had a head like to the head of a Calfe, the other parts or members of the body having the ſhape and faſhion of a man, the armes whereof were ſtretched out, whereto the children that ſhould be offered were made faſt, and with the vehement and extreme heat of the Idoll were burned, and utterly conſumed, being ſo holden as it were of the ſame between his armes. For when the Idoll was made red hot with the fire which they had put into the hollowneſſe of the ſame, then the moſt wicked parents of theſe children in moſt cruel and barbarous manner, delivered up their ſonnes and their daughters to (and into) theſe deteſtable and deveiliſh imbracings of the Idoll, that ſo they might be burnt. And this they did of a certain diveliſh devotion, offering them up to the devill Moloch for a burnt offering of moſt filthy ſavour. Amidſt theſe horrible torments wherewith they were thus tormented, the miſerable Clamor of the children could in no wiſe be heard, whereby the parents might in any ſort be moved to pity or compaſſion, for that the Prieſts of this Idoll Moloch, during the whole time of the ſacrifice, did uſually make an exceeding great noiſe both with the Trumpets, and Drums, or Tabrets. Whereupon that place was called alſo Tophet.

Lev. 18.21. & 20 2,3.
1 King. 11.7.
Act. 7.43.
2 King. 16. & 21.

In this abominable manner, Achaz, and Manaſſes alſo, Kings of Juda, being even as mad as the common people, offered up their Sonnes to the Devill Moloch. The which deteſtable madneſſe, the godly King Joſias ſeeking at the length to redreſſe, brake in peeces the Image of Moloch, cut downe his Groves, and defiled the place thereof with the filthineſſe of dead Carcaſſes of bones, and of other unclean things, and appointed it to be a perpetual dunghil for ever.

2 Chron. 28. 33.
2 King. 23. 10.
Jer. 7.5. & 19. 7.32.35.
Iſa. 30.

In this Valley Jeremy at the Commandement of God, breaking an earthen pot in peeces againſt the ground before the Elders of Juda; propheſied that God would after the ſelſe-ſame manner, break and deſtroy both the City, and the people. According to which Propheſie, there was ſo great and mighty a multitude of people ſlaine there, becauſe they had filled this place with the blood of innocent children, that this place was called no more the valley of Tophet, but Polyandron, that is to ſay, a heap of many dead bodies, whoſe carcaſes lying there unburied, became meat for the birds of the aire, and for the beaſts of the fields.

of

186.

Gethſemani, a firm place at the foot of mount Olivet. This had many fruitfull Olive trees. When Chriſt intended to go unto the Garden that was in mount Olivet, he came from his laſt Supper into this place, heavy and ſorrowfull unto the death. Matth. 26. 36. Mar. 14. 32.

187.

The Garden of Olivet, in the mount of Olivet, where Chriſt prayed unto his Father three times; that the cup of his Paſſion might paſſe from him. And being in an agony as he continued in prayer, he ſwet blood which fell drop by drop unto the earth, at what time he was comforted by an Angel from heaven. In Hieroms time, there was a Church builded on this place, which is as yet to be ſeen. Mat 26. 39. Mar. 14. 35. Luke 22. 41. John 18. 1. Hier. in loc. Heb lit. G. Broc. itin 6. Bre. 14. Jul.

188.

The Kings Garden, the which alſo was called the incloſed Garden. It was in the Suburbs of Jeruſalem, walled round about. And like to a Paradiſe it was planted with trees, of all ſorts of fruits, with herbs, with flowers of moſt ſweet ſavour, and what ſoever elſe that might delight the ſenſes. It had alſo moſt pleaſant and convenient walks. In this was that famous fountain Rogel, and the ſtone Zoeleth, of both which there is often mention made in the Scripture, where Adonias when hee purpoſed to reigne, offered oblations, and with his followers made a feaſt. 2 King. 25. 4. Cant. 4. Jer. 39. 4. & 52 Joſ. 7. Ant. 15. & 9. Ant. 11.

189.

The Grove of Moloch, conſecrated to the Idoll Moloch, where the worſhippers thereof, after they had ended their ſacrifice, committed fornication under the ſhadow of the trees. 2 King 23. 10. Hier. in Jer. 1. 19. & in Mat. 10.

190.

The Mount of offence, it was a very high mountain, ſcituate on the South-ſide of the Kings Garden; where the moſt wiſe Solomon being now old, was ſeduced and made fooliſh by his ſtrange 1 King. 11. 7. 2 King. 23. 10.

wives, building a Temple to Melchom the Idol of the Ammonites, which also he worshipped.

191.

Dan.11.45. Psal.87.1. Dan.9.16.20. Zach.8.3. Act.1.12. See Number 178. Broch.itin 6. Brtid.14.Iul.

The Mount Olivet, or Mount of Olives, so called by reason of the great plenty of Olives which grew there, called also in Greek Elæon, which otherwise also is named the famous [or glorious] and holy Mountaine. It was scituate on the East side of Jerusalem. It was separated from the high City, the valley of Cedron lying between, distant from the City a Sabbath dayes journey, according to the Scripture; but according to Josephus, it was distant five furlongs, who also addeth that the top of the hill was six furlongs from the City; for it was of so great height, that from the same, not onely almost all the streets of Jerusalem, but also the dead Sea might easily be seen. And besides the Olives, it abounded with Palmes, Pines, Mirtels, and other fruitfull Trees.

2 Sam.15.

In the top of this hill, the holy King David flying from the face of his son Absolom, weeping, and barefooted worshipped God. In this Mountaine also his Son Solomon forgetting all godlinesse, erected a Temple to Astaroth the Idol of the Sidonians, right over against the Temple of Ierusalem (from whence every one that committed Idolatry might be seen.) The which also with all other places dedicated to Idols, Iosias utterly destroyed.

1 King.11.7. 2 King.23.3.

Christ oftentimes came up into this Mountaine, both for quietnesse sake, and also to pray, tarrying there all the night. Also from the top of this Mount he ascended into heaven in the presence of his Disciples standing there, and beholding him, after hee had blessed them.

Luke 19.29. 41. Luke 22.2. Mat.21.1. John 18.8. Act.1.12.

192.

The Mount of Offence, a high Mountaine, on the other side of the brook Cedron, and on the North side of the mount Olivet, distant from Jerusalem four furlongs; whereon Solomon by the motion of his heathenish wives, builded a Temple to Chamosh the Idol of the Moabites. This also Josias brake down. In the time of the Machabees a Castle was builded on this Mount, some tokens whereof are to be seen at this day.

1 King.11.7. 2 King.23.8. Procop.lib.5. Bal.6.cap.5.

193.

Jos.6.Bel.6.

The Fullers Monument; the which was not far from the Corner gate, in the North-east.

The 194.

The Palme Trees, whereof mention is made in Nehemiah, and in St. Johns Goſpel. Neh. 8. 15. Joh. 12. 13.

195.

The Dove-houſe, on the South end of the Mount Olivet; It was made of ſtone, round, lofty, and faſhioned like a Tower, wherein were ſtore of Doves to the number of foure or five thouſand. Joſ. 6. Bel. 13.

196.

The Bridge of Cedron, made of ſtone, with one arch erected over the brook Cedron, which Helena the Empereſſe cauſed to be made in that place. Breid. 14. Jul.

197.

The Sepulchre of the Virgin Mary, which was in the valley of Jehoſhaphat near unto the firme place of Gethſeman, at the foot of Mount Olivet wherein the body of the moſt holy, and bleſſed Virgin, was decently buried by the Apoſtles. [From this Traditional Relicke, not once mentioned in Scripture, is ſucked no ſmall advantage.] Joan Damaſc. de dormitione. Dcipar.

198.

The Common place of burial, which was in the Valley of Jehoſhaphat, where the common ſort of people were buried. 2 King. 23 32. Ier. 26.

199.

The Fountain of Siloe, whereto was joyned the Pool of Siloe, the which alſo is called the lower Pool, lying on the Weſt-ſide of the valley of Jehoſhaphat, and ſpringing from the root of Mount Sion. The water thereof being cleer, ſweet, and plentifull, ran with a ſtill and calm ſtream into the brook Cedron. Iſa. 8. & 22. Neh. 3. 15.

This Fountaine King Hezekias repaired. In the Pool of this Fountaine the man which was borne blind waſhing his eyes which Chriſt had anointed with clay, and his ſpittle, received his ſight. Joſephus teſtifieth that Siloe, & all other waters which were without the City, did ſo fail and vaniſh away before the comming of Titus Ceſar, that water was ſold neer unto them. And after his comming, they did ſo abound to him and his hoſt, that they had water enough for them and for their cattell. Concerning the vertue of this water, the moſt diligent Surveyer of this place Salignia-cus writeth in this ſort, The water of this Fountaine is of Joh. 9. 7. 11. Brec. itin. 6. Breid. 14 Iul. Paſch. die. 197. Io. 6. Bel. 11. Salig. Tom. 10. cap. 1.

great price at this day, even among the Saracens themſelves. For whereas naturally they be rammage and ſtinke like Goats, they waſhing themſelves and their children therein, doe mitigate the evill ſavour thereof. The Turks alſo make great account thereof, for that they finde by experience, that the uſe thereof is good for the ſight of their eyes.

200. or 201. (See before Number 44.)

Act 7.58. with Act.6 5. Stephen the Deacon, in the very flower of his youth, was ſtoned to death, praying to God for them that ſtoned him, whoſe garments the young man Paul kept. This man was the firſt that triumphed with the palme of martyrdome.

201. or 202.

2 King.23.4, 6.12. Jer 31. Joſ.8. Ant. & 6.Bel 13. Ezek 47.8. The Brook Cedron, [or Kidron] is a River on the Eaſt ſide of Jeruſalem between the ſame and Mount Olivet, which being increaſed with divers ſprings iſſuing from all parts out of the Mountaine, and Pooles, ran through the valley of Jehoſhaphat, and Gehennom with a ſilver ſtream, and ſo paſſed through the plaines of the wilderneſſe into the dead Sea.

Broc.itin.6. Sa'.Tom.9.cap.1 2 Sam.15.30. On the bankes of both ſides this River, there grew many fruitfull Trees, the pleaſant ſhew whereof, together with the Gardens neer adjoyning, which were watered with the Chriſtal ſtreams of Cedron, greatly delighted the eyes and minds of ſuch as walked by the ſame. King David paſſed over this River bare footed, bare headed, and with watery eyes, accompanied with his moſt truſty friends, flying from the face of his ſon Abſolom. Chriſt alſo went over the ſame, with his Diſciples, when he went to the Garden of Mount Olivet. [203. In Latine was Tugurium S. Pelagiæ. As the 44. Number, ſo this of Number, 203. was not judged worthy the Tranſlating by T.T. nor by H.J.)

Joh.18.1.

202. in Latine 204.

Joſ.6.Bel.3. Her.in loc. Hob.Itt.C. Zach.14. Broc.itin.6. Sal.Tom.8.c 8. 1 King.15. 2 King.23.6. 12. The Valley of Jehoſhaphat, the which alſo is called the Valley of Cedron, and the Valley of Mountains. It is a wide and deep Valley between Jeruſalem and Mount Olivet, compaſſing the City on the Eaſt part, which is made very fruitful by the paſſage of the brook Cedron. The great deepneſſe of this Valley was much filled by Titus and Adrian the Roman Emperours, caſting into the ſame great ſtore of earth with the ruines of the Temple Temple and City, yet it was not therewith any thing neer levelled. In this Valley, the godly and religious Kings of Juda, Asa, Ezechias and Josias burned the Idols of the Temple, and cast their ashes into the brook Cedron. 2 Chron. 15.2. 29.30.

This Valley was the common place of burial for the whole City, where all the common sort of people were buried. For it was the manner of the Jews to bury their dead Coarses out of the City. And in the same place, the Turks are now buried. Joel 3.2.12. Sal.Tom 9.c.2.

203. or 205. &c. See before Number 44.

The Valley of Siloe, so named of the Fountaine of Siloe, wherein the Jews which at this day dwell at Jerusalem, are buried. Jos.6.Bel.13. Sdig.tom.8.c.2. Jo.9.7.

204.

The Wall of the Fullers Field, lying between the water of Siloe, and the South-east corner of the City. Here the Prophet Isaias foretold King Achaz, that Christ should be borne of a Virgin. 2 King.25. Isa.7 3.14.

205.

The way of the Captivity. These small pricks traced forth in length (as you see) doe demonstrate the way, by which Christ was lead captive for the redemption of mankinde. For being come into the Garden of Mount Olivet to pray after his last Supper in the Parlor of Mount Sion; and having offered to God his Father the holy sacrifice of prayers, returning from thence he met with his enemies which came to take him, to whom he yeelded himselfe; who had scarce gone forty steps from the place where he prayed, but the Souldiers which were sent from the high Priests and rulers of the people, laid hands on him, took him, and bound him. Jos.in pereg.s. die. 190. 193.194. 197. 200. & 207. Joh.18.1. Isa.53.10,11. Mar.14 32.43. 53. Mat.26.36.47. 57. Luke 22.39. 47 54. Joh.18.1.3.13.

From whence he was presently carried as a meek Lamb by those ravening Wolves, armed with weapons, over the brook Cedron, to the house of Annas [which was distant from the place where he was taken, two thousand three hundred and sixty paces.] And from hence he was carried to the Pallace of Caiphas. [three hundred and thirty paces.] And so afterward hee was conducted by the Souldiers, and by the people to the Pallace of Pilate [which was distant from that of Caiphas a thousand paces.] And from thence to the Pallace of Herod [which was distant Mat.27.2. Mar.15.1. Luke 22.66. Joh.18.28. Luke 23.7.11.

distant three hundred and fifty paces.] Lastly, from thence againe to the Pallace of Pilate he was carried [by another way then that which he came, the distance of six hundred elles, which make about the length of halfe a mile and more.] The paces whereof we speak here, containe two foot and a halfe.]

206.

Broc.in 6. Jer.1. — The way to Anathoth, to Bethel, and to the wildernesse.

207.

Luke 10.30. & 18.35. Mar.10.46. Mar.26.36. — The way to Jericho, [and to Gilgal] of the which there is mention made in some of the Evangelists. *Matth.*20.29.

208.

Mar.14.32. Luke 22 39. Mat.26.36. — Here the three Apostles, Peter, James, and John, sate, while Christ prayed in the Garden, being about a stones cast from the selfe-same place.

209.

Here the other eight Apostles tarried, being distant about a quarter of a mile from the other three places.

210.

Mat.26.47. Mar.14 43. Ioh.18. Luke 22.47. — Here Christ, to make us free, was betrayed with a kisse by the Traytor Judas, and bound with hard and streight bands (as if he had been an evill doer) by the Jews, whom he beat downe backward to the ground by the word of his mouth. There Simon Peter moved suddenly with great fervency, struck the servant of the high Priest, whose name was Malchus, and cut off his right ear, which Christ immediately restored again. But the rest of the Apostles being afraid, left the Lord and fled.

211.

Mat. 23. & 24. & 25. Mar. 13. chap. Luke 21. chap. — In this place of Mount Olivet [a few dayes before that beforesaid] right over against the Temple neer to a certaine water, Christ sate with his Disciples, making a long Sermon concerning the destruction of Jerusalem, the afflictions of the godly to come, the comming of false Prophets, the signes of the end of the world, and concerning the manner of the last judgement. In the which place, there was afterward builded a Temple which is now desolate.

212.

Mar.21.1. Mar.11.1. Luke 19 29. Ioh.12.15. — This Way [a little before that] Christ came to Jerusalem, sitting upon the Asses colt, waited on with a great company of men, men, some going before, and other some following after them; whereunto also a great number which came out of the City joyned themselves. So that he seemed to be received of all men with so great favour, that many spred their cloaths in the way; some cutting down the bows of Palms, Olives, and other Trees, to honour him therewithall, strowed them in the way. And the voyces of such as rejoyced were heard in every place as he went resounding with these cries,* Hosanna in the highest, blessed is he that commeth in the name of the Lord. With this pomp and triumph the true King, and humble Triumpher, entred in at the golden Gate, and rode about the Temple, and the greatest part of the City. With this new spectacle, the whole City was moved, saying Who is this? The multitude which followed him, answered, This is Jesus the Prophet of Nazareth a City of Galilee. Then the cry of those that rejoyced, and were glad, increased more and more, and men and women, young, and old, yea (which is wonderfull) the very Infants which came from all parts, cryed out together, Hosanna to the Sonne of David, Blessed be the King of Israel, which commeth a King in the name of the Lord. Blessed be the Kingdome that commeth in the name of him that is Lord of our Father David: Peace in Heaven, and glory in the highest; Hosanna in the highest. With these joyfull voyces and cryes, they proclaiming their Messias, followed him even into the Temple: Where this new King happily beginning his Kingdome, presently healed the blinde and the lame. In the mean time the wicked and envious Pharises, the chiefe Priests and Scribes do fret and fume, who seeing the great marvels which hee did, and the children crying in the Temple, Hosanna to the Son of David, said among themselves, Do yee not see how we profit nothing? Behold the whole world goeth after him. Whereupon they begin with Jesus himselfe, saying, Master, dost thou hear what these say? Rebuke thy Disciples. To whom hee shewing that this was long before propheſied of by the Prophet, answereth, Why should they not? Have ye not read, Out of the mouth of very babes and sucklings thou hast ordained praise? I say unto you, if these hold their peace, the stones shall presently cry.

Matth. 21. 9. [Ps 118. 25 26

* that is, Save now.

Psal. 8. 2.

The places on the South part of the City.

213.

Apoc. Dan. 14. [For true Daniel hath only 12. chap.] Breid. 14 Iul. Salig. tom. 10. cap. 2.

Habbacuc. Here [as Apocrypha saith, but not a word of it is in the holy Scripture] the Angel of Lord taketh up the Prophet Habbacuc by the hair of the head, as he was carrying to the Reapers in the field their dinner, and carried him with the same meat into Babylon to feed Daniel, being shut up in the Lions den: Who being fed, he brought Habbacuc hither againe. [Thus far from Apocrypha.] 214.

Zach. 11. 13. Mat. 27. 8. 6. Act. 1. 19. Niceph. 8. Hist. Ec. 13. Broc. itin. 6. Breid. 14. Iul.

Aceldema, or Haceldemach, that is to say, the Field of blood. It was a Potters field, scituate at the South part of Mount Sion, having behinde it a hill of the same name. This field by the counsell of the Jews, was bought with the thirty peeces of silver for which Judas sold Christ, that it might serve to bury strangers in; the middle part whereof the Empereſſe Helen caused to be inclosed with a foure square wall, in length seventy and two foot, and in breadth fifty; And the same to be covered over with a roof, having seven loop holes, by which the dead bodies of Christians might be let down.

Salig. Tom. 6. cap. 5. & tom. 10. cap. 1. Pas. d. 197.

The vertue of this earth is reported [fabulously] to bee wonderfull, and almost incredible; to wit, that it bringeth and consumeth into dust the bodies of the dead men within the space of foure and twenty houres, leaving nothing but the bones.

215.

2 King. 18. 17. Isa. 7. 3. & 36 2.

The Fullers Field, which lay all along at the South end of the City, even from the Valley of Siloe Eastward unto mount Gihon, towards the West, and between the wall of the City, and the water. In this Field the Fullers did scoure their cloathes in the Brook next adjoyning, and did set them on Tainters, and so dry them.

216.

Hier. Tom. 1. in catal. script. Ec. 1 Cor. 15. 7.

The Den, or Cave of James the lesse, wherein he is said [by Relick-mungers] to have hid himselfe by the space of three dayes, having vowed not to eat bread untill Christ was risen again. The Lord appeared to him apart after his Resurrection. [But (not)

(not) for this cauſe] For none of the Apoſtles then beleeved that he would riſe the third day, nor would they beleeve it when others told them he was riſen.

217.

The Cave of Peter the Apoſtle, wherein after he had denied the Lord thrice, he repented him, and mourned with many tears. [Relick-mungers can ſhew a Cave, and ſay, Peter and the Apoſtles were in it, to get money. But not a word of it in any of the foure Evangeliſts, or other Scriptures, no nor that he, nor James, nor Jeremy were in any Cave at all.] [See Number 222.] Brcil. 18. Jul.

118.

The Tents of the Aſſyrians, of whom for a revenge of their blaſphemy, the moſt ſtrong to the number of one hundred fourſcore and five thouſand, in the very firſt night of the beſieging Jeruſalem, were ſlaine by the Angel of Lord, and (as Auguſtine, (not the Scripture) reporteth their bodies were brought into duſt, that they might not infect the aire, their garments, armour, and weapons notwithſtanding remaining whole and ſound, that the people of Jeruſalem might have the ſpoyle. 2 King. 18. 17. 35. & 19. 12. 35 2 Chron. 32. Auguſt. tom. 18. ad fratres in ere. ſerm. 25.

219.

The houſe of Elias, wherein it is ſaid (by Papiſt Breidenbach) that the Prophet Elias ſometime dwel; where afterward alſo a Church was builded. (But the holy Scriptures ſhew that he was a Prophet to them of Iſrael, and dwelt near Gilead, Zidon, Samaria, or Carmel, farre from Jeruſalem, which was in Judea.) Breid. 4. Iul. 1 Kin. 17. 1. 9 & 18. 20. & 21. 1.

220.

The Mountaine Eroge, otherwiſe called the South Mountaine, being very high and lofty, bowing a little toward the Weſt. Coucerning this Mountain, it is noted (by ſome) That when Ozias King of Juda preſumed to put on him the Prieſts attire, entred into the Sanctuary of the Temple, and offered upon the golden Altar, the incenſe of ſweet ſavour unto God; by and by there came a great Earth-quake (whereof alſo Amos and Zacharias the Prophets make mention (whereby the upper part of the Temple was ſhaken, and this Mountaine cleft in the midſt, with ſo great and terrible violence, that one part thereof falling and tumbling downe Joſua. 15. 8. & 18. 12. 16. 2 Chro. 26. 16. Amos 1. 1. Zach. 14. 4, 5. Ioſ. 9. Ant. 11. Adam Reiſnerus & Joan. Herdenus inde. ſcrip. urbis Hieroſol. l. 7. c. 2.

was rolled and carried by the ſpace of foure furlongs even right over againſt the Eaſt Mountaine (which is called the Mount of offence) where at the length it ſtayed. King Ozias himſelfe, in the mean time blaſted and terrified with lightning, was ſtricken in the forehead with a Leproſie. For the which cauſe he being preſently caſt out of the Temple and City, languiſhed all his life long, and was ſhut up in his houſe, and ſeparated even till the day of his death.

221.

Matt. 2 9.10. Breid 14 Iul. Sal. Tom. 10 c. 2

A Fountain. At this Fountaine (Papiſt Bredenbach ſaith) the Star which vaniſhed away when the three wiſe men, which came from the Eaſt, were entred Jeruſalem, appeared unto them againe, and lead them unto Bethlehem. [Neither Matthew, nor any Scriptures ſhew any word of any Well or Fountain to have been in that place.] 222.

Lam. 1. 2, 3, 4, 5 Nicep. 8. Iuſt Ec. 30. [See before Number 217]

The Cave of the Prophet Jeremy, wherein he ſitting with a grieved and ſorrowful mind, wept, mourned, and bewayled the deſtruction of Jeruſalem with ſobs and ſighs; Where Helena the Empreſſe (as Nicephorus teſtifieth) builded a notable Monument.

223.

Argum. in Iſaiam. Hier. traditt. Heb. ju. c. 2. Pa. 33 Broc. itin. 6. Breid. 14 Iul.

Iſaias. Here that notable Prophet Iſai, when he Propheſied in Jeruſalem about threeſcore and ten years, by the Commandement of King Manaſſes, was ſawne through the body with a Saw, and was buried under an Oake, whoſe Sepulchre is to bee ſeen at this day. [ſaith Bredan &c.]

224.

The Caves of the Apoſtles. There are many Caves, wherein eight of the Apoſtles (as it is reported) [but not in Scriptures] hid themſelves, during the time of the Lords Paſſion. (See Number 217.)

225.

2 Sam. 18. 18. Ioſ 7. Au 1. 10.

The Monument Abſolom, is a Marble Pillar, with an Inſcription on the ſame, diſtant from Jeruſalem two furlongs; which Abſolom being alive ſet up to himſelfe for a Monument in the Kings val'ey, where there is yet to be ſeen a great heap of ſtones, which daily is increaſed more and more. For the Pagans and ſtrangers.

ſtrangers paſſing by that way, uſe this for a cuſtome, that every man caſt a ſtone at the Piller, and challenging as it were, according to the Law, his rebellion againſt his Father David, they curſe him with this malediction, Curſed be the Parricide Abſolom, and accurſed be all they for ever, which unjuſtly doe perſecute their Parents. Brcid. 14. Jul. Paſc.d. 191.

226.

The River of the upper Fountaine, ſcituate on the South part of Mount Sion (which Hierom calleth the Fullers Fountaine) the which the noble King Hezekias repaired with the conduit thereof alſo. This hee choaked with earth, at what time the Aſſyrians beſieged Jeruſalem. 2 King 18. 17. & 20. 20. 2 Chron. 32. 30 Iſa. 7. 3. & 36. 2. Hier. in loc. Heb. lit. T.

227.

The Sepulchre (as ſome ſay) of Zacharias, the Son of Barachias, whom the Jews ſlew between the Temple and the Altar.

The places of the Weſt ſide of the City.

228.

Baalparazim, is a field in the valley of Raphaim, wherein David the King, at the firſt time, overthrew the Philiſtians, and buried their gods which he found in their Tents. 2 Sam. 5. 20. 1 Chron. 14. 15

229.

Herods Tents, which as Joſephus witneſſeth, hee pitched on the Weſt part of the City. Joſ. 14 Ant. 24. & 1 Bel. 12.

230.

The Fountaine Gihon the lower, which ſprang up in the end of the Fullers field; the waters whereof Hezechias brought unto the upper Fountain. 2 Chr. 32. 30. & 33. 14. Broc. itin. 6.

231.

The Fountain Gihon the higher, ſpringing from the Mount Gihon, which afterwards Hezekias ſtopped up, and cutting deeper into the rock, he brought the waters thereof unto the Weſt part of the City of David, by Conduit pipes under the earth, by which he brought it through the midſt of the City, into the innermoſt Fountaine, leſt when the City ſhould bee beſiedged the people might want water. 2 King. 20. 20. 2 Chro. 32. 30. Eccleſ. 48. Broc. itin. 6.

232.

Mat.27.5. Act.1,18. Judas, who of an Apoſtle being become a Traytor hanged himſefe (upon a wild fig-tree, there are ſome ſay, an Elder tree) and being hanged, burſt aſunder in the midſt, and all his bowels guſhed out.

233.

Jer.31.40. Mat,27.33. Mar.15.22. Luke 23.33. Joh.19.17. The Mount of Calvary, a rocky Mountain of mean height, called in the Hebrew tongue Golgotha, which was next to the North-weſt part of the City. In the which place offenders, condemned in open judgement, were put to death: Where at all times, a man might ſee the bones and bowels of men hanged, or otherwiſe put to death. Here, Chriſt Jeſus our Saviour, which knew no ſin, became (as the Apoſtle ſaith) ſinne for us (that is to ſay, was made ſacrifice for our ſinnes) and, as if he had been an 2 Cor 5.21. evill doer, was hanged between two Theeves, and for our ſalvation crucified. So that now Mount Calvary, which aforetime was a place moſt infamous, by the paſſion and blood of Chriſt, is now mode famous, and honourable.

234.

Brot.itin.6.Sal. Tom.6.cap.5. Mount Gihon, a Mountaine full of ſtones, high and long, which running along by the Weſt part of the City, growing leſſe and leſſe towards the gate of judgement, is ſevered from the City by a deep Valley. In this Mountaine, at the commandement 1 King.1.33-38 of David, Solomon was Anointed King, by Sadoc the chiefe Prieſt, and by Nathan the Prophet, with the holy Oyle. To whom immediately all the people cryed, God ſave King Solomon.

235.

Joſ.6.Bel.13. The Monument of Anani the chief Prieſt, of which Joſephus maketh mention, in his ſixth Book, and thirteenth Chapter of the Jewes War.

236.

2 Sam.5.18.24 1 Chron.14. The Pear-Trees (or Mulbery-Trees) of the Valley Raphaim, the which Joſephus calleth the wood of weeping; neer unto the which David, aſſiſted by God from Heaven, gave a ſecond overthrow to the Philiſtins, purſuing them a great way.

The 237.

The Sepulchre of Christ, was a new Monument, eight foot long, distant from Mount Calvary one hundred and eight foot, and from Mount Sion about a mile, which Joseph of Arimathea, a noble Senator, had hewne out in the Rocke for himselfe, in the Garden neere unto Mount Calvary. In the which Sepulchre hee, together with Nicodemus, and the Virgin Mary, with other godly women, buried the body of Jesus, being with the consent of Pilate taken from the Crosse, and then trimmed with Mirrh and Aloes, and wrapt in a fine linnen cloath, was put honourably into the same [the head laid toward the West, saith Bredan.] and rolling a stone of exceeding weight to the mouth of the Monument, hee went his way. But in the meane time, the Chiefe Priests, and Pharisees, going about to hinder the Resurrection of Christ, taking unto them a strong guard of Souldiers watched the Sepulchre, and sealed the stone which shut up the mouth of the Sepulchre, lest the keepers and watchmen being corrupted with money should deal deceitfully. But this diligence of the Jewes, by which they went about to hold Christ in the grave from rising againe, increased the Miracle, and confirmed the faith of the Resurrection. And there hee first of all appeared to Mary Magdalen, at the Monument, as shee was weeping, in the likenesse of a Gardener; [or, as John saith rather; shee turned her selfe backe, and saw him; and hee asking, Whom seekest thou? She supposing him to bee the Gardener, said, Sir, If thou hast borne him hence, tell mee.]

Mat. 27. 60. Mat. 15. 46. Luke 23. 53. Joh. 19. 41. Niceph. 8. Hist. Eccles. 30. Beda in Mar. c. 16 Broc. itin. 6. Breid. 12. Iul. Sal. Tom. 7. c. 3. & 6. Mat. 27. 64. Mar. 16. 46. Pasc. d. 225. Mar. 16. Joh. 20. 14. 16.

238

A Wood, neer unto the City, as is to bee gathered by Josephus in his Booke and fourteenth sixt Chapter of the Jewes Warre.

[Jos. Bel. Jud. lib. 6. c. 14.]

239.

The Brooke, or River Gihon, at the South-west corner of the City; which King Achas had begun to bring from the lower Fountaine Gihon into the upper Fountaine, the which King Hezekias at the last finished.

2 Cron. 32. 30. Neh. 2. Broc. itin. 6.

The 240.

Jer. 31.40. Lyra ibid. The Valley of dead Carcaſſes, which lay between Mount Calvary, and the walls of Jeruſalem, ſo called, becauſe the dead Carcaſſes, bones, and aſhes, of ſuch as were put to death, or burnt on mount Calvary were caſt thereinto. [Divers vaine Traditions of men herein oppoſing the plaine Divine Scriptures, were not judged worthy the Tranſlation.]

241.

2 Chro. 33.14. Jo. 6. Bel. 13. & 15. Ant. 18. The Valley of the Fountaine Gihon, whereof mention is made in the book of the Chronicles, and in Joſephus.

242.

2 Sam. 5.18.22 & 23.13. 1 Chro. 11.15. & 14.9. Iſa 17.5. The Valley Raphaim, that is to ſay, of Gyants. It is a Valley on the Weſt ſide of the City, very large and great, which beginneth at the North part, and extendeth unto the South, bringing forth moſt plentifully in time paſt excellent Wheat, Wine, Oyle, and all other fruits. In this Valley David by the helpe of God, twice overcame the Philiſtines which ſought to invade him with a great Army.

243.

Act 8. Broc. itin. 6. The Wayes to Bethlehem, Emaus, to Gaza, and to Joppa, which Solomon made with flint and ſtone; even as he did other wayes, which lead to Jeruſalem, both to make the paſſage more eaſie, and alſo to ſhew forth the magnificence of his Kingdome in this point.

244.

The way to Siloe, and to Gabaon, whereof Brocardus in his ſixt book of his Travell, maketh mention.

245.

Paſ d. 10. Here Chriſt fell again, according to the Tradition of the Fathers of old.

246.

Luke 23. Bried. 14. Iul. Salig. To. 8. c. 7. Here Jeſus turning himſelfe about to the women that mourned and wept, ſaid, Yee daughters of Jeruſalem, weep not for me, but weep for your ſelves, and for your children, becauſe the day ſhall come, &c.

247.

Breid. 13. Jul. Here Chriſt fell downe the third time under his Croſſe, Croſſe, as the Fathers of old time have affirmed. Paſ.d.181.& 212.

248.

Here Chriſt was ſtript out of his garments, whoſe body being all to be torne with whips, could not but be very ſore, whereunto his bloody garments cleaving, gave new occaſion of paine, when they were violently pulled off. And ſtanding there naked all the while that the Croſſe was a preparing in the cold and wind, he ſate downe at the length upon a ſtone, where he drank wine mixed with gall and mirrh. Pſal.22.18.& 69.21.Iſa.13. 4,5. Mar.27.26.28. 35. Mar.15.23. Breid. 12 Jul. Paſ.d.213.

249.

Here Chriſt being laid on his back on the Croſſe and ſtretched out upon the ſame, his hands and feet was nayled thereunto with Iron nailes, and his tender members were with ſuch force ſtrayned and racked upon the Croſſe, that the very arteries and ſinewes were looſened, and all his bones might be told. Pſal.22.1.17. Zach.12 10. Joh.20.37. Salig Tom.7. cap.4. Paſ.d.214.

250.

This is, the moſt notable & memorable place of the whole world, even the cliſt of the Rocke of Mount Calvary, wherein the Croſſe bearing the body of Chriſt was faſtned about high noon of the feaſt day of Paſſeover, being the day after the Paſſeover. Upon the top of which Croſſe, a white table was faſtened expreſſing the cauſe of his death, written with Pilates own hand (or by his appointment) in theſe words of Hebrew, Greeke and Latine; Mat.27.35. Mar.15.25. Luke 23.33. Joh.19.18. Lev. 23 5.6. Num.28.16 17. Exod.12.18.

JESUS OF NAZARETH, KING OF THE JEWES.

Further it is [written by ſome] that the Jews did in ſuch manner erect and ſet Chriſt upon his Croſſe, that his back parts might be towards Jeruſalem, and his face towards the Weſt. For they deemed him unworthy to have his face toward the holy City. But we muſt thinke that this was not done altogether by fortune, or without a myſtery, but rather by the ſingular diſpenſation of God. His miſeries ſeem to be no falſe Prophets of our felicity, by this means and by this deed fore-warning them of that which the Prophet Jeremy had Propheſied ſhould come to paſſe, ſaying I will ſcatter them with an Eaſt wind before the Enemy, I will ſhew them the backe, and not the face, in the day of their deſtruction. For as St. Ierome ſaith, ſeeing they are diſperſed throughout the whole world, and do call upon God night and day in the ſynagogues of Sathan, God ſheweth unto them Jer.18.17. Beda in Luke cap.23. Breid.12.Iul. Salig.Tom.7. car.5.

Nicom. in Tes. cap. 18. Pal. 39. Isa. 10. 27. his back, and not his face, that they may know that he is alwayes going from them, and not coming towards them: And that even in the day of their destruction (that is to say, during all the time after the passion of our Saviour unto the very end of the world) that when the fulnesse of the Gentiles is come in, the remnant of the people of Israel may bee converted at the last, and be saved. And I verily conjecture, that by this their cruelty, they were fore-tellers of our felicity. For in that they did set the most sweet and amiable face of our Saviour toward the West, it seemeth unto me to note no other thing, but the very same which the Kingly Prophet long before him had told should come to passe, saying, His eyes behold the (Nations or) Gentiles: For he having the eyes of his mercy opened and fixed upon us, from the time of his passion, will not cease to looke upon us with a favourable countenance even unto the end of the world.

Ro. 9. & 11. 25

Pal. 66. 7.

Therefore, Christ being on this manner hanged on the Crosse, three houres (from the sixth to the ninth houre, that is from noon three hours) naked, bloody, wounded, crowned with thorns, did hang between two theeves in most grievous torments, partaker with them of the paine and punishment, as if he had been a companion with them in their wickednesse. The which thing the Prophet Isaias fore-shewed should come to passe, saying, He was reputed among the wicked. Whom in the meane time, the Jews, the high Priests, together with the Scribes and Elders of the people passing by, yea the common souldiers also, and the thiefe that was crucified with him, instead of consolation (which belongeth to all that are afflicted) in most reproachfull manner scorned him, shaking their heads, and saying, Thou which destroyest the Temple of God, and buildest the same again in three dayes, save thy selfe; if thou beest the Sonne of God, come down from the Crosse; He saved others, himselfe he cannot save. If he be Christ the King of Israel, let him come down now from the Crosse, and we will beleeve him. He trusted in God, let him deliver him now, if he will have him; for he said, I am the Son of God.

Isa. 53.

Mat. 27. 39. to 46.

Jesus most patiently suffering all these things, more bitter then the Crosse, was so far from revenging them, that he prayed for them that mocked him, saying, Father forgive them, for they know not what what they do. And to the other of the Theeves requiring mercy, he promiſed Paradiſe, ſaying, Verily I ſay unto thee, This day thou ſhalt be with me in Paradiſe. And then beholding his well-beloved mother, and the Diſciple alſo whom he loved, and commending a Virgin to a Virgin, ſaid unto his mother, Behold thy Son. And then he ſaid to his Diſciple, Behold thy Mother, who from that houre forward took her for his own. While theſe things thus proceeded, the Sun abaſhed at thoſe paſſions, which the Creator of all the world ſuffered on the Croſſe, as it were mourning hid his face; and was darkned from the ſixth houre (that is the mid day) at what time it ſhineth in greateſt glory) untill the ninth houre: (That is, untill the midſt of the afternoon.)

2. Joh. 19. 26, 27.

3.

Joh. 11. 9.

Then Jeſus complaining that he is forſaken of his Father, cryed out with a ſtrong voyce, ſaying, My God, My God, why haſt thou forſaken me? This done, to the end all things that were ſpoken of by the Prophets might be fulfilled, he ſaid, I thirſt; Streightway one running, as though he would doe him ſome good, when he had taken a Sponge, and filled it with Vinegar, he put it upon a reed, and gave him to drinke. Jeſus wonderfully thirſted for the ſalvation of men, but the Jews offered him nothing but gal and vinegar. And ſo ſoon as Jeſus had taſted the vinegar, he ſaid, It is finiſhed, giving thereby to underſtand, that the Sacrifice was truly ended according to the will of his Father. And once againe crying out with a loud voice, and with ſhedding of tears, hee ſaith, Father, into thy hands I commend my Spirit; and ſo bowing downe his head (a man of floriſhing age) he yeelded up his ſpirit and) breath, the ninth houre of the (fifteenth day of the firſt month) being the five and twentieth day of March, and in the three and thirtieth year of his age, in the year from his Incarnation the thirty and foure; (or rather two and thirty, and a half.)

Pſal. 22. 1. 4. 5.

Pſal. 69.

6. Heb. 5. 8.

Pſal. 31.

7.

By this Sacrifice, the moſt high and everlaſting Prieſt, inflamed with moſt ſingular and unſpeakable love, offered himſelfe a Sacrifice, and a Peace-offering to God his Father, and by his death deſtroyed death, overcame Sathan, brake aſunder Hell gates, reſtored life, and opened unto all beleevers the everlaſting Kingdome of Heaven. For this cauſe (ſome ſay) the Fathers of old time ingraved in ſilver theſe words of the Pſalme in Greek, and ſet it in the circumference of the hole which was made on the top of

Heb. 4. 14.

Heb. 2. 14, 15. Col. 2. 15. Eph. 2. 15.

Mount Calvary, wherein the Crosse of Christ was fastened, but now they are ingraven in Copper thus:

Pas.d.223. & 224.

ὧδε ὁ Θεὸς βασιλεὺς ἡμῶν πρὸ αἰώνων ἠργάσατο σωτηρίαν ἐν μέσῳ τῇ γῇ that is to say, Here God our King before worlds wrought salvation in the middest of the earth.

Heb 10.1.2. 12. & cap.9.26

The which one, and onely bloody Sacrifice most truly and lawfully made, he would not by and by so soon as he was dead be taken from the Crosse, but even as when he was alive, so when hee was dead, by the space of three houres, he hung as a spectacle to all men. And as he spared no one member from torment, so his will was to shed all his blood, even to the very last drop of his most precious heart, and to open the Fountaine for the washing away of our sinnes, the which we may use to our endlesse comfort: Therefore one of the Souldiers perceiving, and opening his side and heart, presently there issued forth blood and water as from a most lively spring, to the sanctifying and salvation of his Church.

Zach.13.1. Isa.12.1,2,3. Zach.12,10.12.

Mat.27.52.53.

In the meane season all things gave testimony to their Lord, and makers death. The vaile of the Temple rent asunder in two parts, the earth was shaken and quaked, the graves opened, the dead bodies of men arose againe, and the stony Rocks (to the shame and reproach of the Jews for the hardnesse of their hearts) clave asunder, and burst in peeces.

251.

Joh.19. Luke 2.35. Breid. 12. Jul. Calig.To.7.c.5. Pas.d.225.

Here the blessed Virgin Mary, accompained with John, with Mary Magdalen, and with other women, stood with a firme minde, and constant faith, where according to the Propheſie of Simeon, The sword of sorrow pierced her soule.

252.

Joh.19. Psal.22. Breid. 12. Iul. Sal.7.cap.3.

Here the Souldiers which crucified Christ, parted his garments among them, and cast lots for his seamlesse coat who should have it, that the saying of the Prophet might be fulfilled, They parted my garments among them, and for my vestnre they did cast lots.

253.

Breid.12. Pas.d.225.

Here the dead Corps of Christ, being taken downe from the Crosse, was delivered to the blessed Virgin Mary to be buried. [saith Bredan. Matthew saith, to Joseph of Arimathea, and not to her.]

Here

254.

Here Chriſt meeteth with the women, which returned from his Sepulchre toward Jeruſalem, and ſaluteth them, who imbracing and kiſſing his feet worſhipped him. Matth. 28. 9.

255.

Here Chriſt in the forme of a ſtranger, went with the two Diſciples toward Emaus, and in the way as they went together, he interpreted Moſes, and the Scriptures of all the Prophets, which he proved to be fulfilled in him. Luke 24 13. Mar. 16. 12.

The places on the North ſide of the City.

256.

THe Tents of the Chaldeans. On this North part of the City, Nebuchadonozer King of Babylon, and the Chaldeans, ſcaled the wals of Jeruſalem, and wan it. 2 King. 25. 4. Jer. 39. 2. & 52. 4. 7.

257.

The Tents of the Romans which were pitched between the Womans Towers, and the Tower Pſephina. On this part, although incloſed, and fortified with a triple wall, Titus and the Romans aſſayled Jeruſalem. For on this part onely, the City was aſſailable. And albeit the other parts were compaſſed round about with one ſingle wall onely; yet the ſame being very ſtrong, and ſet upon ſtony and cragged rocks, and having alſo deep Vallies or Trenches impaſſable, were inexpugnable: Therefore they began to ſcale the firſt wall, which was the outermoſt and third wall of the City. After that they tooke in hand the ſecond wall: And then the third wall of the City, which was alſo called the old wall. Next they took the Caſtle Antonia: And ſo the Temple, which was fortified like a Caſtle; and laſt of all they entred Mount Sion, of all the reſt the moſt ſtrong. At what time alſo the Chriſtians (Anno 1099.) took this City in hand to win it, they began their enterpriſe on this part, among whom Godfrey of Bullion was the firſt that entred the wall, near unto the Gate of Ephraim, whoſe Souldiers following the aſſault like men, opened immediately the ſaid Gate, and ſo wan the City. The which alſo the Saracens beſieging on the ſame part, wan from the Chriſtians. Joſ. Bel. 2. 3. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 & 7. Bel. 1. 2. 4. 9, 10 15, 16. Wil. Tyr. Bel. Iac. lib. 8. cap. 5. 18.

258.

Jer.31.39. The Hill Gareb, the which was neer to Jeruſalem on the North.

259.

Joſ.6.Bel.13. Erebinth, was a little village on the North.

260.

Joſ.6.Bel.2. 4.7. Gardens and Farms, incloſed with wals and hedges; where Titus taking a view of the City was in danger.

261.

Joſ.10.Ant.2,3 & 6.Bel. 2.5,6. Euſeb.2.Hiſt. 12.Hier.Tom.1. Epiſt.23.ad Euſtoch. The Sepulchre of Helene Queen of the Adiabens (who victualled Jeruſalem in the time of the Famine with wheat) which ſhe moſt ſumptuouſly builded with three pinnacles, about three furlongs diſtant from the City; Wherein ſhe was buried with her Son Iſates, which alſo was ſtanding in the time of Euſebius and Hierom.

262.

Ioſ.6. Bel.13. The North Mountaine, where Pompey pitched his Tents.

263.

Act.12.1.21.23 Ioſ.19.Ant.8.& 6.Bel.3.4. The Monument of Herod Agrippa, who for his intollerable pride being ſtricken by the Angel of the Lord, and conſumed of worms, dyed.

264.

Ioſ.11.Ant.8.& 2 Bel.24.& 6. Bel.3.4. Sapha, in Greek called Scopos, that is to ſay, A place of eſpial, ſcituate toward the North, diſtant from the City about 7 furlongs. It was ſo named, becauſe from thence, both the City and Temple might be ſeen. *Here Jaddus the chiefe Prieſt, and the reſt of the Prieſts, in their Prieſtly attire, and all the people clad in white garments, went forth to meet Alexander the Great, King of the Macedonians, when hee came with his Army to deſtroy Jeruſalem; Whom when Alexander ſaw, by and by ſuppreſſing his fury, in humble ſort worſhipped the name of God, which ſhined in golden Letters in the Reaſonable (or Breaſtplate of judgement) of the high Prieſt, and gave reverence to the high Prieſt. Then entring into the City and Temple, he offered ſacrifice to God, and granted great priviledges unto the Jews.

*Or Jaddua.

265.

Ioſ.6.Bel.4 & 7 The Fruitful Wood, which Titus cauſed to be cut down.

266.

Ioſ.6.Bel.4. The Lake of Serpents, which in old time was called Bithara.

The 267.

The Way, by which men went into Samaria and Galilee. Bre. itin. 6.

268.

The Village neer to Jeruſalem, whereof Nehemiah maketh mention. Neh. 3.

THeſe (Chriſtian Reader) are the moſt notable and famous places of the City and Temple of Jeruſalem. By the placing whereof, the ſcituation of the reſt may eaſily bee knowne. Therefore if we have made a true Deſcription, let the praiſe be given to God, the giver of all good gifts. But if otherwiſe there be any defect, impute that to my want of skill, and not to my ill will; who for that I was not able to give towards the furniſhing of the Temple gold, ſilver or precious ſtones, have notwithſtanding offered a little oyle to lighten the Church; truſting that the ſame will be acceptable, both to Chriſt, who allowed the two mites which the poor Widow offered; and alſo to thoſe that be good Chriſtians, whom it becommeth well to be like unto their Head, JESUS CHRIST.

[Try all things. Hold faſt that which is good, 1 Theſ. 5. 21.
Embrace what is ſound, though ſomewhat is rotten.
Embrace not the rotten, becauſe much here is ſound.
Jer. 23. 28, 29. The Prophet, to whom is a dream, let him tell it as a dream; and he that hath my word, let him ſpeak my word faithfully. What is the chaffe to the wheat, ſaith Jehovah? Is not my word like a fire, ſaith Jehovah? and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in peeces?]

The

The names of the Authors out of whose Works and Travels this Description of Jerusalem is taken and made.

[The most of them were Romanists Superstitious: Yet as the Bee can gather Honey from some noysome flowers; So God and his people, can make good use of such Authors.]

Sect. 1. THe holy Bible, of the Old and New Testament.

2. Flav. Josephus, a Priest of the Jewes, who flourishing in the seventieth year of Christ exactly described the scituation, the forme, and the besieging of the City of Jerusalem.

3. Exemplars of the famous Doctor of the Church Hierom, as well Printed as written; Who lived in the year of Christ, 380.

Sect. 4. James of Vitriac, who travelled into the * Holy Land, and returning, was made Bishop of Acon, who wrote a book concerning the Holy Land, and the wonders which he saw there. He flourished in the year of our Lord, 1231.

* Zach. 2. 12. Mat 4 5. 2 Pet. 1. 18. Dan. 9. 16. 20.

Sect. 5. James Pantaleon, a French-man, Patriarch of Jerusalem, his book concerning the Holy Land. Who was famous in the year of Christ, 1247.

Sect. 6. The exact Description of Jerusalem, and of the places of the Holy Land, made by Brocardus a Monk, published at Basil by Hervage, and at Antwerp by Stelsius; Who in the year of Christ 1283. after great search, and diligent survey of that City and Land, and the view of the ancient ruines thereof, described the same most carefully.

Sect. 7. The Description of Jerusalem, and of the holy places, by John Mandeville English-man, who finished his peregrinati- on on in the year of our Lord, 1322. and diligently deſcribed the ſame: Printed at Antwerp by Nicol. Wouver in Anno, 1564.

Sect. 8. A Table of the City Jeruſalem, a very ancient deſcription of all the Holy Land, portraited one hundred & fifty years ſince, and more in parchment, which John Huls procured from the Library of the Colledge of S. Hierom at Delph in Holland.

Sect. 9. The Original of the City of Jeruſalem, and of the Temple in the ſame, deſcribed by Rodulph Langius, Anno 1476. and Printed at Colen, Anno 1517.

Sect. 10. The Pilgrimage to Jeruſalem, and to Mount Sinai, of Bernard Breidenbach, Dean of the Church of Mentz, which he accompanied with others moe, finiſhed Anno 1483. and moſt diligently deſcribed the ſame: Adding thereunto a Portraiture of the moſt principal places of the Holy Land, and of his travel, which he cauſed a cunning Painter to make upon the view of every place, whom he had in his company for that purpoſe; Printed at Mentz, An. 1486.

Sect. 11. A Deſcription of the voyage to Jeruſalem, publiſhed in the year 1520. by M. Gerard Kuynretorff and others.

Sect. 12. A Delineation of the City of Jeruſalem, which Mr. John Scorrel, with the help of a skilful Painter drew forth by the view of the eye, ſitting on Mount Olivet, 1521.

Sect. 13. The Deſcription of Jeruſalem, and of the holy places, by Joan. Heuterus, Pretor of Delph, which he ſet forth in An. 1521.

Sect. 14. The like Deſcription was made by Bartholmew of Saligniac Knight, and Profeſſor of both Laws, 1525.

Sect. 15. A Peregrination, with an exact Deſcription of Jeruſalem, and of the holy places made by John Paſch Doctor of Divinity; Printed at Lovane in the year, 1563.

Sect. 16. The Hiſtories of the Holy War, whereof there were three and twenty books; ſhewing how in the year 1099. Jeruſalem, and the whole Land of promiſe, was recovered again by the Chriſtians, and ſo poſſeſſed of them fourſcore and foure years by William Archbiſhop of Tyren, Chancellor of Jeruſalem, Printed at Baſil in the year 1564.

17. Six Books of Hiſtory concerning the Holy War; ſet forth by John Herold; Printed at Baſil in the year, 1560.

18. A Delineation, or Map of the City Jeruſalem, and of the holy places of all the Land of Paleſtine, by Herman Broculoos; Printed at Utrict in the year 1538.

19. Bonaventure of Mirica his Deſcription of Jeruſalem, and of the holy places thereof, who made three voyages thither, and dwelt there a long time, in the years 1538. and 39.

20 The univerſal Coſmography of Sebaſtian Munſter.

21. The Deſcription of the City of Jeruſalem, and of Paleſtine by Wolfgang Weyſſenburch: Printed in the year 1542.

22. A diligent Deſcription of the places of the old and new Teſtament gathered out of many Authors; as out of Ptolomy, Pliny, Pomponius Mela, Strabo, Herodotus, Hieron. Joſephus, Egeſippus, Stephanus, Raphael Volateran, Lyra, Bocas. And out of the more later, as James Ziegler, Wolfang, Weſſyenburg, and Andrew Althamer, men that herein have taken great pains; and Printed at Paris.

23. A Delineation and Deſcription of the City Jeruſalem, and of the Land of Promiſe, moſt exquiſitly done by Bonaventure Broccard, in the year 1544.

24. A Deſcription of Jeruſalem, and of the places thereof, by Mr. Gerard, Joan of Leiden, in the year 1556.

25. A Map of the City of Jeruſalem, and of the whole land of Promiſe, made by Tilmannus Stella, in the year 1557. and Printed at Antwerp.

26. A Topographical Deſcription of the City of Jeruſalem, by Fabian Licinius a Venetian; Printed at Venice in the yeare 1560.

27. A map of Jeruſalem ſet forth by Adam Reiſzner, exhibited to the Emperour Ferdinando in the year, 1559.

28 The way of Calvary, written in Latine, by Laurence Surius.

29. The way of the Croſſe, from Pilates houſe to Mount Calvary; publiſhed by Peter Calentine; and Printed at Lovane in in the year, 1561.

30. The Itinerary of John Godſcalci of Delph, which he finiſhed in the year, 1561.

17. A

31. A deſcription of Jeruſalem, and of the places thereabout by Isbrand Godfrey, which he finiſhed in the year, 1563.

32. The voyage of the noble Knight Baptiſt van der Muelen of Mechlin, who by word of mouth deſcribed unto me oftentimes Jeruſalem, and all the places thereof, which he ſurveyed in the year, 1567.

33. The Deſcription of the Old and new Jeruſalem made by Peter Lackſtein, and painted in a Map by Chriſtian Sgrothen in the year, 1570.

34. A Topographical delineation of the City of Jeruſalem made by Antony de Angelis, a Minorite, who dwelt a long time at Jeruſalem, ſet forth in the year 1578.

35. A very large Map of the City of Jeruſalem, and of all the Holy Land, drawn in Parchment with the hand of Biron a French-man, with lively colours, and beautified with gold, and deſcribed in the French-tongue: which Map Michael Eyzinger of Auſtria, a moſt diligent Hiſtoriographer, delivered unto me.

THeſe are for the moſt part the chiefe Authors among them, which of ſet purpoſe have handled this Argument, and of whom I make ſpecial mention. I have uſed many, of whom I have nothing ſpoken: And to make mention of all ſuch Writers, which having another purpoſe, and yet given me matter to write of, were to make a tedious Catalogue.

A Table Alphabetical, whereby the Reader may finde the principal matters contained in this Book.

[The Figures annexed, shew not the Page, but the Number.]

A.

Arons rod Number 76
Abacuc to Daniel 213
Abrams offering Isaac 52
Aceldema 214
Absoloms Pillar 225.
Anani his Monument 235
Ahaz Dial 103
Acra 27
Annas his house 8
Adultresse freed, Joh. 8. 109
Amphitheater 28
King Amon, and Manas. Sepul. 15.
Antonia Castle 29
Ark of the Covenant 76
Altar of Incense 80
Altar of burnt offering 87
Angel slayes Assyrians 208
Appears to Zachary 80
S. Annes house 37

B.

Baalpharazim 228
Baruc's reading 93
Bethania 178
Benhinnon 185
Bethphage 179
Bethsheba 1
Broad-street 150
Bethesda 61
Bridge of Cedron 196
Bridge of Sion 19
Bridge from the Castle Antonia 63
Brook of Cedron Numb. 201
Brook Gihon 239
Booz and Jakin, Pillars 88
Bigness of Christ his Crosse 120

C.

Cæsar and Agrippas hall 5
Caiphas Pallace 17
Calvary mount 233
Castle Antonia 29
Castle of Antiochus 31
Castle Pisan 59
Castle of the Assyrians 148
Caves, called the Kings Caves 151
Castle oppofite 180
Cave of James 136
Cave of the Apostles 224
Cave of Peter 117
Cave of Jeremy 212
Caphereta 152
Cherubims 77
Candlestick of Gold 81
Christs his Crosse before Num. 1. & 130
Christ rideth to Jerusalem 211
Christ falleth down under his Crosse 245, 247, 121
Christ speaketh to the mourners 246
Christ stript out of his cloaths, 248
Christ racked and nailed on the Crosse 249
Christ delivered to the Virgin Mary 253

Christs

Christs garment parted by lot 252
Christ speaketh to the women after his resurrection 254
Christ talketh with his two Disciples going to Emaus 255
City Lower 26
The Court 35
Court of Records 30
Corner parlor 33
Corner stone 153
Court of Herods Pallace 138
Conduit, or Fountain 128
Closets 91
Common place of buriall 198
Cypresse Trees of Zion 7
Crosse. See before. 1

D

Daniel fed 213
Davids City and Tower 2
Dial of Achas 103
Dove-house 195
Dragon Fountain 184

E.

Eliasib's house 17
Essens Gate 66
Eagle of gold 101
Erebynth a village. 259
Ephraims Gate 156

F.

Face of Christ 44
Fountain of Sion 18
Fountaine the innermost 60
Fountain old 62
Fountain in the Temple 82
Fountain 128
Fountain Dragon 184 121
Fountaine of Silo 199
Fountain Gihon the lower 230
Fountain Gihon the higher 231
Fruitful wood 265
Fullers field 115
Fig tree withered 183

G.

Gamaliel and Nicod Sepulchre 23
Gabaon hill 24
Gabriels appearing 80
Garden belonging to the King 15 and 188
Gareb-hill 258
Gardens inclosed 260
Garden on mount Olivet 187
Garments of Christ parted by lot, 252
Gates of Sion 20
Gate called the Upper-gate 27
Gate of Warders 64
Gate called the Horse-gate 65
Gate belonging to the Essenes 66
Gate the first 67
Gate called the New-gate 93
Gate called the middle-Gate 137
Gate called Holy-Gate 94
North Gate 104
Gate South 105
Gate in the West 106
Gate of the corner 154
Golden Gate 155
Gate of Ephraim 156
Gate called the Water-gate 157
Gate Genath 158
Gate of the Kings Garden 159
Gate of the high Priests Pallace 160
Gate called the Fish-Gate 161
Gate called the Dung-Gate 162
Gate of womens Towers 163
Gate called the Valley-Gate 164
Gate called the Old-Gate 165
Grove of Moloch 189
Gehennom 86 184
Golgotha 213
Godfrey of Bulloigns victory 1

H.

Hellen Adiaben 7
House of Annas 8
House of the Worthies 9
House of the Virgin Mary 10
House of Uria 11
House of Ananias 36
House of S. Anne 37
House of the Rich Glutton 38
House of Mesa 39
Houses of the Nathineans 40

House of the Prince of Phariseis 41
House of the Forrest of Lybanus 42
House of Simon the Pharisee 43
House of the common people 44
Houses of the Priests 49
Houses of the Target-bearers 50
House of Councel 90
House of Mary the mother of John 126
House of Olda the Propheteſſe 127
House of Elias 19
Helens Croſſe. See before 1
Hill Garee 258
Hole where the Croſſe ſtood 250
Hill which is little 182
Herods Park 143
Hinnom Valley 184
Hoſpital 144
Holy place 79
Holy of holieſt 75

I.

Jeruſalem 1
Jaddua's meeting Alexander 164
Iebuſites in Ieruſalem 2.7.9
Ile of the Iews 86
Iſle of the Gentiles 100
Ioſeph Arim. 237
Ieremy 130.222
Iſaias martyred 223
Judas hanged on a Tree 232
Iulian 24
K. Ioaſh 16.162

K.

Kidron Brook 201
Valley 202

L.

Liſts or Tiltyard 51
Laver of braſſe 89
Lofts of the fingers 97
Lake, or Ditch between two walls 131
Lake Amigdalon 125
Lake of Serpents 266

M.

Maccabees Towers 29 192
Market place 12, 45, 46, 47, 69, 129
Mary and Iohn behold Chriſt as he paſſeth by with his Croſſe 122
Their houſe 126
A deep vale or dale 178
Mello 16
Moloch his Grove 189
Mount Sion 3
Mount Moria 52
Mountaine Bezetha 147
Mount of offence 190, 192
Mount Olivet 191
Mountain Eroge 220
Mount of Calvary 233
Mount Gihon 234
Mountain in the North part 262
Monument of Alexander 133
Monument of Iohn 134
Monument of the Fuller. 193
Monument of Abſolom 225
Monument of Anani 235
Monument of Herod 263

N.

Nethinims houſe 40
North mountain 262
North gate 104
New City 146

O.

Olda or Hulda's houſe 120
Oke Rogel 224
Ophel 54
Olivet mount 191

P

Parlour of Sion 6
Parlour in the corner 33
Pallace of Caiphas 17
Of Agrippa 55
Of David 3
Pallace of the Maccabees 55
Pallace of Pilate 56
Pallace of the Queen 57
Pallace of Solomon 58
Pallace of Queen Bernice 70
Pallace of Grapte 71
Pallace of Helen 72
Pallace of Herod 136

Pallace of Monobaz 73
Paſſage of the Temple from Solomon Pallace 113
Palm trees 194
Pear trees 236
Place of Zacharias death being ſlain 98
Place where the Iews would have ſtoned Chriſt 99
Place where the woman taken in adultery, was abſolved 109
Places of Chriſts fall 121
Place where the three Apoſtles ſate while Chriſt prayed 208
Place where the eight Apoſtles tarried 209
Place where Iudas betraied Chriſt with a kiſſe 210
Place where Chriſt preached of the deſtruction of Ieruſalem 211
Place where Mary, with others ſtood at Chriſt his death 251
Porch of Pillars 68
Porch of the Temple 95
Potters field 214
Priſon, called the Kings priſon 4
Priſon common, belonging to the City 32
Pool, called Probatica 61
Prieſt, called the high Prieſt 84
Propitiatory, or mercy-ſeat 78

R.

Rephaim 242
Rechabites habitation 130
Rock of the Weſt wall 166
River of the upper Fountain 226

S.

Solomons buildings 16. 42. 53. 56 58 &c.
Sadduces 48
Seir Gate 106
Sion 32. 6. 27
Sepulchre of David 22
Sepulchre of Stephen, Gama. Nico. 23
Sepulchre of Chriſt 237
Sepulchre of Helen 261
Sepulchre of the Virgin Mary 197
Of Zacharias 227
Stairs of the Caſtle 13
Stairs of Sion 14
School of Gentility 48
Sea of braſſe 92
Seat appertaining to the King 96
Singers ſeats aloft 97
Solomons Throne 112
Simon of Cyren beareth the Croſſe 123
Second City 124
Sodom 48
Stephen ſtoned 200

T.

Tabernacle of Sion 24
Of Moloch 185
Temple of the Lord 72
Table of gold 83
Temple 74
Tents of the Aſſyrians 218
Tents of Herod 229
Tents of the Chaldeans 256
Tents of the Romans 257
Theatre 111
Throne of Solomon 122
Tribunal 114
Towers of the Trumpeters 108
Tower Strato 115
Tower in the middle 132
Tower Hippie 140
Tower Mariamne 141
Tower Phaſelus 142
Tower Ananiel 167
Tower in the corner 168
Tower of David 169
Tower called the high Tower 170
Tower called the Lanthorn 171
Tower called the great Tower 172
Tower Meah 173
Tower Pſephina 174
Tower of Siloe 175
Treaſury of the Temple 102

V.

Valley called the deep Valley 176
Valley Iehosaphat 202
Valley of Siloe 203
Valley of dead careases 240
Valley of the River Gihon 241
Valley of Cedron 116
Valley of Raphaim 242
Vaulted Caue 34
Vail of the Temple rent 85
Village near to Ierusalem 208
Uria his house 51
Veronica, before 44

W.

Winepresse belonging to the King 25
Walls first 53, Second 135, Third 149
Way of the Crosse 139
Way of entrance for the horses 118
Water issuing forth of the Temple 177
Way of the Fullers field 104
Way of the Captivity 205
Way to Anathoth 206
Way to Iericho 207
Way to Siloe 244
And to Bethlem 243
Way to Samaria and Galilee 267
Well 181
Whipping of the buyers and sellers 110
A Wood 138

Z

Zacharias place where he was slaine betweene the Temple, & the Altar. 98

FINIS.

IERVSALEM with her her suburbes, and the most principall places thereof,

IERV

OLIVET 219

The Garden 187

208

Gethsemanie 186

Buriall 198

197

OF IOSA: Cedron 201 PHAT WHICH IS

202

of 170

164

173

162

200

33 69 65

54

61

37

47

Pilat his Palace 56

119

63

115

56 Crucefix

56 Crucefix

34

The castell Antonia 29

45

49

CEDRON 116

32

60

35

121

24

30

THE . DAVGHTER SION

150

OR

VALLY

The houses

THE ILE

Gate

89

88

91

91

ALLSO T

The Gate

MOVNT

the most principall places thereof,

IERV

OLIVET 219

The Garden 187

208

Gethsemanie 186

Buriall 198

197 edron 201 PHAT WHICH IS 202

170

164

173

200

33 69

65

54

61

27

47 his ce 56

119

63

115

56 Crucefix

The castell Antonia 29

45

34

49

60

121

24

30

TER SION

OR

VALLY

CEDRON 116

S T

as it florished i

The well 181

SALEM

Bethanie 178

Astaroth 191

211

The way of the Captiuity

OR 205

ALLSO THE VALLEY

177

The golden Gate 155

172

The houses 101 107 of the Iesuites

THE ILE OF

99 96

89

87 92

97 98

88 88

93

84 81

83

105

91 90

75 75

91 91

77 77

THE TEMPLE OF THE LORD 74

108

39 106 90

MOVNT MORIA

THE

… in CHRIST his tyme, moſt trewly deſcribed

The way to Engaddi and to the dead Sea 207

The Kinges Garden 188 or Garden incloſed

The withered fig tree 189

Bethphage 179

The way to Iericho and Iordan 207

The Caſtel 180

The Dowe houſe 195

OF OLIVES 191

The little hill 182

The Brooke

Bridge 196

Cedron 201

The valley of Siloe. 202

OF CEDRON 202

198

212

The water Gate 197

The Temple of Melchin 190

The mountaine of offence 169

Fullers feelde 104

The Queenes … 57

The way for the lazers to enter 118

The palace 117

Houses 49

CITIE OF DAVID

VALLY OF

105

108

116

Gate of Sion

The house of the seuer tines 9

MOVNT SION OR THE VPPER CITIE

21 The vpper Gate

The Bridge of Sion 19

The House of Annas 8

Vrias Houſe

Presses for wyne 25

The Kinges 15

3 The Pallace of …

Prison

THE CASTEL OF SION

THE LOWER CITIE 26

The Tylt Yarde

51

Gate of Sion 20

The hill

ST

as it floriſhed in CHRIST his tyme, moſt t

SALEM
The well 181
Bethanie 178
Aſtaroth 191
211
The way of the Captiuity
OR 205
OF OLIVES 191
Bethphage 179
The way to Iericho and Iordan 207
The withered fig tree 187
The Caſtel 180
The Doue hyſt 195
The way to Engaddi and to the dead Sea 207
ALLSO THE VALLEY
The Brooke
The golden Gate 155
172
177
OF CEDRON 202
198
212
The houſes 101 107 of the Leuites
THE ILE OF 99 96
89 87 92
97 98
88 88
93
81
84
83
105
91 90
75 75
91 91
77 77
THE TEMPLE OF THE LORD 74
108
49
VALLY OF CEDRON 110
39 90
106
MORIA 52
THE LOWER CITIE 26
The Tyle
51
The little hill 182
Bridge 196
The water Gate 197
The Queenes
57
58
The way for the kings to enter 118
The Bridge 121
Houſes
The Bridge of Sion 19
LO OTHERWYSE CALLED THE STREATE

ſt trewly deſcribed

The Kinges Garden 188
or Garden incloſed

189

The Greene of Moloch

Gehennom or Tophet 185

The mountaine of offence 189

The Idole
Moloch 185

Cedron 201

The valley of Siloe. 203

Abſolomes monument 222

Iſaias 223

The ſepulcher of Iſaie 224

way of the Fullers feelde 104

The common way 220

Zacharias Sepulcher 227

Aceldema 214

Annas house 219

The viper Foun
taine 226

The Aſſyrians Tentes
218

224

Abacuc
213

THE FVLLERS FEELDE

HILL SOVTH

Presses for wyne 25

Beth Sabe

Vrias House

The House of Annas 8

The Kinges Garden
15

MOVNT SION OR THE VPPER CITIE

THE CASTEL OF SION 3

Gate of Sion

Gate of Sion 20

Prison

NORTH

The lake of Serpents

Herod his monument 263

The Tents of the Chaldeans 256

258

171 The Lantern Tower

Erbaath a Village

The Sepulchers of Helen 261

264

Alexander the Grente 264

156

The way to Samaria and Galil 267

260

The Gate of womens Toldevs 163

Tents of the Romans 257

The frutfull wood 265

262

The Tents of Pompei

The north Mountaine 262

The Valley of dead carcasses 240

250

249

255

252

248

251

Mount Caluarie 233

Christ him selfe to the Thou thy selfe to Christ

247

The way to Siloe and Gabaon 24

The Sepulchers of Kings 157

The Tents of Rachab

127

The Mount

135

The Mountaine Bezetha 147

The broode strete

174

140

144

128

136

138

142

143

158 of the Gate Ephraim 150

134

THE SECOND CITIE 124

125

HERODS PALLACE

The wood Market 129

234

246

254

Printed and sould by peter Stent

47
56
56 Crucefy
56 Crucefy
119
63
115
The castell
Antonia 29
45
34
49
CEDRON 116
32
60
35 121
24
THE . DAVGH TER SION 30
OR 70 72
71
The Mount Acra
27
28
44
59
A high Rocke 166
234 Herods Tentes 229
MOVNT GION Baalpharn
Rim 228
ASSEY
OF RA WEST

47
56
119
63
115
56 Crucefy
The caſtell
Antonia 29
45
34
60
121
24 30
TER
SION OR 127 47 70 72
71
The Mount Acra
27
44
A high Rocke 166
Herods Tentes 229
234
MOVNT GION Baalphara tim 228
OF RA WEST
97
96
89
87
92
88
97
98
88
93
84
81
87
91
90
75
77
91
THE TEMPLE OF THE LORD 74
39
106
90 MORI
TH
The Theatre
111
The pallace of the Machabees 35
the Stoock of gentilitie 48 31
62
The Market
46
59
59
The deepe Valley
231
The fountain
Gihon the higher 234 Pearg tree 236
236

THE LOWER CITIE 26

THE CASTEL OF SIO

LO OTHERWISE CALLED THE STREATE

OF THE WATER GATE 16

MOVNT SION OR THE VPPER CITIE

Gate of Sion

The Bridge of Sion 19

Gate of Sion 20

Fountaine of Sion 18

The hill Gabaon

Tabernacle

The house of Annas 8

Vrias Hou

The Kinges 15

The Palace of D

Prison

The house of the Prince of the Pharisees

The house of Anania 36

The parlour of Sion 6

Agrippas

The palace of Caip has the Chief preest

The corner Stone 153

Davids Tower 169

The Valle 161

The fish Gate 161

The way to Bethleem

and to Emaus 230

The way to Emaus

The waye to Gaza, Egipt, and Ethiopia 243

The way to Ioppa and to the Sea 243

PHAS IM

THE TEMPLE OF THE LORD 74

MORIA 52

THE LOWER CITIE 26

The Tyltyard

The house of the Prince of the Priests

The house of Ananias 36

The palace of the Machabees 35

The Theatre 111

The Market 46

The deepe Valley 176

The Valle 161

The fish Gate 161

The fountain Gihon the higher

Peary tirce 236

The way to Joppa and to the Sea 243

THE WAY TO OTHERWISE CALLED THE STREATE OF THE WATER GATE 16

The Bridge of Sion 19

Gate of Sion

MOVNT SION OR THE VPPER CITIE

The House of Annas 8

The house of the poor things 9

Prisons for wyne 25

Beth Sabe

Vrias House

The Kinges Garden 14

The Palace of David and of ye Kinges of Iuda

THE CASTEL OF SION 3

Prison

Gate of Sion 20

Fountaine of Sion 18

The hill Gabaon

Tabernacle of Sion

The vpper Market 12

Sepulchers

The parlour of Sion

THE FVLLERS FEILDE

Fountaine 236

Aceldema 214

Atlas tower 229

The vpper Fountaine 226

The Assyrians Tentes 218

224

Abacuc 213

159

The mountane Eroge 220

Ieremi his Cave 222

Peters Caue 217

221

A Fountaine

The Gate of the high Priests Pallace 160

The pallace of Caiphas the Chief preest 17

Agrippas

Water 20

22

The Sepulchers of Dauid

The corner Stone 193

Dauids Tower 169

Awood 238

The Ryuer Gion 239

and to Emaus 243

The way to Bathleem

230

The Valley of the Ryuer Gion

The Tower fountaine Gion

The waye to Gaza, Egipt, and Ethiopia 243

To the courteous beholder.
Those thinges which the Grauer by his Arte could not possiblye explane in this Figure thou shalt fynde at large in the booke conformed to the numbers herein expressed. Farewell.
Thy Frende. T. Tymme.
LONDON. Anno. 1597

Chearolus Wentwell Sculpsit.